Sharp Protest Hailed

Herter's Attack On Castro Called 'Insulting' By Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba Tuesday night rejected as "insulting" U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's condemnation of Fidel Castro for his implication that American officials were responsible for last Friday's munitions ship explosion in Havana harbor.

Castro's propaganda apparatus tody loudly hailed Foreign Minister Raul Roa's sharply worded statement rejecting Herter's protest. Another triumph for Cuba's "national dignity," said pro-government radio and TV stations.

The propaganda organs used the latest development in the heated U.S.—Cuban word battle as the basis for new appeals for public donations to pay for arms to use against "foreign aggressors."

Roa's statement, made to U.S. charge d'Affaires Daniel M. Braddock, took offense at the tongue-lashing Herter gave Cuban Charge d'Affaires Enrique Patterson Monday.

Roa demanded that the U.S. government, "whenever it addresses itself to the representatives of the revolutionary government do so with absolute respect for their official status (and) without descending to offensive utterances of a personal character."

During his session with Patterson, Herter denounced as "baseless, erroneous and misleading" Castro's implication that U.S. officials were to blame for the explosions aboard the French ship La Coubre which killed more than 50 persons.

Herter charged that the fiery Cuban Prime Minister displayed an "unfounded and irresponsible attitude."

The Cuban retort said Herter's statements had an "aggressive tone, derogatory to our national dignity."

Roa told Braddock the Cuban government is looking forward to giving "a proper reply" to the formal U.S. note of protest when it arrives.

An international commission began an investigation of the ship explosion. The commission includes representatives of British firms with insurance interests in the ship or her cargo, representatives of the French ship's owners, French maritime experts, and explosive engineers from the Belgian firm that sold the cargo of munitions to Castro.

Sen. Kennedy Wins Big Vote In Hampshire

Republicans Happy Also As Nixon Tops Ike's 1956 Record

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy's presidential stock skyrocketed to new highs today as a result of his record-toppling performance in the New Hampshire primary.

With all but one of the state's 300 precincts reported from Tuesday's primary, the Massachusetts senator had 42,909 votes in the Democratic preferential poll. This more than doubled the highest figure heretofore rolled up by any other Democratic presidential aspirant in the New Hampshire election.

Nixon's complete total reached 65,077. The previous high, 56,464, was established in 1956 by President Eisenhower.

The New Hampshire election was the first of 16 state presidential primaries.

Despite Nixon's record vote, Kennedy broke down the traditional 2-1 Republican margin of superiority in the state. The ratio in Tuesday's election was about 3-2.

Two significant results of the election were immediately apparent:

1. Nixon's spectacular showing should go a long way toward dispelling the last remnants of any Nixon-can't-win talk. The vice president did not come to New Hampshire to campaign personally. Top GOP leaders in the state carried the burden of his campaign.

2. Kennedy, already considered one of the leading Democratic presidential candidates, if not the front runner, moved closer to the center of the spotlight. His most enthusiastic supporters had not dared go above 38,000 in their forecasts of his poll in the "beauty contest."

Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire, chairman of the Nixon-for-President Committee, had predicted that Nixon would exceed Eisenhower's previous all-time high. Many New Hampshire political observers doubted it.

A break-down of the returns from New Hampshire's 13 cities showed that Kennedy pulled more than twice as many votes there as Kefauver had in 1956. Kennedy received 28,332 as against Kefauver's 12,085 four years ago.

The cities, although largely Democratic, gave Nixon 19,362 votes, topping Eisenhower's total of 13,556.

Stanton Board To Sell Bonds For New School

The Stanton Local Board of Education is advertising for bids for sale of $498,000 in bonds for construction of a new elementary school building and for improving another building in Hammondsville.

The board plans to open bids April 7 at 7:30 p. m. at a meeting in Stanton Local High School in Irondale.

Bonds were issued for a site and for construction of a fireproof building along the riverfront, and for installing inside toilets and improving the Hammondsville School.

Stanton voters approved the bond issue for the projects June 2. Opponents who contested the bond issue brought suit against the Board in Jefferson County Probate Court in Steubenville but Judge John J. Griesinger denied a restraining action.

Mother And 3 Children Made Ill By Fumes

A Wellsville mother and three children were dragged from a fumes-filled home in Wellsville about noon Tuesday after the woman was able to summon help before being overcome by the carbon monoxide from a faulty gas furnace installation.

Mrs. Joseph Scarabino, 1209 Center St., and children were rescued by a neighbor and a city water meter reader shortly before city firemen arrived after being called.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis said the department received the first call at 11:05 a. m. from Mrs. Mary Scarabino of 1st St., a sister-in-law of the woman. Mrs. Scarabino told firemen her sister-in-law said she was becoming ill and thought she smelled gas fumes in the home.

In the meantime, Mrs. Joseph Scarabino called her neighbor, Mrs. Floyd Long, 1205 Center St., saying she was ill and needed help. She then collapsed on the floor.

Mrs. Long also called the fire department and then went to the Scarabino home. Mrs. Long said she smelled the fumes as she entered the front door. Mrs. Scarabino was lying on the floor, barely conscious. Mrs. Long said one of the children, Eldonna, 2, was staggering around, while an infant, Sherry, was in a highchair and a boy, Joe, 3, was asleep upstairs.

She started to remove the children when Willard Springer, a meter reader, stopped at the home. He aided in carrying the family to Mrs. Long's home.

Firemen then arrived and administered oxygen.

Firemen said the carbon monoxide fumes were coming from an improperly installed gas furnace. The flue, which was 20 feet from the furnace to the chimney, was too long and too flat to carry away the exhaust.

Firemen pointed out that a flue which is long and flat sometimes will fill with soot from the chimney, cutting off the draft and allowing the fumes to escape into the home.

Firemen said the children apparently didn't get the full effects because they are smaller and were closer to the floor and the heated air was carrying the fumes up in the rooms.

CHARLESTON (AP) — State Auditor Edgar B. Sims, 78, remained in critical condition with double pneumonia today. Charleston Memorial Hospital, where Sims has been a patient since Sunday night, reported his condition unchanged.

4-Way Mishap On Spot Of Ice Hurts Woman

2 Tractor-Trailers, Panel Truck, Auto Damaged In Crash

A 43-year-old woman driver suffered neck and back injuries in a four-way pileup Tuesday afternoon on Dresden Ave. that involved her auto, a panel truck and 2 tractor-trailer rigs, police reported.

Mrs. Mae M. Rohall of the Old Fredericktown Rd. is in "good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered in the crash at 12:44 on an icy patch in front of the Loblaw Market parking lot.

Officers said the stage was set for the pileup when Mrs. Rohall halted her southbound car to make a left turn into the market lot. The three other vehicles then piled up in rapid succession, officers said.

Mrs. Rohall's 1951 four-door sedan was struck from behind by a 1958 panel truck operated by George D. Burger Jr., 38, of Massillon and owned by the M. H. Martin Co. of Massillon. The panel truck was hit from behind by a tractor-trailer rig of the Weir-Cove Moving & Storage Co. of Weirton, driven by Roy E. Conley, 45, of New Cumberland R. D. 2. Conley's rig was hit from behind by another tractor-trailer owned by the same concern and operated by Stanley Taylor, 54, of New Cumberland R. D. 1.

Burger told police he managed to halt his panel truck four or five feet behind Mrs. Rohall's auto. Conley reported he halted his tractor-trailer, but the big rig driven by Taylor—fourth in the line—hit his vehicle from the rear after skidding on an icy patch of pavement.

The "chain reaction" pileup resulted. The heaviest damage was to the tractor-trailer driven by Taylor, which had a smashed front end, officers said.

Mrs. Rohall was taken to a physician's office for treatment and then removed to the hospital.

Another crash at 8:49 Tuesday morning at Lisbon and W. 9th Sts. damaged cars driven by Lorin Howard Jr., 24, of S. Surry Rd. and Lawrence Howell, 45, of 1208 Riverview St., police said.

Princess Margaret Plans To Be Married On May 6

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones will be married May 6 in stately Westminster Abbey, traditional setting for many high ceremonies of British royalty.

The glamorous princess named the day today.

She and the young commoner, who until recently was a society photographer, will be pronounced man and wife by the archbisop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Geoffrey Fisher.

An announcement from Clarence House, the princess' home, said her brother-in-law, Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, will give the bride away.

The announcement touched off widespread enthusiasm. The public was in a mood to give a rousing ovation to the nation's sweethearts.

A repetition of the splendid pageantry of Queen Elizabeth's coronation was expected, with distinguished and humble visitors flocking into London from the ends of the earth.

Scotland Yard immediately started making plans to cope with an emotional demonstration of vast proportions.

It is generally expected that Armstrong-Jones will be elevated to the peerage, probably as a marquess, before the wedding.

The announcement from Clarence House, London home of Margaret and Queen Mother Elizabeth, said it would be a morning wedding, at 11:30.

The bridesmaids and best man were not named.

Margaret's sister, the Queen, and Prince Philip also were married at the Abbey, on Nov. 20, 1947, with the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, officiating. He is the highest prelate of the Church of England.

Fire In Pit Controlled, Official Says

Men Blocked For 24 Hours By Mishap In West Virginia Mine

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP)—A rescue crew has worked its way behind the fire that has trapped 18 men four miles in a coal mine for more than 24 hours.

How they did it wasn't known, but an Island Creek Coal Co. spokesman said the fire was definitely under control and had been bypassed, perhaps by means of a tunnel parallel to the gas and fume-filled section of the mine.

"They (the crew) should be within 500 feet of where the trapped men are believed to have barricaded themselves," the spokesman said.

"We're very hopeful," said N.T. Camicia, vice president of operations.

Outside the mine, eight miles southwest of here, near the Kentucky border, men manning the crews and marshaling materials outnumbered the crowd of relatives and others, thinned by the bitter weather.

New snow, up to four inches, was forecast for the area, and temperatures were in the teens. The snow started soon after daybreak, and mountain roads in the area were turned into slick slides, impeding travel.

State police sent a rush call to the Road Commission for cindering crews and plows.

"We assume that the trapped men have barricaded themselves off," said Robert M. Johnson, manager of Island Creek. The company's Holden 22 mine is eight miles from this southern West Virginia city.

Johnson said one of those trapped is William K. Donaldson, mine safety director, who could guide the men in survival tactics. "He's had experience with this sort of emergency," said Johnson.

Also optimistic was Crawford L. Wilson, the state mines chief who arrived here about 5 a.m. and conferred with mine officials for

Appellate Court To Hear Matter April 15

Arguments on an appeal of a former city policeman, convicted of attempting to bribe a juror, were postponed by the 7th District Court of Appeals at Lisbon Tuesday afternoon until April 15.

Oral arguments were slated yesterday before the district court in the case of Ira Cunningham, ex-officer found guilty last year of attempting to bribe a juror in his burglary trial.

Atty. Alvin Savinell of Steubenville said Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, counsel for Cunningham, was unable to attend yesterday.

Atty. Savinell said his partner had suffered a heart condition late last year, and was not permitted to travel "in this kind of weather."

Judge Elmer Phillips of Youngstown said Atty. Alexander had requested a delay in the oral arguments in the case by phone Monday night, and the judge had then granted the delay tentatively. The other two judges concurred yesterday.

Briefs in the Cunningham appeal were filed yesterday by Atty. Savinell. The court permitted Prosecutor William Brokaw to file briefs until April 1. The arguments on the case are slated April 15 at Youngstown.

Cunningham's conviction in the entering of the Burbick Hardware Co. store was reversed by the appellate court on grounds the indictment — one of a number handed down against 7 policemen in

Utility Claims Year's Losses Of $1 Million

Gas Firm Testifies At PUC Hearing On Higher Rate Request

COLUMBUS — Ohio Valley Gas Co. lost more than a million dollars in its Steubenville district last year, I. L. Briscoe of Columbus, manager of the company's rate department, told the Public Utilities Commission.

Briscoe testified during the first day of hearings on the company's request for an emergency increase in rates. The hearing is continuing today.

The Steubenville district covers Belmont, Columbiana, Harrison, Jefferson and Monroe counties, and the proposed rate increase would apply to natural gas service in the homes and businesses of about 43,000 customers.

Ohio Valley, which also serves an Ironton district about 100 miles away, took over the Steubenville district at the start of 1959 from Manufacturer's Light & Heat Co. Both are subsidiaries of the Co-Columbia Gas System Inc.

When taxes and other factors are included, Briscoe testified, Ohio Valley's revenues fell $1,091,129 short of meeting costs last year. In filing for the emergency increase two months ago, company President Allan W. Lundstrum wrote the commission that "in-

Patterson And Union Continue Negotiations

Progress was reported during contract talks Tuesday between the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. and Steelworkers Local 1322.

James Mullen of East Liverpool, union staff representative at Midland, said "good" progress was made and another meeting will be set some time next week to continue negotiations.

The company and the union came to an interim agreement last July 31 and averted a strike that would have affected about 110 employes.

A contract has been reached between Guy Gengarella & Sons of Midland, a hauling firm, but has not been completely written and signed, Joe Krivan, union staff representative said. Gengarella's local is 4999.

Krivan said work is continuing on a new contract between Midland borough and street department employes of Local 5059. Treadwell employes of Local 1274 remain on a strike, which began Jan. 26 at midnight.

'Gas' Defense Frees Man On Drunk Driving

Wellsville Defendant Blames His Behavior On Exhaust Fumes

A Municipal Court jury of 7 women and 5 men deliberated nearly 3 hours before returning a "not guilty" verdict Tuesday night at 8:40 for a Wellsville father of 10 accused of drunken driving as the aftermath of a Dresden Ave. traffic mishap Feb. 7.

Edward L. Nelson, 825 Sophia St., the foreman, reported the verdict to Judge Samuel M. Chertoff which freed Thomas Hyatt Lewis, 36, of 433 Main St., Wellsville.

The jury heard about 6 hours of testimony and argument before taking the case at 4:30 yesterday afternoon. It deliberated until 6 without reaching agreement, then was sent to dinner at the Travelers Hotel at the city's expense. The jury returned at 7:30 to continue its study of the case.

Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark prosecuted the case for the city and Atty. George A. Aronson appeared for the defense.

Lewis, a truck driver, was taken into custody at 2:35 a. m. Feb. 7 on Dresden Ave. after he lost control of his borrowed car, which skidded on slippery pavement and came to a halt on the bank of Carpenters Run.

The defense based its entire case on the contention that Lewis was not intoxicated, but rather was suffering from the effects of carbon monoxide gas which seeped into the auto from a faulty exhaust system. He said he had consumed only two bottles of beer prior to his arrest.

But three police officers testified that Lewis definitely was under the influence of alcohol, asserting that he stumbled against a cruiser when first taken into custody; tripped on a step while being led into headquarters; fell against a soft drink vending machine in the hallway and needed support when he walked. In addition, the officers testified, Lewis was unable to dial a telephone when given permission to call his wife shortly after his arrest. Lewis had a strong odor of alcohol about him, the police said.

Under cross-examination, Lewis said he did not know the reason

Voter Registration Appeal Opened By Election Board

The Columbiana County Election Board today launched a campaign to enroll an estimated 3,000 unqualified East Liverpool voters for the May 3 primaries before the deadline March 23 at 9 p. m.

The board has 10,106 qualified voters on its books today, but East Liverpool has a potential electorate of about 13,000, according to Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board. The all-time registration high of 12,642 was attained for the 1940 Presidential election.

Voters may register at the board's office on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall, Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p. m. The office is open until noon on Saturdays. In the last three days of the campaign, March 21-23, the office will be open continually from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., O'Hanlon pointed out.

East Liverpool started 1960 with 10,030 qualified voters after the names of 691 had been eliminated in the annual year-end check for failure to vote at least once in the preceding two years. Eighty-eight of the 691 since have been reinstated and 10 new registrations have been recorded, for a total of 10,128 but 22 names have been eliminated on account of death, giving the net total of 10,106, O'Hanlon explained.

Of the 691 disqualified in the year-end check, 603 failed to take advantage of a new state law that permitted them to reinstate their names by returning postcard notices to the Election Board within 30 days. As a result, they now must register in person, O'Hanlon pointed out.

O'Hanlon said the board anticipates a rush because of the comparatively large number of unqualified voters.

The registration campaign was

"We're very hopeful," said N.T. Camicia, vice president of operations.

Outside the mine, eight miles southwest of here, near the Kentucky border, men manning the crews and marshaling materials outnumbered the crowd of relatives and others, thinned by the bitter weather.

New snow, up to four inches, was forecast for the area, and temperatures were in the teens. The snow started soon after daybreak, and mountain roads in the area were turned into slick slides, impeding travel.

State police sent a rush call to the Road Commission for cindering crews and plows.

"We assume that the trapped men have barricaded themselves off," said Robert M. Johnson, manager of Island Creek. The company's Holden 22 mine is eight miles from this southern West Virginia city.

Johnson said one of those trapped is William K. Donaldson, mine safety director, who could guide the men in survival tactics. "He's had experience with this sort of emergency," said Johnson.

Also optimistic was Crawford L. Wilson, the state mines chief who arrived here about 5 a.m. and conferred with mine officials for

Appellate Court To Hear Matter April 15

Arguments on an appeal of a former city policeman, convicted of attempting to bribe a juror, were postponed by the 7th District Court of Appeals at Lisbon Tuesday afternoon until April 15.

Oral arguments were slated yesterday before the district court in the case of Ira Cunningham, ex-officer found guilty last year of attempting to bribe a juror in his burglary trial.

Atty. Alvin Savinell of Steubenville said Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, counsel for Cunningham, was unable to attend yesterday.

Atty. Savinell said his partner had suffered a heart condition late last year, and was not permitted to travel "in this kind of weather."

Judge Elmer Phillips of Youngstown said Atty. Alexander had requested a delay in the oral arguments in the case by phone Monday night, and the judge had then granted the delay tentatively. The other two judges concurred yesterday.

Briefs in the Cunningham appeal were filed yesterday by Atty. Savinell. The court permitted Prosecutor William Brokaw to file briefs until April 1. The arguments on the case are slated April 15 at Youngstown.

Cunningham's conviction in the entering of the Burbick Hardware Co. store was reversed by the appellate court on grounds the indictment — one of a number handed down against 7 policemen in

Utility Claims Year's Losses Of $1 Million

Gas Firm Testifies At PUC Hearing On Higher Rate Request

COLUMBUS — Ohio Valley Gas Co. lost more than a million dollars in its Steubenville district last year, I. L. Briscoe of Columbus, manager of the company's rate department, told the Public Utilities Commission.

Briscoe testified during the first day of hearings on the company's request for an emergency increase in rates. The hearing is continuing today.

The Steubenville district covers Belmont, Columbiana, Harrison, Jefferson and Monroe counties, and the proposed rate increase would apply to natural gas service in the homes and businesses of about 43,000 customers.

Ohio Valley, which also serves an Ironton district about 100 miles away, took over the Steubenville district at the start of 1959 from Manufacturer's Light & Heat Co. Both are subsidiaries of the Co-Columbia Gas System Inc.

When taxes and other factors are included, Briscoe testified, Ohio Valley's revenues fell $1,091,129 short of meeting costs last year. In filing for the emergency increase two months ago, company President Allan W. Lundstrum wrote the commission that "in-

Patterson And Union Continue Negotiations

Progress was reported during contract talks Tuesday between the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. and Steelworkers Local 1322.

James Mullen of East Liverpool, union staff representative at Midland, said "good" progress was made and another meeting will be set some time next week to continue negotiations.

The company and the union came to an interim agreement last July 31 and averted a strike that would have affected about 110 employes.

A contract has been reached between Guy Gengarella & Sons of Midland, a hauling firm, but has not been completely written and signed, Joe Krivan, union staff representative said. Gengarella's local is 4999.

Krivan said work is continuing on a new contract between Midland borough and street department employes of Local 5059. Treadwell employes of Local 1274 remain on a strike, which began Jan. 26 at midnight.

CRAWLED TO SAFETY. The two men who crawled around a fiery barrier before it spread to such an extent that 18 fellow miners were trapped in a mine near Logan, W. Va., Tuesday, grimly recount their experience and say they doubt their companions could have survived. They are: (left to right) William Carter, 46, and Kyle Blair, 29. (UPI Telephoto)

Deadline's Set March 23

Voter Registration Appeal Opened By Election Board

The Columbiana County Election Board today launched a campaign to enroll an estimated 3,000 unqualified East Liverpool voters for the May 3 primaries before the deadline March 23 at 9 p. m.

The board has 10,106 qualified voters on its books today, but East Liverpool has a potential electorate of about 13,000, according to Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board. The all-time registration high of 12,642 was attained for the 1940 Presidential election.

Voters may register at the board's office on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall, Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p. m. The office is open until noon on Saturdays. In the last three days of the campaign, March 21-23, the office will be open continually from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., O'Hanlon pointed out.

East Liverpool started 1960 with 10,030 qualified voters after the names of 691 had been eliminated in the annual year-end check for failure to vote at least once in the preceding two years. Eighty-eight of the 691 since have been reinstated and 10 new registrations have been recorded, for a total of 10,128 but 22 names have been eliminated on account of death, giving the net total of 10,106, O'Hanlon explained.

Of the 691 disqualified in the year-end check, 603 failed to take advantage of a new state law that permitted them to reinstate their names by returning postcard notices to the Election Board within 30 days. As a result, they now must register in person, O'Hanlon pointed out.

O'Hanlon said the board anticipates a rush because of the comparatively large number of unqualified voters.

A Municipal Court jury of 7 women and 5 men deliberated nearly 3 hours before returning a "not guilty" verdict Tuesday night at 8:40 for a Wellsville father of 10 accused of drunken driving as the aftermath of a Dresden Ave. traffic mishap Feb. 7.

Edward L. Nelson, 825 Sophia St., the foreman, reported the verdict to Judge Samuel M. Chertoff which freed Thomas Hyatt Lewis, 36, of 433 Main St., Wellsville.

The jury heard about 6 hours of testimony and argument before taking the case at 4:30 yesterday afternoon. It deliberated until 6 without reaching agreement, then was sent to dinner at the Travelers Hotel at the city's expense. The jury returned at 7:30 to continue its study of the case.

Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark prosecuted the case for the city and Atty. George A. Aronson appeared for the defense.

Lewis, a truck driver, was taken into custody at 2:35 a. m. Feb. 7 on Dresden Ave. after he lost control of his borrowed car, which skidded on slippery pavement and came to a halt on the bank of Carpenters Run.

The defense based its entire case on the contention that Lewis was not intoxicated, but rather was suffering from the effects of carbon monoxide gas which seeped into the auto from a faulty exhaust system. He said he had consumed only two bottles of beer prior to his arrest.

But three police officers testified that Lewis definitely was under the influence of alcohol, asserting that he stumbled against a cruiser when first taken into custody; tripped on a step while being led into headquarters; fell against a soft drink vending machine in the hallway and needed support when he walked. In addition, the officers testified, Lewis was unable to dial a telephone when given permission to call his wife shortly after his arrest. Lewis had a strong odor of alcohol about him, the police said.

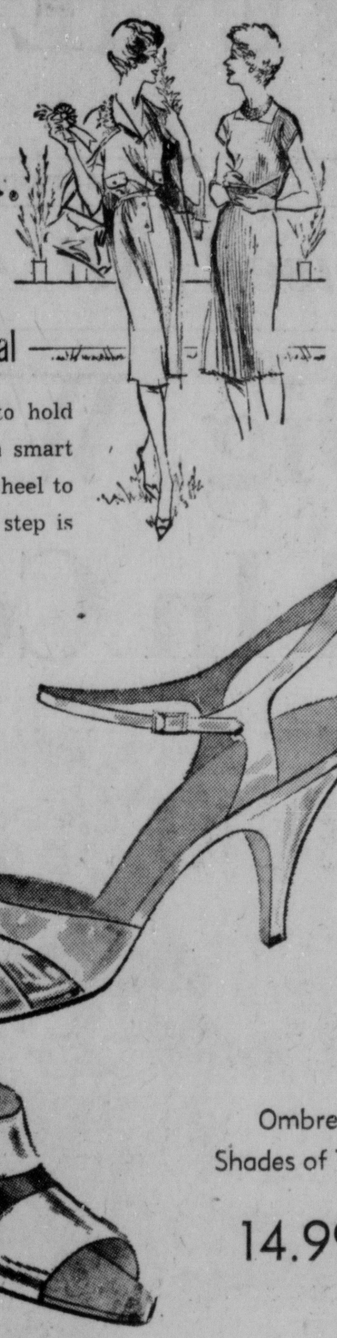

Under cross-examination, Lewis said he did not know the reason

City Sophomore Winner Of District Essay Contest

Baxter will represent the district in the state contest. The contes tin the local high school was conducted by American Legion Post 374 fo East End.

This year a boy and girl winner was selected from each of the three high school grades. The six local winners were entered in the Columbiana County contest and six winners, a boy and girl from each grade, then were advanced to the district.

The topic was "Why I Am Proud to be An American."

The local winners submitted to the county were Baxter and Karen Haught, of Ceramic St., sophomores; Phillip Gary of Westfield and Mary Ellen Walker, 313 Mulberry St., juniors, and Bruce A. Jones, 1520 Wyoming Ave. and Elsa Ann Rubin, 324 W. 4th St., seniors.

Gary and Miss Rubin also were advanced into the district contest.

Here is Baxter's essay:

"I am proud to be an American because of the freedoms we have, the system of justice we uphold, the high moral standards of our country and the respect other nations hold for these United States.

"Even though our country is young in years, it is the best established democracy in the modern world of today. The freedoms and rights we hold and cherish were gained through many battles in the bitter wars iin which our fathers and forefathers fought and died. These freedoms were not obtained over-night, however, as some people take for granted.

"They were acquired over the past two centuries until they have become our rights of today. I realize the valiant efforts involved in obtaining these rights and, therefore, I am proud to be a part of this great nation and to cherish, defend and uphold these rights.

"This country excels other nations with our judicial systems and systems of laws. This is another of the advantages of living in the United States, along with the former freedoms mentioned. Some of our laws date back to Medieval England and other European countries. These laws do mainly three things: they protect us from criminals; they assure fair trials for criminals in our courts; and they protect our property and lives. Many years of fighting to gain these rights and many years of fighting and compromising to maintain them have taught us to cherish and be proud of them.

"Our land has the highest moral standards of the many countries of the world. Although some people contradict this statement and regard it as being false, I believe it to be very true. In recent years, however, different groups have been acting as 'termites' gnawing at the moral standards of America. To list a few, there are the 'Beatnik Craze,' 'Juvenile Delinquency,' and man's pursuit of the 'Fast Buck' in any manner he can get it. In many ways, the proper authorities are trying to correct these faults of Americans.

"Most of the countries of the modern world hold a deep respect for the United States of America. It has been like a 'big brother' to them over the past years. Only recently, have slanders and anti-American feelings existed in peaceful countries. Some of the Western Hemisphere countries seem to hold a grudge against us. These anti-American rallies are thought to have been started by pro-Communist people.

"President Dwight D. Eisenhower's current visit to the East Asian Countries shows that they are very friendly toward us. In Indian, the President was received very warmly. An Indian artist drew a cartoon for Calcutta and New Delhi newspapers, hailing Eisenhower as an angel coming to save the hungry world. I am proud to be a part of this country that is respected so highly by other countries of the world.

"Since most of us have lived in America all our lives, we tend to take for granted the advantages of this our country. When immigrants from other countries venture to the United States, they realize the opportunities here more than we do and appreciate them more.

"Thus, America is a land to be proud of and for these reasons I am proud—proud to be an American!"

discussed at a meeting of the board last night, along with the problems that will be posed for both electors and precinct personnel because of the unusually long Democratic and Republican ballots that will be used at the primaries.

The huge ballots — partciularly the Democratic ticket — result from the large number of candidates for posts of delegates and alternates to national conventions, at which Presidential candidates will be named.

Democrats have 50 candidates for 36 delegate-at-large posts, 22 aspirants for 17 alternate-at-large seats and unopposed slates for 2 district delegate and 2 district alternate posts. The GOP has 11 candidates for 10 delegate-at-large posts and unopposed slates for 10 alternate-at-large and 2 district delegate and alternate posts.

State law requires a voter cannot mark his ballot for more candidates than the number to be elected and, if he does so, that section of his ballot will be invalidated. As a result, voters must be careful not to mark their ballots for more than the number to be elected and precinct personnel will have to check to determine that the voter has not erred in that way, O'Hanlon pointed out.

For instance, if a Democrat voted for 37 candidates for delegate-at-large, with only 36 to be elected, precinct staffs would have to detect the error and "throw out" that section of the ballot, he explained.

The board decided upon a thorough study of the problems posed at the primary, but took no definite action.

O'Hanlon said he anticipates the unofficial count after the polls close will be "an all-night job" for the Election Board staff and that the official count may require 3 days. With 7 ballots in use, East Liverpool will have a larger number of ballots at the primaries than in the general election, he added.

The clerk said absentee ballots now are available for service personnel and civilians residing temporarily outside the U. S. Civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots will not be available until April 3, he added.

Hampshire

pulled some Republican votes.

The dimensions of Kennedy's victory took on added significance by comparison to the last two New Hampshire primaries.

In the 1952 primary, the Republicans cast about 77 per cent of the total vote. Four years later, they racked up 65 per cent. The spread in Tuesday's election was about 55-45 per cent between the two parties, with the Republicans on top.

As expected, Nixon and Kennedy scooped up all the delegates to their respective nominating conventions — 14 Republicans each with a full vote, and 22 Democrats who share 11 votes.

Efforts on the part of admirers of New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to roll up a sizeable vote for him failed to bear fruit.

The governor, who did not enter the race and therefore was not on the ballot, received 2,512 write-in votes for president in 257 of the 300 precincts. Another 1,700 write-in votes were cast for him for vice president.

Paul C. Fisher, Chicago manufacturer, who ran against Kennedy on the Democratic ballot got 5,682 votes in the tally of 251 precincts.

Several factors affected the election.

1. Kennedy campaigned hard in the state in the last three days before the election. Members of his family, including his mother and two of his brothers, stumped the state earlier.

2. Nixon did not appear in New Hampshire. His campaign, however, was spearheaded by Gov. Wesley Powell and most of the leading Republicans in New Hampshire.

3. A sharply worded exchange of charges and retorts probably steamed up interest among voters who previously had been apathetic. On the day before the election, Powell accused Kennedy of being "soft toward communism." Kennedy hit back with a denial and the assertion that he believed Nixon would repudiate Powell's charge. The vice president, through one of his aides, did so.

Kennedy headed directly for Wisconsin where he is engaged in a struggle against Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) in the primary election, April 5.

Princess

The marriage of Elizabeth, then a princess, was broadcast. The British Broadcasting Corp. wants to televise Margaret's wedding, and Britain's commercial television network probably will ask to do likewise.

The marriage will take place two and a half months before Margaret's 30th birthday, which falls on Aug. 21. Armstrong-Jones was 30 on Monday.

The Daily Mail, which correctly predicted the date this morning, said Princess Alexandra and Princess Anne were certain to be bridesmaids, and that Prince Charles, the heir to the throne, might be a page.

The wedding is likely to jam London with the biggest crowds since Elizabeth's coronation in 1952.

The Daily Mirror said that Armstrong-Jones, who has had some slight experience as a designer of women's sports togs, is designing Margaret's wedding dress.

"He has already completed the rough sketches which will form the basic plan for the royal dressmaker," the newspaper said, "and he is now discussing his ideas with the princess."

The engagement of Margaret and Armstrong-Jones was announced on Feb. 26.

Here is Baxter's essay:

"I am proud to be an American because of the freedoms we have, the system of justice we uphold, the high moral standards of our country and the respect other nations hold for these United States.

"Even though our country is young in years, it is the best established democracy in the modern world of today. The freedoms and rights we hold and cherish were gained through many battles in the bitter wars iin which our fathers and forefathers fought and died. These freedoms were not obtained over-night, however, as some people take for granted.

"They were acquired over the past two centuries until they have become our rights of today. I realize the valiant efforts involved in obtaining these rights and, therefore, I am proud to be a part of this great nation and to cherish, defend and uphold these rights.

"This country excels other nations with our judicial systems and systems of laws. This is another of the advantages of living in the United States, along with the former freedoms mentioned. Some of our laws date back to Medieval England and other European countries. These laws do mainly three things: they protect us from criminals; they assure fair trials for criminals in our courts; and they protect our property and lives. Many years of fighting to gain these rights and many years of fighting and compromising to maintain them have taught us to cherish and be proud of them.

"Our land has the highest moral standards of the many countries of the world. Although some people contradict this statement and regard it as being false, I believe it to be very true. In recent years, however, different groups have been acting as 'termites' gnawing at the moral standards of America. To list a few, there are the 'Beatnik Craze,' 'Juvenile Delinquency,' and man's pursuit of the 'Fast Buck' in any manner he can get it. In many ways, the proper authorities are trying to correct these faults of Americans.

"Most of the countries of the modern world hold a deep respect for the United States of America. It has been like a 'big brother' to them over the past years. Only recently, have slanders and anti-American feelings existed in peaceful countries. Some of the Western Hemisphere countries seem to hold a grudge against us. These anti-American rallies are thought to have been started by pro-Communist people.

"President Dwight D. Eisenhower's current visit to the East Asian Countries shows that they are very friendly toward us. In Indian, the President was received very warmly. An Indian artist drew a cartoon for Calcutta and New Delhi newspapers, hailing Eisenhower as an angel coming to save the hungry world. I am proud to be a part of this country that is respected so highly by other countries of the world.

"Since most of us have lived in America all our lives, we tend to take for granted the advantages of this our country. When immigrants from other countries venture to the United States, they realize the opportunities here more than we do and appreciate them more.

"Thus, America is a land to be proud of and for these reasons I am proud—proud to be an American!"

discussed at a meeting of the board last night, along with the problems that will be posed for both electors and precinct personnel because of the unusually long Democratic and Republican ballots that will be used at the primaries.

The huge ballots — partciularly the Democratic ticket — result from the large number of candidates for posts of delegates and alternates to national conventions, at which Presidential candidates will be named.

Democrats have 50 candidates for 36 delegate-at-large posts, 22 aspirants for 17 alternate-at-large seats and unopposed slates for 2 district delegate and 2 district alternate posts. The GOP has 11 candidates for 10 delegate-at-large posts and unopposed slates for 10 alternate-at-large and 2 district delegate and alternate posts.

State law requires a voter cannot mark his ballot for more candidates than the number to be elected and, if he does so, that section of his ballot will be invalidated. As a result, voters must be careful not to mark their ballots for more than the number to be elected and precinct personnel will have to check to determine that the voter has not erred in that way, O'Hanlon pointed out.

For instance, if a Democrat voted for 37 candidates for delegate-at-large, with only 36 to be elected, precinct staffs would have to detect the error and "throw out" that section of the ballot, he explained.

The board decided upon a thorough study of the problems posed at the primary, but took no definite action.

O'Hanlon said he anticipates the unofficial count after the polls close will be "an all-night job" for the Election Board staff and that the official count may require 3 days. With 7 ballots in use, East Liverpool will have a larger number of ballots at the primaries than in the general election, he added.

The clerk said absentee ballots now are available for service personnel and civilians residing temporarily outside the U. S. Civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots will not be available until April 3, he added.

pulled some Republican votes.

The dimensions of Kennedy's victory took on added significance by comparison to the last two New Hampshire primaries.

In the 1952 primary, the Republicans cast about 77 per cent of the total vote. Four years later, they racked up 65 per cent. The spread in Tuesday's election was about 55-45 per cent between the two parties, with the Republicans on top.

As expected, Nixon and Kennedy scooped up all the delegates to their respective nominating conventions — 14 Republicans each with a full vote, and 22 Democrats who share 11 votes.

Efforts on the part of admirers of New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to roll up a sizeable vote for him failed to bear fruit.

The governor, who did not enter the race and therefore was not on the ballot, received 2,512 write-in votes for president in 257 of the 300 precincts. Another 1,700 write-in votes were cast for him for vice president.

Paul C. Fisher, Chicago manufacturer, who ran against Kennedy on the Democratic ballot got 5,682 votes in the tally of 251 precincts.

Several factors affected the election.

1. Kennedy campaigned hard in the state in the last three days before the election. Members of his family, including his mother and two of his brothers, stumped the state earlier.

2. Nixon did not appear in New Hampshire. His campaign, however, was spearheaded by Gov. Wesley Powell and most of the leading Republicans in New Hampshire.

3. A sharply worded exchange of charges and retorts probably steamed up interest among voters who previously had been apathetic. On the day before the election, Powell accused Kennedy of being "soft toward communism." Kennedy hit back with a denial and the assertion that he believed Nixon would repudiate Powell's charge. The vice president, through one of his aides, did so.

Kennedy headed directly for Wisconsin where he is engaged in a struggle against Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) in the primary election, April 5.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Princess

The marriage of Elizabeth, then a princess, was broadcast. The British Broadcasting Corp. wants to televise Margaret's wedding, and Britain's commercial television network probably will ask to do likewise.

The marriage will take place two and a half months before Margaret's 30th birthday, which falls on Aug. 21. Armstrong-Jones was 30 on Monday.

The Daily Mail, which correctly predicted the date this morning, said Princess Alexandra and Princess Anne were certain to be bridesmaids, and that Prince Charles, the heir to the throne, might be a page.

The wedding is likely to jam London with the biggest crowds since Elizabeth's coronation in 1952.

The Daily Mirror said that Armstrong-Jones, who has had some slight experience as a designer of women's sports togs, is designing Margaret's wedding dress.

"He has already completed the rough sketches which will form the basic plan for the royal dressmaker," the newspaper said, "and he is now discussing his ideas with the princess."

The engagement of Margaret and Armstrong-Jones was announced on Feb. 26.

A Welcome Evaluation Of Our Schools

The State Department of Education's report on East Liverpool's public school system —following a February inspection—comes as a welcome evaluation.

It is significant because it analyzes both the good points and the bad points and offers a general rating with other schools in Ohio.

An independent and long-range viewpoint is vital to any school program. It's not that local school authorities "can't see the forest for the trees", but too often their views fail to carry the weight they should with the general public unless someone of "outside" authority backs them up.

The report, made by Gerald R. Norman, state school supervisor, lists recent improvements in the schools such as broadened curriculum, better pupil-teacher ratio and an accelerated program for talented pupils.

Among the needs suggested are a more comprehensive physical education and health education program, a more thought stimulating atmosphere in some classes, and various improvements in buildings and classroom facilities.

This is an objective judgment of our schools. The report should be noted closely by teachers, parents and everyone who is asked to pay for our education program. It helps to answer those who are critical of the schools and those who zealously have been seeking to raise the standards.

The quality of our public education here is good, but it can be improved. Its improvement will depend upon each and every citizen in the school district, for the responsibility of education rests with them as much as it does with the administrators and teachers.

Is Castro Crazy Or Like A Fox?

Secretary of State Herter either has walked into Fidel Castro's trap by blasting the Cuban prime minister in angry words, or he has decided after consultation with President Eisenhower to trap the young Cuban.

From Castro's point of view, making the United States officially angry might be the means of baiting it into an intemperate act that would hurt its position in the Southern Hemisphere. This is obviously the talking point favored by Communists now active in Latin America and South America. It can be guessed that it was one of the things talked over by Anastas Mikoyan when the deputy premier of the Soviet Union visited Cuba to discuss the strategy of the Communist conspiracy in this hemisphere.

The image of the United States that always has been kept in front of dissatisfied groups is "Yankee imperialism." That was the rallying cry of the demonstrations against President Eisenhower on his South American journey. It was the slogan of the mobs that attacked Vice President Nixon. These incidents are not spontaneous. They are staged, and there is good reason to believe they are staged as part of the worldwide agitation carried on tirelessly by the Communist conspiracy.

The one thing that thwarts their producers is failure to react. Communists thrive on riots and disorder. They starve on composure and abstention. Secretary Herter's angry blast questioning the good faith of the Castro government is just what the political doctor ordered to make it appear that the mighty United States is abusing little Cuba.

THE ALTERNATIVE — that the United States may be ready to trap Castro — is easier to believe. It is obvious that Castro is either the willing or the unwilling prisoner of Communists in Cuba. He is serving their purposes by agitating against the United States.

If he has not let his political adventures carry him away, he is being carried away by political adventurers like his recent guest Mikoyan who have forgotten more about intrigue than he is likely to learn if he lives to be 80.

In either event, the United States may now have decided it is time to tell him and the advisers who have remained loyal to him that there is a limit to patience. Ever since the Monroe Doctrine was published in 1823, the United States has considered European interference with American governments an "unfriendly act."

Communist activity in Cuba and Cuban interference in other nation's affairs may not look to European meddlers like a violation of the Monroe Doctrine. But if Secretary Herter and President Eisenhower decide to call the turn on what evidently is afoot in Cuba, Latin America and South America, they will look that way to citizens of the United States and their friends in the other American states.

FOR CASTRO to ignore that possibility would mean he was unaware of the issue he has opened by taking Cuba into the Communist orbit, or by letting it drift there.

The United States cannot tolerate either alternative. It has given Castro every chance to show that he wants to be friendly, and it has had no assurance.

If it now gives him every chance to know what will happen if he persists in being unfriendly, it will be doing only what it would have to do eventually if Castro persists in misrepresenting the United States to his own countrymen for the benefit of a country that has nothing but Old World trouble to peddle in the New World.

Never-Ending Fight

Today's announcement of Columbiana County firms cited for safety records in 1959 shows the result of safety awareness — an awareness promoted by the county Industrial Safety Committee, by workers and by management.

Prevention of injuries and reduction of lost work hours is a battle waged by companies and employes 365 days a year.

Since the start of the machine age, great strides have been made in curbing the dangers of production equipment and in educating workers on avoiding unnecessary risks. Management leaders, union officials, workers and government representatives have worked together to make American industry safer than the home.

Yet there is always a threat of injury in any job and, despite protective devices and safety surveys, accidents continue to occur because of negligence, risky shortcuts in operating methods or for other reasons.

The county firms and employes cited in last year's safety drive should take pride in their achievement, but should remember the fight against injury and production time lost is never won, because it never ends.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

We dreamed Elvis Presley had been summoned to testify in Senate probe of U.S. defense posture.

"Mr. Presley, the committee appreciates your taking time to give us the benefit of your views," began the chairman.

"I'm glad to be here, even if my agent didn't arrange it," was the reply.

"Do you think our armed forces are a sufficient war deterrent?" asked the chairman.

"I think they're a little short of castles," said Elvis. It went on from there:

Q. You do not think the castle supply is adequate?

A. If a soldier has only his father, grandfather, secretarial staff and personal guards with him they may be okay. But suppose he brings his agents, bookeepers and corporates?

Q. Do you think we are spending enough on defense?

A. I had to pay out of my own pocket to have my castle at Bad Nauheim done over and if I wanted whitewall tires on my army truck I had to see my agent.

Q. Do you think our armed forces are well placed?

A. No. I believe they should be located closer to Hollywood and Broadway.

Q. Do you feel your departure from West Germany will soften Khrushchev's demand for wholesale withdrawals from West Berlin?

A. It could help.

Q. Did you enjoy your army service?

A. Why not? I was the only man in history to do KP duty from a private phone in a choice of colors.

Q. One more question. Is it your view that tensions are relaxing?

A. Mine certainly are!

Q. What are your views on rockets to the moon?

A. The situation worries me. I think we should go all-out to make sure there are bobbysoxers on the moon and that, if so, an American be the first to sign autographs there.

Q. What was the mood in Germany when you left?

A. All shook up.

Klan Membership Seen Exaggerated

By Victor Riesel

Those night people known as the Ku Klux Klan are attempting to hoodwink the land with boasts of membership ranging from 42,000 to 100,000 Klavern-ites. They lie. The truth — according to authentic statistics made available to this column — is that the South and the North, working people as well as management and owners of considerable property, have repudiated the Klan.

Victor Riesel

Not since its first day in Pulaski, Tenn., almost 100 years ago, has it had fewer members. It has gained little from its efforts to exploit the bitter Senate debate. It can be revealed that there are some 8,500 actual Klan members. But even this is a misleading figure.

There literally is no "Klan." There are 20 Klans. These have some 200 Klaverns — cells. Many of them feud viciously over the few dollars which the "movement" can make out of its effort to turn the segregationist issue into a racket.

AS THE MEMBERSHIP declines, the civil war among the Klans will become sharper. There are plans to attack each other. And membership is dwindling at the moment.

The KKK movement was at its grimmest height of recent years on Jan. 1, 1959, when the investigators for several important state agencies and the federal government itself agreed that there were 15,000 Klansmen. In one year the hooded ones lost virtually half their night comrades.

A band of Klansmen, which met over the Feb. 27 weekend, talked of 42,000 followers. They claimed these cross burners came from 17 states.

Fact is the men — if you'll forgive me the expression — who met in Atlanta, Ga., represented themselves and perhaps 200 more.

Veterans of the existing Klans have privately referred to them as "renegade carpetbaggers who had been kicked out of the Klan several years ago."

These old timers, the truly ugly Americans themselves, represent such units as the National Anti-Communist Legionnaires (no relation to the American Legion, of course) and the U.S. Klans.

There are also units on the subversive list of the U.S. attorney general, issued under presidential executive order 10450, such as the Associated Klans of America, The Assn. of Georgia Klans, Knights of the White Camelia and the Original Southern Klans, Inc.

ALWAYS SEARCHING for a buck, some Klan units have tried to muscle in on the labor field. Two years ago there appeared in Fort Mill, S.C., something calling itself "The United Southern Employees Assn."

The leader told a meeting of the local Klan Klavern that any KKKer was automatically a member of the USEA. He guaranteed that they, therefore, could walk through picket lines of any AFL-CIO union.

In a short time, the AEEA frantically disappeared. Neither the working men nor management would go anywhere near it.

In all there are 20 KKK organizations. They are most active in North Carolina, Florida and Georgia in that order.

There are Klaverns in Alabama, Arkansas, South Carolina, one or two in Texas and Tennessee. Most of the 20 units are under constant FBI surveillance and can plan nothing without the government knowing it within a few hours.

There are authentic reports of Klan units trying to move into crowded northern industrial areas. The objectives are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. This was announced in the Atlanta Klavern klatch the other weekend. The "drive" is interpreted as a bid for money from the gullible.

Police units in some of these northern areas have been alerted. But the hoods up north are still the garden variety muscle men—who themselves aren't apt to be neighborly to any night riding invaders.

Judgment Withheld

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower got a thunderous reception in South America—sprinkled with some unpleasant episodes—but the people he visited may judge the worth of his journey on the follow-up.

In the talk he made to the nation Tuesday night there wasn't much indication of follow-up in the sense of new programs or projects to help the South Americans. He talked mostly in generalities.

He took an extremely optimistic view of what he found on his journey. He said our relations with our sister republics, with very few exceptions, reached an all-time high.

Some students of Latin America may question this and wonder whether even a trip by such a popular figure as the President can wipe out the ill will toward the United States demonstrated when Vice President Richard M. Nixon went there.

It's too soon to know whether the President has, or will have, any new projects or programs in mind for the nations he visited or their neighbors. He still has time before leaving office to come up with some.

Still, that time is limited, extremely limited when considered against the busy year ahead of him: a summit meeting, a proposed visit to the Soviet Union, the Republican covention, the presidential campaign.

Eisenhower did indicate that this country will try to be helpful but he still stressed the virtue of self-reliance among the Latin Americans in solving their dilemmas.

He said: "In our discussions, I stressed that all nations—large or small, powerful or weak—should assume some responsibility for the advancement of humankind, in freedom.

"Though we of the United States will, within the framework of our world situation and economic capacity, assist all we can, we look for the time when all the free nations will feel a common responsibility for our common destiny."

The President touched on a sore point among Latin Americans when he said: "Another persistent misunderstanding which I sought to correct wherever I traveled is that we sometimes support dictators. Of course, we abhor all tyrannical forms of government, whether of the left or right."

This was not quite a denial that the United States has dealt on friendly terms with dictatorships or tyrannies.

For instance, the United States got along swimmingly with Fulgencio Batista, the Cuban dictator until Fidel Castro threw him out and substituted a new dictatorship of his own.

Butler's Low Blow

By David Lawrence

Democrat Leader's Charge May Boomerang

It's a tribute to the good sense of American politicians that hitting below the belt is, indeed, rare. That's why the reprehensible attack by Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, upon President Eisenhower stands out as a "naughty deed" in a world of decent politics.

David Lawrence

Mr. Butler must have suddenly lost his poise when he told an audience in the question period after a joint debate Sunday night that "President Eisenhower has something to answer for to the wives and children of the Navy men" who died in the air collision near Rio de Janeiro of Feb. 25. The Democratic national chairman added:

"What right has he (the President) to take the Navy Band on a trip around the world? Was this trip a political show or something?"

Now, it so happens that right after the disaster the Navy Department in Washington issued a statement which said:

"The Navy Band was scheduled to make the South American tour in February and March to take advantage of the transportation which could be provided by the cruiser Macon. As their visit would coincide with that of the President, the chief of naval operations made the band available to the U.S. ambassadors in the respective countries concerned to play for official ceremonies in addition to the usual public concerts."

BUT MR. BUTLER evidently didn't read this in the newspapers or preferred to ignore it. Adm. Arleigh Burke, when asked on Monday of this week about the Butler statement, declared that he and he alone, as chief of naval operations, decided to send the Navy Band on its South American tour.

Navy officials noted that their previous statement had said explicitly that "the South American tour of the Navy Band was not scheduled by or at the request of the White House."

Chairman Butler made an apology to a news conference on the day after his attack and claimed that he didn't intend to implicate President Eisenhower personally. He added:

"For any such inference that may have been drawn, I want to apologize to the President."

What did Chairman Butler expect to gain in the first place by his ill-considered attempt to fasten upon President Eisenhower any responsibility whatsoever for the deaths of 19 bandsmen in the air crash which occurred during the President's visit to Brazil?

Did he believe that the voters would be prejudiced against the Republicans by a statement which distorted the facts.

It might be asked also whether Mr. Eisenhower has become officially responsible for any mistakes of the pilots that led to the collision at Rio.

Is he similarly responsible for the deaths of the crew and the naval personnel who happened to be traveling from Buenos Aires to Rio de Janeiro on the same plane, after assisting in the search for an unidentified submarine in Argentine waters?

According to Mr. Butler's alleged logic, the President or his administration should be held responsible for what happens to all military personnel in airplane accidents and presumably also for any mishaps involving persons traveling on "cultural exchanges" to other countries.

"This attempt on your part to bloody the hands of the President is not very creditable."

Politics is a free-slugging match in the main but the kind of attack of which Chairman Butler is guilty is almost unheard of.

It tends to weaken his own position as a leader of his party and no doubt will strengthen the movement inside the Democratic party to oust him from the chairmanship after the next national convention in Los Angeles.

Already the Southerners are up in arms over statements by Mr. Butler virtually reading the Southern Democrats out of the party.

The task of a national chairman hitherto has been believed to be to harmonize rather than to disorganize. Mr. Butler's remarks have not been calculated to preserve unity in the Democratic party.

This latest outburst against the President is bound to boomerang. Instead of gaining votes, it could be the means of losing votes for the Democrats. When attacks go to extremes, arguments on other topics simply do not carry the conviction they otherwise might.

Many people may not understand, of course, that, when the President takes a trip to a foreign country, the people of that country appreciate any special courtesies. The more colorful the ceremonies, the deeper the impression made. To charge the President with any responsibility, official or otherwise, for the deaths of the Navy bandsmen in the airplane accident is about as far-fetched and fantastic as to charge the chairman of the Democratic National Committee with responsibility for the physical collapse of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut at the Democratic fund-raising dinner at Miami, Fla., last week.

Up To Our Ears

By Truman Twill

Reading the mail is one of the pleasant parts of column writing. This kind of a column makes no appeal for mail, having no pamphlets or advice to give away and no influence to peddle, so its readers — when they do write — are appreciated. They have "taken pen in hand" of their own volition.

For example, there is a lady who says "Truman Twill's humorous wisdom brings a warm glow to these dull days and his philosophy often convinces me that the world is really not going to the dogs after all."

The phrase "humorous wisdom" makes the big impression here, because when the letter reached the caretaker of the Twillery there was a snowdrift this high in the bad part of the lane and the entire lane was impassable because of the snow's depth even where it hadn't drifted.

The snow plow was no use because so much snow had been pushed to either side of the drifted section there was no way to get rid of any more. Only a snow blower could have blown it clear of the big drift anyway.

Foresight had put the little car at the road end of the snowy mess before it became acute. The other car was snow-locked at the house end of the lane. This was a humor-taxing situation. Finally, the little car was squeezed through an opening in the shoulder-high drift, but the larger car had to wait another day until the opening could be widened enough to clear the door handles. It was a tight fit.

While this was happening, more lambs were arriving in a frigid barn. And at the climax, a distraught mother with a short memory had triplets. She remembered the third and forgot the first two. They had to be brought into the house to be fed out of a bottle.

As the weather outside worsened, so did the cats. They could sense which door would be opened next. Once inside, they dispersed to five warm hiding places and had to be dragged forth by their tails. This went on in multiples of five all day and part of the night.

Then there were the dogs, older than they used to be. They think they want to play in the snow, but like middle-aged people who yield to the impulse they soon want to be back inside, and this led to more doors being opened, more cats and more ice balls being chewed out of paws on the living room carpet.

Despite a well-filled supply cupboard, grocery shortages always develop. Appetites invariably increase as temperatures drop. Thus, there will be plenty of pie-filling but no bread, a surplus of tomato juice but no milk, lots of preserves but no oleo etc.

And always the first two things to disappear are cigarets and chewing gum. This meant that the only resident with a pair of boots had to turn himself into a pack horse to rush in supplies from the great world outside. This year, still another shortage developed — bird feed.

Clouds of winter birds with insatiable appetites have become so accustomed to Twillery handouts that it would take bushels of seeds a week to satisfy them when snow covers the ground. This is just one more detail that calls for wisdom and humor.

It is nice to know that a reader finds this quality in Truman Twill, because the harsh fact is that Truman Twill wishes he could find it in himself during the ordeal of grappling with winter, when nothing seems to work right because it's frozen; when fingers are numb with cold and gloves make even easy tasks awkward; when getting to and from places is an Arctic expedition; when it seems as if one more snowflake would break a patient man's back.

All any of us can do is try, secure in the knowledge that when this is over we'll be up to our ears in water and when that's over we'll be invisible in the high grass that will spring up all around, all around.

A Welcome Evaluation Of Our Schools

The State Department of Education's report on East Liverpool's public school system—following a February inspection—comes as a welcome evaluation.

It is significant because it analyzes both the good points and the bad points and offers a general rating with other schools in Ohio.

An independent and long-range viewpoint is vital to any school program. It's not that local school authorities "can't see the forest for the trees", but too often their views fail to carry the weight they should with the general public unless someone of "outside" authority backs them up.

The report, made by Gerald R. Norman, state school supervisor, lists recent improvements in the schools such as broadened curriculum, better pupil-teacher ratio and an accelerated program for talented pupils.

Among the needs suggested are a more comprehensive physical education and health education program, a more thought stimulating atmosphere in some classes, and various improvements in buildings and classroom facilities.

This is an objective judgment of our schools. The report should be noted closely by teachers, parents and everyone who is asked to pay for our education program. It helps to answer those who are critical of the schools and those who zealously have been seeking to raise the standards.

The quality of our public education here is good, but it can be improved. Its improvement will depend upon each and every citizen in the school district, for the responsibility of education rests with them as much as it does with the administrators and teachers.

Is Castro Crazy Or Like A Fox?

Secretary of State Herter either has walked into Fidel Castro's trap by blasting the Cuban prime minister in angry words, or he has decided after consultation with President Eisenhower to trap the young Cuban.

From Castro's point of view, making the United States officially angry might be the means of baiting it into an intemperate act that would hurt its position in the Southern Hemisphere. This is obviously the talking point favored by Communists now active in Latin America and South America. It can be guessed that it was one of the things talked over by Anastas Mikoyan when the deputy premier of the Soviet Union visited Cuba to discuss the strategy of the Communist conspiracy in this hemisphere.

The image of the United States that always has been kept in front of dissatisfied groups is "Yankee imperialism." That was the rallying cry of the demonstrations against President Eisenhower on his South American journey. It was the slogan of the mobs that attacked Vice President Nixon. These incidents are not spontaneous. They are staged, and there is good reason to believe they are staged as part of the worldwide agitation carried on tirelessly by the Communist conspiracy.

The one thing that thwarts their producers is failure to react. Communists thrive on riots and disorder. They starve on composure and abstention. Secretary Herter's angry blast questioning the good faith of the Castro government is just what the political doctor ordered to make it appear that the mighty United States is abusing little Cuba.

THE ALTERNATIVE — that the United States may be ready to trap Castro — is easier to believe. It is obvious that Castro is either the willing or the unwilling prisoner of Communists in Cuba. He is serving their purposes by agitating against the United States.

If he has not let his political adventures carry him away, he is being carried away by political adventurers like his recent guest Mikoyan who have forgotten more about intrigue than he is likely to learn if he lives to be 80.

In either event, the United States may now have decided it is time to tell him and the advisers who have remained loyal to him that there is a limit to patience. Ever since the Monroe Doctrine was published in 1823, the United States has considered European interference with American governments an "unfriendly act."

Communist activity in Cuba and Cuban interference in other nation's affairs may not look to European meddlers like a violation of the Monroe Doctrine. But if Secretary Herter and President Eisenhower decide to call the turn on what evidently is afoot in Cuba, Latin America and South America, they will look that way to citizens of the United States and their friends in the other American states.

FOR CASTRO to ignore that possibility would mean he was unaware of the issue he has opened by taking Cuba into the Communist orbit, or by letting it drift there.

The United States cannot tolerate either alternative. It has given Castro every chance to show that he wants to be friendly, and it has had no assurance.

If it now gives him every chance to know what will happen if he persists in being unfriendly, it will be doing only what it would have to do eventually if Castro persists in misrepresenting the United States to his own countrymen for the benefit of a country that has nothing but Old World trouble to peddle in the New World.

Never-Ending Fight

Today's announcement of Columbiana County firms cited for safety records in 1959 shows the result of safety awareness — an awareness promoted by the county Industrial Safety Committee, by workers and by management.

Prevention of injuries and reduction of lost work hours is a battle waged by companies and employes 365 days a year.

Since the start of the machine age, great strides have been made in curbing the dangers of production equipment and in educating workers on avoiding unnecessary risks. Management leaders, union officials, workers and government representatives have worked together to make American industry safer than the home.

Yet there is always a threat of injury in any job and, despite protective devices and safety surveys, accidents continue to occur because of negligence, risky shortcuts in operating methods or for other reasons.

The county firms and employes cited in last year's safety drive should take pride in their achievement, but should remember the fight against injury and production time lost is never won, because it never ends.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

We dreamed Elvis Presley had been summoned to testify in Senate probe of U.S. defense posture.

"Mr. Presley, the committee appreciates your taking time to give us the benefit of your views," began the chairman.

"I'm glad to be here, even if my agent didn't arrange it," was the reply.

"Do you think our armed forces are a sufficient war deterrent?" asked the chairman.

"I think they're a little short of castles," said Elvis. It went on from there:

Q. You do not think the castle supply is adequate?

A. If a soldier has only his father, grandfather, secretarial staff and personal guards with him they may be okay. But suppose he brings his agents, bookeepers and corporates?

Q. Do you think we are spending enough on defense?

A. I had to pay out of my own pocket to have my castle at Bad Nauheim done over and if I wanted whitewall tires on my army truck I had to see my agent.

Q. Do you think our armed forces are well placed?

A. No. I believe they should be located closer to Hollywood and Broadway.

Q. Do you feel your departure from West Germany will soften Khrushchev's demand for wholesale withdrawals from West Berlin?

A. It could help.

Q. Did you enjoy your army service?

A. Why not? I was the only man in history to do KP duty from a private phone in a choice of colors.

Q. One more question. Is it your view that tensions are relaxing?

A. Mine certainly are!

Q. What are your views on rockets to the moon?

A. The situation worries me. I think we should go all-out to make sure there are bobbysoxers on the moon and that, if so, an American be the first to sign autographs there.

Q. What was the mood in Germany when you left?

A. All shook up.

Klan Membership Seen Exaggerated

By Victor Riesel

Those night people known as the Ku Klux Klan are attempting to hoodwink the land with boasts of membership ranging from 42,000 to 100,000 Klavern-ites. They lie. The truth — according to authentic statistics made available to this column — is that the South and the North, working people as well as management and owners of considerable property, have repudiated the Klan.

Victor Riesel

Not since its first day in Pulaski, Tenn., almost 100 years ago, has it had fewer members. It has gained little from its efforts to exploit the bitter Senate debate. It can be revealed that there are some 8,500 actual Klan members. But even this is a misleading figure.

There literally is no "Klan." There are 20 Klans. These have some 200 Klaverns — cells. Many of them feud viciously over the few dollars which the "movement" can make out of its effort to turn the segregationist issue into a racket.

AS THE MEMBERSHIP declines, the civil war among the Klans will become sharper. There are plans to attack each other. And membership is dwindling at the moment.

The KKK movement was at its grimmest height of recent years on Jan. 1, 1959, when the investigators for several important state agencies and the federal government itself agreed that there were 15,000 Klansmen. In one year the hooded ones lost virtually half their night comrades.

A band of Klansmen, which met over the Feb. 27 weekend, talked of 42,000 followers. They claimed these cross burners came from 17 states.

Fact is the men — if you'll forgive me the expression — who met in Atlanta, Ga., represented themselves and perhaps 200 more.

Veterans of the existing Klans have privately referred to them as "renegade carpetbaggers who had been kicked out of the Klan several years ago."

These old timers, the truly ugly Americans themselves, represent such units as the National Anti-Communist Legionnaires (no relation to the American Legion, of course) and the U.S. Klans.

There are also units on the subversive list of the U.S. attorney general, issued under presidential executive order 10450, such as the Associated Klans of America, The Assn. of Georgia Klans, Knights of the White Camelia and the Original Southern Klans, Inc.

ALWAYS SEARCHING for a buck, some Klan units have tried to muscle in on the labor field. Two years ago there appeared in Fort Mill, S.C., something calling itself "The United Southern Employees Assn."

The leader told a meeting of the local Klan Klavern that any KKKer was automatically a member of the USEA. He guaranteed that they, therefore, could walk through picket lines of any AFL-CIO union.

In a short time, the AEEA frantically disappeared. Neither the working men nor management would go anywhere near it.

In all there are 20 KKK organizations. They are most active in North Carolina, Florida and Georgia in that order.

There are Klaverns in Alabama, Arkansas, South Carolina, one or two in Texas and Tennessee. Most of the 20 units are under constant FBI surveillance and can plan nothing without the government knowing it within a few hours.

There are authentic reports of Klan units trying to move into crowded northern industrial areas. The objectives are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. This was announced in the Atlanta Klavern klatch the other weekend. The "drive" is interpreted as a bid for money from the gullible.

Police units in some of these northern areas have been alerted. But the hoods up north are still the garden variety muscle men—who themselves aren't apt to be neighborly to any night riding invaders.

Judgment Withheld

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower got a thunderous reception in South America—sprinkled with some unpleasant episodes—but the people he visited may judge the worth of his journey on the follow-up.

In the talk he made to the nation Tuesday night there wasn't much indication of follow-up in the sense of new programs or projects to help the South Americans. He talked mostly in generalities.

He took an extremely optimistic view of what he found on his journey. He said our relations with our sister republics, with very few exceptions, reached an all-time high.

Some students of Latin America may question this and wonder whether even a trip by such a popular figure as the President can wipe out the ill will toward the United States demonstrated when Vice President Richard M. Nixon went there.

It's too soon to know whether the President has, or will have, any new projects or programs in mind for the nations he visited or their neighbors. He still has time before leaving office to come up with some.

Still, that time is limited, extremely limited when considered against the busy year ahead of him: a summit meeting, a proposed visit to the Soviet Union, the Republican covention, the presidential campaign.

Eisenhower did indicate that this country will try to be helpful but he still stressed the virtue of self-reliance among the Latin Americans in solving their dilemmas.

He said: "In our discussions, I stressed that all nations—large or small, powerful or weak—should assume some responsibility for the advancement of humankind, in freedom.

"Though we of the United States will, within the framework of our world situation and economic capacity, assist all we can, we look for the time when all the free nations will feel a common responsibility for our common destiny."

The President touched on a sore point among Latin Americans when he said: "Another persistent misunderstanding which I sought to correct wherever I traveled is that we sometimes support dictators. Of course, we abhor all tyrannical forms of government, whether of the left or right."

This was not quite a denial that the United States has dealt on friendly terms with dictatorships or tyrannies.

For instance, the United States got along swimmingly with Fulgencio Batista, the Cuban dictator until Fidel Castro threw him out and substituted a new dictatorship of his own.

Butler's Low Blow

By David Lawrence

Democrat Leader's Charge May Boomerang

It's a tribute to the good sense of American politicians that hitting below the belt is, indeed, rare. That's why the reprehensible attack by Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, upon President Eisenhower stands out as a "naughty deed" in a world of decent politics.

David Lawrence

Mr. Butler must have suddenly lost his poise when he told an audience in the question period after a joint debate Sunday night that "President Eisenhower has something to answer for to the wives and children of the Navy men" who died in the air collision near Rio de Janeiro of Feb. 25. The Democratic national chairman added:

"What right has he (the President) to take the Navy Band on a trip around the world? Was this trip a political show or something?"

Now, it so happens that right after the disaster the Navy Department in Washington issued a statement which said:

"The Navy Band was scheduled to make the South American tour in February and March to take advantage of the transportation which could be provided by the cruiser Macon. As their visit would coincide with that of the President, the chief of naval operations made the band available to the U.S. ambassadors in the respective countries concerned to play for official ceremonies in addition to the usual public concerts."

BUT MR. BUTLER evidently didn't read this in the newspapers or preferred to ignore it. Adm. Arleigh Burke, when asked on Monday of this week about the Butler statement, declared that he and he alone, as chief of naval operations, decided to send the Navy Band on its South American tour.

Navy officials noted that their previous statement had said explicitly that "the South American tour of the Navy Band was not scheduled by or at the request of the White House."

Chairman Butler made an apology to a news conference on the day after his attack and claimed that he didn't intend to implicate President Eisenhower personally. He added:

"For any such inference that may have been drawn, I want to apologize to the President."

What did Chairman Butler expect to gain in the first place by his ill-considered attempt to fasten upon President Eisenhower any responsibility whatsoever for the deaths of 19 bandsmen in the air crash which occurred during the President's visit to Brazil?

Did he believe that the voters would be prejudiced against the Republicans by a statement which distorted the facts.

It might be asked also whether Mr. Eisenhower has become officially responsible for any mistakes of the pilots that led to the collision at Rio.

Is he similarly responsible for the deaths of the crew and the naval personnel who happened to be traveling from Buenos Aires to Rio de Janeiro on the same plane, after assisting in the search for an unidentified submarine in Argentine waters?

According to Mr. Butler's alleged logic, the President or his administration should be held responsible for what happens to all military personnel in airplane accidents and presumably also for any mishaps involving persons traveling on "cultural exchanges" to other countries.

CHAIRMAN BUTLER'S intemperate remarks were answered by Sen. Hugh Scott, Republican, at the Worcester, Mass., debate, with the following comment:

"This attempt on your part to bloody the hands of the President is not very creditable."

Club Hears Supt. Betts

Rotarians' Support Urged For Vote On School Levies

Supt. Ralph W. Betts cited the need for passage of tax levies totaling 12 mills at the May 3 primary when the Rotary Club met Tuesday noon in the Travelers Hotel.

The bond issue will be presented to voters on 3 separate ballots, one a renewal of an 8-mill levy in effect for several years and 2 new levies totaling 4 mills.

The new levies include 1 mill for repair and maintenance of city school buildings that would provide $47,000 a year, and 3 mills for all operating costs to include salaries, utilities, supplies and textbooks.

If the 8-mill levy is not renewed, the city district will lose a total of $1,185,630 in state aid or 78 per cent of the operating budget, Supt. Betts warned.

To participate in the state foundation program, a school district must levy at least 10 mills for school operating costs and East Liverpool would not meet the requirement if the 8-mill levy is not renewed.

Supt. Betts commented also on the changes occurring in the city's schools in the past 10 years.

He listed specific needs, including a school psychologist to aid maladjusted youngsters, expanded library service, a speech therapist and additional classroom space.

He commented that the East Liverpool district has one of the lowest tax rates in the county for taxation purposes, $18.80 per $1,000 compared to $29.50 for Salem and $23.30 to Wellsville. Passage of the new levies still would leave the city's rate among the lowest, he said.

He compared the $5,400 maximum salary of East Liverpool teachers with the maximum of $7,000 in Canton, $6,000 in Toronto and Steubenville and $6,000 in Chester and Newell.

"Teachers are the heart and soul of a good education system and we must raise their salaries if we are to retain them," Supt. Betts pointed out.

Approval of the additional 4-mill levy would cost the average homeowner only $1.33 more a month in taxes if his home is listed as $4,000 on the tax duplicate, he added.

He presented a break-down on funds needed to operate the school district during the talk that was broadcast on WOHI.

Supt. Betts was introduced by Sidney Porter, who acted as program chairman for A. L. White. George Hargraves presided in the absence of Charles D. Taylor, president.

Guests included Leo C. Lawrence and James Lowe, members of the Board of Education. Fact sheets for the 12-mill levy campaign were distributed.

Wheeling Steel Plans $8 Million Ohio Expansion

WHEELING (AP) — Wheeling Steel Corp. announced Tuesday an $8 million improvement program at two plants in Ohio.

The program is aimed at increasing steelmaking capacity and boosting production efficiency. All of the improvements are to be completed this year.

Most of the planned improvements will be at the Steubenville works. One of five blast furnaces will be rebuilt and enlarged, and a new turbo-blower will be installed. Total cost of these two projects is estimated at $4,200,000.

The company also will spend 1½ million on new soaking pits and railroad track changes at the Steubenville works. In addition, work is under way on an oxygen pipeline project which will cost over one million.

At the Yorkville works recoilers are being installed on an electrolytic tinning line at a cost of $900,000.

Nehru Reveals Area Occupied By Red China

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today said Chinese Communists are occupying 12,000 square miles of border territory claimed by India.

Nehru's statement, prompted by a question in Parliament, was the first official disclosure of the area controlled by the Chinese since the border dispute with Peiping broke out.

Nehru told Parliament there are virtually no Indians in the affected area except for summer shepherds. Nearly all of the 12,000 square miles is believed to be in Ladakh, part of Kashmir state.

Club Hears Supt. Betts

Rotarians' Support Urged For Vote On School Levies

Supt. Ralph W. Betts cited the need for passage of tax levies totaling 12 mills at the May 3 primary when the Rotary Club met Tuesday noon in the Travelers Hotel.

The bond issue will be presented to voters on 3 separate ballots, one a renewal of an 8-mill levy in effect for several years and 2 new levies totaling 4 mills.

The new levies include 1 mill for repair and maintenance of city school buildings that would provide $47,000 a year, and 3 mills for all operating costs to include salaries, utilities, supplies and textbooks.

If the 8-mill levy is not renewed, the city district will lose a total of $1,185,630 in state aid or 78 per cent of the operating budget, Supt. Betts warned.

To participate in the state foundation program, a school district must levy at least 10 mills for school operating costs and East Liverpool would not meet the requirement if the 8-mill levy is not renewed.

Supt. Betts commented also on the changes occurring in the city's schools in the past 10 years.

He listed specific needs, including a school psychologist to aid maladjusted youngsters, expanded library service, a speech therapist and additional classroom space.

Question About An 'Inch' Brought Up By Finch Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "How long is an inch?"

The jury weighing the guilt or innocence of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his pretty mistress, Carole Tregoff, interrupted their deliberations Tuesday to ask that question.

A bailiff — summoned by the jury foreman — began to search for a ruler. But he was called back.

"Never mind," he was told. "We have one."

They didn't explain but one guess was that they wanted to measure something on a scale map of the area in which the Finch home is located.

Dr. Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, are charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder. Both crimes carry a possible death penalty.

The five men and seven women of the jury were given the case late Friday.

So far, they have spent only little more than 12 hours in the cheerless little jury room.

Soon after starting deliberations they asked to be read more than 400 pages of testimony—much of it dealing with the doctor's own story of what happened the night his wife, Barbara Jean, 36, was shot to death last July 18.

The state says she was murdered. Dr. Finch says a pistol discharged accidentally, fatally wounding her, as he tried to throw it away.

The reading was completed Tuesday and the jury spent more than three hours in the bare-walled room, seated in hard wooden chairs at a bare, end-to-end pair of tables.

Debate To Open In California On Death Penalty

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A condemned prisoner in San Quentin Prison touched off the debate which opens today in the California Legislature over Gov. Edmund Brown's plea to abolish the death penalty.

Pickets paced before the capital Tuesday with placards denouncing capital punishment. A hunger striker turned up. A rodeo performer rode in on horseback from San Francisco with petitions for repeal.

The legislation, welded to the case of kidnaper Caryl Chessman, seemingly faced defeat by the Senate Judiciary Committee at its first hearing. Only three of the 15 members openly supported the bill. Previous attempts at repeal have failed.

Even so, a long line of witnesses waited to testify.

There were clergymen, college professors, and a former prosecutor to speak for the bill.

Principally, district attorneys and police chiefs constitute the other side.

Abolitionists back Brown's position that the death penalty is morally wrong, fails to deter crime, and claims mostly the poor and weak.

Russia's Foreign Trade Seen Up 20% In 1959

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai Patolichev reported today the Soviet Union's foreign trade grew more than 20 per cent in 1959. He predicted it would go higher this year.

In a long article in the Soviet Communist party organ Pravda, Patolichev claimed The Soviet Union's trade growth rate was far higher last year than that in the leading industrial nations of the capitalist world.

Mental Hospital Heads Used To Taking Orders, Dean Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's mental hospital superintendents are getting used to taking orders from the central officer of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, Assistant Director Robert K. Dean says.

Nor is the central officer here relying strictly on directives to stimulate progress in the department's program, Dean said. Jay W. Collins, the Euclid-Glenvile Hospital administrator named by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to study department progress, charged in his latest report that there is too much faith in the power of orders and too little persistent follow-up by officials.

Dean, emphasizing that the department has not made it a practice to comment directly on Collins' reports, said he and the director try to visit every institution at least once a year—sometimes together, sometimes separately.

Dr. Robert A. Haines, the department director, returns from a series of institutional visits Thursday. These are never announced beforehand, although the superintendent sometimes is notified the morning of the visit.

Dean said it is unreasonable to think all institutional administrators will interpret and carry out all central office directives exactly the same way—especially after long habit of exercising "local option."

Dr. Haines in effect laid down the law to his superintendents last June in a speech at their monthly gathering. He declared that the directives and department policies are for the over-all good, and warned individual superintendents not to sulk at or attempt to evade or alter central office orders.

Suit Asks $2.7 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal District Court has entered a judgment for the United Mine Workers in a $2,700,000 damage suit against the union in connection with a work stoppage which closed the Mile Branch Co. mine at Corning, Ohio. The union contended the miners quit work because of unsafe conditions. The company said the work stoppage violated its contract with the union and forced the company to abandon the mine.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. has been awarded a $2,402,013 contract for 1,065 pickup trucks by the Ordnance Tank Command. Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) said work will be performed at Ford plants in Mahwah, N. J., Dearborn, Mich., and Lorain, Ohio, and by the Orrville (Ohio) Metal Specialty Co.

Dean said it is unreasonable to think all institutional administrators will interpret and carry out all central office directives exactly the same way—especially after long habit of exercising "local option."

Dr. Haines in effect laid down the law to his superintendents last June in a speech at their monthly gathering. He declared that the directives and department policies are for the over-all good, and warned individual superintendents not to sulk at or attempt to evade or alter central office orders.

Suit Asks $2.7 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal District Court has entered a judgment for the United Mine Workers in a $2,700,000 damage suit against the union in connection with a work stoppage which closed the Mile Branch Co. mine at Corning, Ohio. The union contended the miners quit work because of unsafe conditions. The company said the work stoppage violated its contract with the union and forced the company to abandon the mine.

Gets Trucks Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. has been awarded a $2,402,013 contract for 1,065 pickup trucks by the Ordnance Tank Command. Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) said work will be performed at Ford plants in Mahwah, N. J., Dearborn, Mich., and Lorain, Ohio, and by the Orrville (Ohio) Metal Specialty Co.

Actors' Strike Hits Studios Hard But Television Thrives

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Although the actors' strike has idled a vast portion of what Hollywood reverently calls The Industry the movies' stepchild, TV, is thriving.

Ironically, television caused the dispute which led the 14,000-member Screen Actors Guild to go on strike against the major movie studios.

An estimated 10,000 studio employes now are working on TV film series and on films by independent producers who already have come to terms with SAG. The guild has a separate contract with the studios covering production of films for television. Due to expire March 31, it has been extended for 60 days.

Before the actors' walkout Monday, TV films already were supplying more employment than were the eight so-called theatrical pictures on which production had to be halted, the SAG said. However, TV pay rates are lower than theatrical rates.

The key issue in the strike is the actors' demand for a share in the profits of post-1948 movies sold to TV. The major studios say this would be paying an actor twice for the same job. The actors' reply, in effect, is that studios also are getting paid twice when they sell films to TV.

Two efforts to end the strike were launched Tuesday.

Federal mediator Jules Medoff sought to bring both sides together at the bargaining table.

The guild huddled with a half-dozen craft unions to determine if their demands for a share in TV residuals could be combined into a smaller package more acceptable to the producers.

Both efforts faced formidable barriers, particularly the contention by the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers that the issue of additional payments to actors or other employes is not negotiable.

Retired Officer Led To Closing Of 2 Gambling Spots

CLEVELAND (AP)—A retired Cleveland policeman did the undercover work that led to the closing of two major gambling establishments in Canton Jan. 27, it was reported today.

But, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy said he has released John H. Jones as a special investigator. McElroy said:

"We are in the grand jury phase of our investigation now and feel it necessary to cut back our forces and expenses."

Jones, a colorful and controversial figure during his 38 years with the Cleveland Police Department, was paid $45 a day for his undercover work in Canton. Of that, $25 was regarded as expense money.

Jones, 65, worked as a special investigator since last August.

State authorities followed in Jones' trial and raided two important clearing house headquarters and arrested 27 men in Canton. The raids were led by assistant Atty. Gen. Joseph H. Ralston, who termed the establishments "important spots in the Stark County number operation."

Guilty Plea Entered In New Castle Murder

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—Nunzio F. Casacchia, 43-year-old bronze worker, has pleaded guilty to murder in the shooting of a young divorcee.

Casacchia entered his plea in court Tuesday shortly after he was indicted by the March grand jury.

He was charged with the slaying of Mrs. Carolyn Retort, 17-year-old mother of three, in his home here Dec. 29. She was shot five times.

Casacchia fled but surrendered the next day to a constable in North Lima, Ohio. Police said Casacchia gave no motive for the shooting.

The court will hear evidence to determine the degree of guilt.

Woman Hurt In Fall, Man Scalded At Work

A Dresden Ave. woman injured in a fall at home was admitted early this morning to City Hospital where a theater employe was treated Tuesday after a work mishap.

Mrs. Nora Reeder, 631 Dresden Ave., was treated at 2:40 a. m. for a shoulder injury received in a fall from a chair at home. She is in "good" condition.

Joe Slager, 22, of 1st St., Newell, janitor at the Columbia Theater, suffered scalds of the left thigh when he slipped while carrying a bucket of hot water.

Cleveland Landlord Held In Fatal Shooting

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sam Jones Jr., 28, was shot and killed today in his second-floor apartment here, police reported.

Homicide detectives said Robert McGee, 45, Jones' landlord who lives on the first floor of the two-family dwelling, admitted the shooting. He is held without charge.

Officers said McGee told them he shot Jones with a .25 caliber automatic revolver after Jones attacked him when he went upstairs to quiet the tenant and his wife, who were engaged in an argument.

2 Young Men Killed When Struck By Train

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two young Negroes were killed here today when they were struck by a New York Central Railroad engine.

The victims were not identified and their bodies were taken to the county morgue.

The railroad said there is an overpass at that spot and the pair apparently climbed down on the tracks. The engine was moving slowly, a NYC spokesman said.

Easter Sunday is the first Sunday after the first full moon after the vernal equinox (March 21st).

Need Of Co-Operation Cited At Development Group Event

The need for overall co-operation between city, township and county in solving problems was emphasized by Walter Myers of Steubenville, executive secretary of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council, at a meeting of the Calcutta Area Development Association Monday night.

Twenty-seven attended the session in the Calcutta firemen's Hall.

Myers told the group to refrain from talking about boundaries any more because the problems are just too great. He said groups must look at the overall situation because city, county and township are linked with each other and all must be considered in planning action.

In other business, E. G. Dominick was named chairman of a committee to discuss with a committee from Glenmoor the possibility of Calcutta and Glenmoor merging into a single development association.

Dominick will name three other committee members from Calcutta. No chairmen has been named from Glenmoor.

It was announced that Dean Wilhelm has agreed to accept the chairmanship of the Calcutta Planning Commission.

Guests included E. R. Chandler, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce; R. Max Gard of Lisbon, county commissioner, and Floyd Lower, county agricultural agent.

The talk by Myers was taped by representatives from Glenmoor and will be played back at their meeting this month.

The next meeting of the Calcutta group will be April 4 at 8 p. m.

Advice Offered When Sweetheart Hands Back Ring

NEW YORK (AP)—When your sweetheart hands you back her engagement ring, count 10, says Tommy McCauley, and stuff the ring safely in your pocket.

Tommy, 23, offers this advice because he didn't follow it.

Pretty Joyce Mullan, 21, flung her $2,000 engagement ring at Tommy Sunday after a tiff on the doorsteps of her Brooklyn home.

Tommy angrily and impulsively hurled the ring into the snow. All day, they searched unsuccessfully for the ring with the help of police and her family. During the search, Joyce and Tommy made up.

They were about ready to face a long period of penny-pinching to buy another diamond when Joyce received a phone call at work Tuesday from her mother.

A neighbor had spotted a twinkle under a subway grating outside the Mullan home. Some neighbor boys climed down and, sure enough, it was the ring.

Joyce burst into tears. Her boss gave her the rest of the day off, which she spent cooing with Tommy on the telephone.

Both insisted there would be no more tiffs between now and April 1961, when they plan to be married.

He's Kind Of Fellow Who Keeps A Promise

Car Dealer Here To Present Comet

Arb Motor Sales, 1340 Pennsylvania, E. Liverpool, Ohio, has a franchise to sell the Comet when the Ford Motor Co.'s new car is offered to the public shortly, Gordon MacKenzie, Cleveland district sales manager for Lincoln-Mercury Division, announced today.

MacKenzie said the car will have a 114-inch wheelbase "for the best combination of maneuverability and riding comfort and be powered by an economical engine of modern design." It will go on sale March 17.

The Comet series, taking its place in the new economy field, includes a two-door sedan, a four-door sedan, a two-door station wagon and four-door station wagon.

Each body type may be purchased as a standard model or with optional trim, which includes bright window moldings, contour seats, luxurious upholstery, carpeting (in passenger cars) and bright trim door moldings, Howard Arb, owner of Arb Motors Sales said.

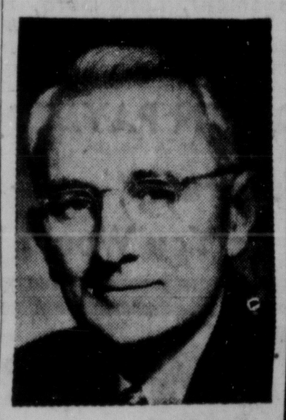

The new care features a welded unitized body. The only bolt - on members are the front fenders which were designed this way for quick, cheaper replacement, he pointed out.

"Because of weight savings of more than 1,250 pounds, compared with a typical standard-sized car, the Comet gives excellent performance as well as fuel economy. A Comet driver can expect to get up to 25 miles to the gallon."

GOP Governor Gets Speaker Bid From Democrats

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Republican Gov. George D. Clyde of Utah was invited to be the principal speaker at the annual Truman Day dinner in Seattle on May 9.

He accepted with delight, saying this must mean the Washington State Democrats and former President Harry S. Turman "have seen the political light."

In a letter of acceptance Tuesday Clyde said he would speak on the principles of Abraham Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt, Herbert Hoover and Dwight D. Eisenhower, which, he said, "must guide us through the critical days ahead."

But in Seattle, Democratic State Rep. Jon Marvin Jonsson, who extended the invitation to Clyde in a letter, said apparently his secretary sent the invitation through "an unaccountable error."

Jonsson said Clyde could "attend the dinner and be enlightened," but no speech.

Chester Mothers Will Fete Cagers

Plans for the annual party for the Chester Junior High School basketball team March 18 were made at a meeting of the Colt Football Mothers Tuesday night at the high school.

The party will be held at the City Hall auditorium from 7 to 11 p. m. Mrs. Robert Hindes, president, named Mrs. Hope Temple, Mrs. Paul Clunk and Mrs. Charles Elliott to the lunch committee, and Mrs. Roy Cashdollar, Mrs. Wesley Hobbs, Mrs. Frank Blankenship and Mrs. Alvin Clutter to the decorations and entertainment committee.

The club discussed plans for producing a cookbook of members' favorite recipes. Mrs. Blankenship and Mrs. Clutter were named chairman of a junior high school dance in April.

Plans were also discussed for a public skating party in April. The next meeting will be April 12.

New Private Plane Club To Meet Here Tonight

The newly organized Thunderbolt Flying Club, a group of persons interested in flying private planes, will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Army Reserve center in Poplar Ln.

The club now has 22 members. Officers are Howard Henton, president; Carl Shepherd, vice president; Elvin Tams, secretary, and L. J. Murphy, treasurer.

The club was organized a month ago and expects to obtain a corporation charter.

Plans call for the club to purchase an airplane in the near future. Members then will be able to take training for a private flying license.

Anyone interested in joining can contact Murphy at FU. 6-6937 or attend a meeting.

7 Fliers Safe In Jet Crash

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Seven men escaped death as an Air Force jet tanker sliced off a power pole, unroofed a small building and crashed in thick fog Tuesday night.

The craft, a KC135, struck with a heavy roar 500 feet off the south end of the main runway at Carswell Air Force Base, where it was assigned to the 7th Air Refueling Squadron. It was one of the planes used by the Strategic Air Command for speedy in-flight fueling of the U.S. global bomber fleet.

Two men suffered burns and two others broken ankles. Base hospital attendants dismissed the other three after checkups.

Groping toward the field in zero visibility, the plane struck at 11:23 p.m. after taking the top off a state highway department warehouse. Texas Electric Service Co. troubleshooters timed the crash from a flash on a control panel for spotting cable breaks.

Lights went off in the River Oaks district, a residential area occupied by many servicemen opposite Carswell on Fort Worth's northwest side. Service was restored to most houses in a few minutes.

Listed as injured were Maj. William A. Krouse and Capt. Charles A. Forbes, the copilot, both with burns; and Maj. Raymond A. Yahr and Sgt. Robert C. Newman, boom operator, both with broken ankles.

Others aboard were Capt. Everett Caudell, the pilot; Lt. James B. Lewis, navigator, and Lt. Col. Kenneth N. Morese, flight surgeon.

62 Take Scholarship Test At Midland High

Some 62 out of a possible 106 juniors at Midland High School took the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test Tuesday, Raymond Stowitzky, guidance director, said.

The three-hour test measures educational development and college aptitude, as the first step for merit scholarships provided by some 100 corporations, professional societies and individuals.

Some 28 seniors took an aptitude test this morning in the Carnegie Library, which is given by the Pennsylvania State Employment Agency. Stowitzky said that Lincoln is one of the few schools in the area at which the tests are given.

HANOVERTON—The Civic Benefit Fund Association Tuesday evening voted against dissolving, according to Charles Gause, president, who presided.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hart, vice-president and secretary, respectively, resigned due to failing health and the group accepted with regret. Paul Flugan was elected vice-president and the secretary and treasurer posts were combined and Mrs. Pauline Sloss, who was treasurer, will serve.

There were 25 members present.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. has eliminated 267 pages from Greater Cleveland's alphabetical telephone directory. Burke Attacks Voting Board

CLEVELAND (AP)—Former U. S. Thomas A. Burke has accused the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections of arrogantly disregarding the law "to suit its own convenience."

Burke, also a former Cleveland mayor, said Tuesday he would go directly to the Ohio Supreme Court to appeal the election board's decision allowing Thomas P. Burke to remain on the Democratic ballot as candidate for delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

The similarly named Burke is running against former Senator Burke in the 23rd District as a candidate pledged only to himself as a "favorite son." The former senator is running on the delegate slate of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Political observers say splitting the Burke vote would help candidates filed in the 23rd District by the county Democratic organization in opposition to DiSalle's slate.

"Whether or not a Thomas P. Burke is on the ballot . . . is of very little importance," said the ex-senator. "But it is important that the board of elections not be permitted to ignore the facts . . ."

The ex-senator asserted that T. P. Burke did not comply with residency requirements and pointed out that Secretary of State Ted W. Brown gave the opinion last week that residency requirements had not been met.

Security Needs For Israel Cited By Ben-Gurion

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Israel, still struggling for existence, faces the great needs of political and economic security, Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion said today.

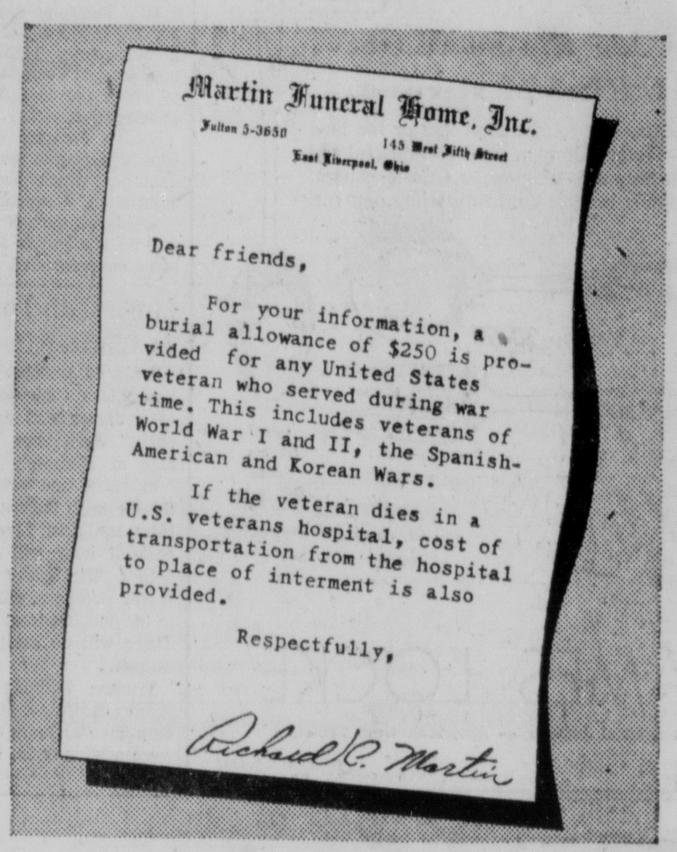

"Our independence is still in danger," he said. "We are still beleaguered; we still face vital problems in regard to immigrant absorption; our deserts still await redemption."

Only "a great spiritual dedication" can overcome the obstacles to developing a free and independent nation, he said in a speech at Brandeis University.

Ben-Gurion came to Brandeis to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree.

His visit to this country was protested in Washington by top diplomats from the Arab countries. Arab students in Boston colleges picketed his hotel Tuesday night.

Ben-Gurion, however, didn't mention the Arab situation as such in his speech. And he made no reference to any plans to visit President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Christian A. Herter while in this country.

Serves In Profession 40 Years

Mrs. Calhoun, Wellsville School Nurse, Will Retire

Mrs. Jennie E. Calhoun, Wellsville city school nurse for almost 24 years, announced today she plans to retire at the end of the school term.

Mrs. Calhoun has not yet turned in a written resignation to the Board of Education but said she definitely plans to retire, effective July 1. Earl Bake, board president, said Mrs. Calhoun already has notified him of her plans.

Mrs. Calhoun will have served the school system 24 years by June 1. She started nursing in Wellsville 40 years ago, after moving there in 1920.

She was an Army nurse during World War I and served in France and Germany. She remained in Germany seven months after the armistice.

She has been a member of the American Legion since 1919, having first joined in Gary, Ind.

She was honored about 2 years ago by Post 70 of Wellsville by being made a life member. She is the only woman to hold a life membership in Wellsville. She also was named "Woman of the Year" by the Women's Civic Club.

Mrs. Calhoun was born in New Castle and is a graduate of the Jameson Memorial Hospital there.

She was plant nurse at the former American Sheet & Tin Plate Co. mill when she first moved to Wellsville.

She also has served several years as city health nurse in connection with her school work.

Mrs. Calhoun resides at 351½ Main St.

Dress Contrasted In Program For Women's Group

Mrs. Wilmont Conners presented a humorous study on "Changes In Behavior Patterns" for the meeting of the East Liverpool Women's Club Monday night with Mrs. William F. Porter of Park Blvd.

Speaking of the "World of Women," she gave a review of the morals and manners of the 19th century and contrasted the changes of apparel and trousseau of grandmother's days with the present-day bride. Mrs. Conners also gave a biography of Lydia E. Pinkham of patent medicine fame.

Mrs. Richard E. Mayers, president, conducted business. A report was given on the Executive Board meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs and it was announced reservations for the spring meeting must be in by March 31.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. David Mayers, co-hostess. An arrangement of yellow roses flanked by lighted white tapers in silver candelabra formed the decorative note for the buffet table at which the president poured.

The annual "Guest Night" will be observed March 29 at the Country Club. "Anauta," an Eskimo woman residing in Indianapolis, will be guest speaker. Hostesses will be Mrs. William J. Horger, Mrs. Joseph Wells Jr., Mrs. Robert Beatty, Miss Jane Carey, Mrs. William E. Dunlap Jr., Mrs. Sidney Porter Jr. and Mrs. Winston Porter.

Ticket Demand's Heavy

2 Performances Planned For Barbershop 'Parade'

Because of an unprecedented demand for tickets, 2 performances will be staged in the 11th annual "Parade of Quartets" of the East Liverpool Barbershop Quartet Society Saturday night, March 26, at Westgate Auditorium.

Details on the revised plans were explained Monday night at the chapter's meeting in Carpenters Hall. The curtain will go up at 7 for the first show and the second show will begin at 9:30. With the two performances, SPEBSQSA will be able to continue its policy of furnishing a reserved seat for every patron, the chapter pointed out.

The Pittsburghers, 1948 international barbershop champions, will headline the shows. Other quartets scheduled to appear are: The Gibson Girls of Pittsburgh, Central Atlantic Region champs of the Sweet Adelines organization, and two district medalist quartets, the Akro-Lads of Akron and the Happy Pappies of Cleveland.

Chamber President Appoints Committees' Heads For 1960

With co-chairmen serving in several instances, the committee heads are: Harold Allison, agriculture and conservation; John Pinney and Ralph Finley, banquet; J. Norman Nicely and Donald Baxter, civic and community affairs; C. Walter Ashbaugh and Dr. Myer Alpern, industrial development; Dean M. Wilhelm, manufacturers' council.

George A. Shaw, membership; Leslie Blumenthal, Merchants Association; John T. Hall, national affairs; Alvin T. Babb, congressional action subcommittee; Edwin Maloney, public education; Bertram Wakefield, public relations; Atty. Francis H. Lang, highways; Alvin Arner, Safety Council; H. R. Frederick, transportation, Winston A. Porter and William A. Black, local committee in the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council and Atty. Paul Tobin, state and local legislation.

Edwards pointed out there were few major changes from the 1959 committee chairmanships. Dr. Alpern was added as co-chairman of the industrial development committee and Black was assigned to a similar role in the UOVDC committee. Nicely and Baxter take over as heads of the civic and community affairs committee to replace S. C. Porter Jr., who asked to be relieved of some of his civic duties.

Hall, as chairman of the national affairs committee, succeeds J. M. Wells, who retired from his Chamber offices late in 1959, concluding 30 years' service.

Edwards said a general list of all committees will be mailed soon to all members.

The board was asked to express an opinion on a plan of the Ohio Chamber to hold its annual meetings in the future on two dates — one in the fall for committee reports and election of officers and another early in the year to consider legislative matters in years when the State Legislature is in session. At present, the Ohio Chamber's annual meeting generally is held in October or November.

It also was announced that the local group expects to be represented at the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber May 1-4 in Washington.

Atty. Lang, as chairman of the highways committee, reported on a four-county highway planning meeting at Youngstown Feb. 25, to which the local Chamber sent a delegation.

Babb reported on a political education course arranged by the Chamber which now is nearing completion. A second course, with 9 weekly sessions of 2 hours each, will be started as soon as a few more have enrolled, Babb said.

Chamber President Appoints Committees' Heads For 1960

With co-chairmen serving in several instances, the committee heads are: Harold Allison, agriculture and conservation; John Pinney and Ralph Finley, banquet; J. Norman Nicely and Donald Baxter, civic and community affairs; C. Walter Ashbaugh and Dr. Myer Alpern, industrial development; Dean M. Wilhelm, manufacturers' council.

George A. Shaw, membership; Leslie Blumenthal, Merchants Association; John T. Hall, national affairs; Alvin T. Babb, congressional action subcommittee; Edwin Maloney, public education; Bertram Wakefield, public relations; Atty. Francis H. Lang, highways; Alvin Arner, Safety Council; H. R. Frederick, transportation, Winston A. Porter and William A. Black, local committee in the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council and Atty. Paul Tobin, state and local legislation.

Edwards pointed out there were few major changes from the 1959 committee chairmanships. Dr. Alpern was added as co-chairman of the industrial development committee and Black was assigned to a similar role in the UOVDC committee. Nicely and Baxter take over as heads of the civic and community affairs committee to replace S. C. Porter Jr., who asked to be relieved of some of his civic duties.

Hall, as chairman of the national affairs committee, succeeds J. M. Wells, who retired from his Chamber offices late in 1959, concluding 30 years' service.

Edwards said a general list of all committees will be mailed soon to all members.

The board was asked to express an opinion on a plan of the Ohio Chamber to hold its annual meetings in the future on two dates — one in the fall for committee reports and election of officers and another early in the year to consider legislative matters in years when the State Legislature is in session. At present, the Ohio Chamber's annual meeting generally is held in October or November.

It also was announced that the local group expects to be represented at the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber May 1-4 in Washington.

Atty. Lang, as chairman of the highways committee, reported on a four-county highway planning meeting at Youngstown Feb. 25, to which the local Chamber sent a delegation.

Babb reported on a political education course arranged by the Chamber which now is nearing completion. A second course, with 9 weekly sessions of 2 hours each, will be started as soon as a few more have enrolled, Babb said.

Figuring Your Return

3 Income Tax Schedules Reviewed

(The Internal Revenue Service has special rules covering husbands and wives, a person whose spouse died recently, or one who qualifies as a head of household. Understanding these rules may save you money. The following article, the third in a series on "Figuring Your Income Tax", tells whether you are in one of these groups.)

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

In filing a 1959 income tax return, special rules cover husbands and wives, a person whose husband or wife died recently and people who can qualify as "head of household." Understanding them may save you money. Remember:

1.—For each $600 exemption you can claim, you take that much off your income before what's left is taxed.

2.—The tax rate you can use makes a big difference. It's contained in schedules 1, 2 and 3 on the next to last page of the instruction sheet.

Here's an explanation of the three schedules;

No. 1 — for single persons or married people filing separately, it has the highest tax rate; No. 2 — for couples filing jointly and certain widows and widowers, it has the lowest rate; No. 3 — for unmarried or legally separated taxpayers who qualify as head of household, it is higher than No. 2 but lower than No. 1.

NOW TAKE husbands and wives:

Each person filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself if he's under 65, $1,200 if he's over 65, and another $600 if he's blind. He gets the same exemptions for his wife, if she fits certain rules.

You can claim an exemption for her if she had no income and you alone file a return (in this case you'd use schedule No. 1) or if she files jointly with you, whether or not she had income (you'd use schedule No. 2).

If your wife had $600 income or more, she must file a return, either separately or jointly with you. If she files separately, she claims her own $600 exemption on her return, you claim yours on your return (you'd both use schedule No. 1).

If she had income less than $600, she doesn't have to file a return. But you can't claim an exemptoin for her, because she did have income, unless she files jointly with you.

If she doesn't, in such a case, file jointly with you, you'd file

In some special cases husbands and wives might save money filing separate returns, but most couples are ahead with a joint return, using schedule No. 2.

WHEN COUPLES file separately but one of them wants to itemize deductions instead of taking the standard deduction of 10 per cent, both must itemize, and neither can claim any more than the itemized list shows.

If you were married any time in 1959, you're considered married for the whole year. If you were divorced on or before the last day of 1959, you are considered single for the entire year and may not file a joint return — and you can't claim an exemption for your wife even though you contributed to more than half her support in 1959.

Widows and widowers and the "surviving spouse" provision:

If your wife (or husband) died during 1959 — whether or not she had income but provided you did not remarry — you can claim an exemption for her and file a joint return, using schedule No. 2. If she had income, you must, of course, include it in your return.

If your wife (or husband) died in 1958 or 1957, you can still get the benefit of using schedule No. 2 if you meet these requirements:

You must have been entitled to file a return with your spouse in the year of her death (whether you actually did doesn't matter); you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of your home which is the principal residence of your dependent child or stepchild.

YOU WOULD in this case list your own income, exemptions and deductions. You can't in this case — as you could if your wife died in 1959 — claim an exemption for her. But you could get the benefit of using schedule No. 2.

Head of household:

You get the benefit of being allowed to use schedule No. 3 — through being considered "head of household" — if you meet these requirements:

You were unmarried or legally separated at the end of 1959 or were married by year's end to someone who for some part of the year was a non-resident alien; you must have furnished over half the cost of maintaining your home which was the main residence of yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or of any other relative you can claim as a dependent; or if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent.

Paying for a parent in a home for the aged is not considered maintaining a home for him or her.

Italian Premier Asked To Form New Regime

ROME (AP)—President Giovanni Gronchi today asked Premier Antonio Segni, who submitted the resignation of his one-party Cabinet Feb. 24, to try to form another government. Segni was expected to attempt to put together a coalition. His former government was composed only of his Christian Democrats.

He told reporters he will begin talks with other political leaders as soon as possible to see whether he can solve the two-week old crisis.

More Talks Slated

CINCINNATI (AP) — Federal mediator Alton Hayman set another bargaining session today for representatives of striking Brewery Workers Union employes and seven beverage firms here. Union members voted down a three-year contract proposal last Monday, and want a two-year agreement, a union spokesman said.

Steel Orders 'Falling Off'

NEW YORK (AP)—An increasing number of cancellations and a low rate of incoming orders are leaving holes in steel mill schedules, Iron Age Magazine said today.

The national metalworking weekly said, "Mills will soon have to gear their operations to the rate of orders. When that time comes, operating rates will fall into the low 80 per cent of capacity range."

The magazine saw operations in the 80 per cent range by May and June. It added:

"During this period, the rate of operations will vary between companies as competition stiffens. This will depend on proximity to the markets, customer relations and product mix . . .

"Momentum will carry inventory buildup into the second quarter. But, like most earlier predictions, the estimate of inventory buildup is turning out to be much lower than expected.

"The new wave of cancellations is centered in the auto industry as plants are cutting out overtime and, in some cases, closing up for short periods while dealer inventories are brought into balance."

The magazine said wintry weather and imported steel also were having an adverse effect on production.

If you were divorced on or before the last day of 1959, you are considered single for the entire year and may not file a joint return — and you can't claim an exemption for your wife even though you contributed to more than half her support in 1959.

Widows and widowers and the "surviving spouse" provision:

If your wife (or husband) died during 1959 — whether or not she had income but provided you did not remarry — you can claim an exemption for her and file a joint return, using schedule No. 2. If she had income, you must, of course, include it in your return.

If your wife (or husband) died in 1958 or 1957, you can still get the benefit of using schedule No. 2 if you meet these requirements:

You must have been entitled to file a return with your spouse in the year of her death (whether you actually did doesn't matter); you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of your home which is the principal residence of your dependent child or stepchild.

YOU WOULD in this case list your own income, exemptions and deductions. You can't in this case — as you could if your wife died in 1959 — claim an exemption for her. But you could get the benefit of using schedule No. 2.

Head of household:

You get the benefit of being allowed to use schedule No. 3 — through being considered "head of household" — if you meet these requirements:

You were unmarried or legally separated at the end of 1959 or were married by year's end to someone who for some part of the year was a non-resident alien; you must have furnished over half the cost of maintaining your home which was the main residence of yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or of any other relative you can claim as a dependent; or if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent.

Paying for a parent in a home for the aged is not considered maintaining a home for him or her.

Italian Premier Asked To Form New Regime

ROME (AP)—President Giovanni Gronchi today asked Premier Antonio Segni, who submitted the resignation of his one-party Cabinet Feb. 24, to try to form another government. Segni was expected to attempt to put together a coalition. His former government was composed only of his Christian Democrats.

He told reporters he will begin talks with other political leaders as soon as possible to see whether he can solve the two-week old crisis.

More Talks Slated

CINCINNATI (AP) — Federal mediator Alton Hayman set another bargaining session today for representatives of striking Brewery Workers Union employes and seven beverage firms here. Union members voted down a three-year contract proposal last Monday, and want a two-year agreement, a union spokesman said.

Steel Orders 'Falling Off'

NEW YORK (AP)—An increasing number of cancellations and a low rate of incoming orders are leaving holes in steel mill schedules, Iron Age Magazine said today.

The national metalworking weekly said, "Mills will soon have to gear their operations to the rate of orders. When that time comes, operating rates will fall into the low 80 per cent of capacity range."

The magazine saw operations in the 80 per cent range by May and June. It added:

"During this period, the rate of operations will vary between companies as competition stiffens. This will depend on proximity to the markets, customer relations and product mix . . .

"Momentum will carry inventory buildup into the second quarter. But, like most earlier predictions, the estimate of inventory buildup is turning out to be much lower than expected.

"The new wave of cancellations is centered in the auto industry as plants are cutting out overtime and, in some cases, closing up for short periods while dealer inventories are brought into balance."

The magazine said wintry weather and imported steel also were having an adverse effect on production.

Around-The-Clock Sessions Off

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern senators could chalk up a first-round victory in the 1960 civil rights battle today as they confidently looked forward to another Thursday in the first major vote test.

Nevertheless, the likely final outcome remained the same as when the firing started Feb. 15—passage of a bill limited essentially to voting rights but still too strong for the Southerners and too weak for ardent civil righters.

The Dixie bloc won the initial round with a decision of the leaders Tuesday to call off around-the-clock sessions which had tied the Senate in knots through six all-night meetings.

The 18 Southern filibusterers, using a three-team system, demonstrated they could keep going handily in this sort of marathon. One of their number still was holding forth when the Senate recessed at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday.

The signal for the end of nonstop session was the filing by 31 senators — 23 Democrats and 8 Republicans—of a petition to shut off the talking marathon by invoking the cloture rule.

The vote on this is likely to come at 11 a.m. Thursday. There appeared to be no chance it would win the required votes of two-thirds of the senators present.

Both Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill) said the cloture move was premature and announced they would vote against it at this time.

Johnson made it clear he believes an adverse vote on cloture would merely encourage the Southerners, declaring the result "will prolong debate instead of curtailing it."

Dirksen and other Republicans who talked with Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the Senate floor Tuesday night, said afterward he had counted himself out of any effort now to round up the needed votes for cloture.

However, it seemed certain that Johnson and Dirksen did expect to get the necessary two-thirds for cloture at some future time.

Some senators believe the vehicle for a successful cloture vote eventually will be the House civil rights bill when it arrives in the Senate, probably next week. That branch opens its debate on the subject Thursday.

The House bill is expected to be less far-reaching than the proposals now before the Senate.

The Senate plans to continue its civil rights debate today.

There was a possibility of a vote on one of the strongest of the civil rights measures, a proposal to empower the attorney general to bring injunctions to enforce all types of rights.

Calcutta Firemen To Enter Parade

Calcutta volunteer firemen met Monday night and accepted an invitation from Newell firemen to participate in a parade July 22. Twenyt-one attended the session in the fire hall.

Norman Neal, president, said a series of one-hour training sessions on equipment operation will begin Monday night at 8.

Firemen are accepting orders for Easter candy. Neal said a round and square dance will not be held March 26 due to a boat and outdoor equipment show in the fire hall by Montgomery Ward & Co.

Calcutta firemen will host the Tri-State Firemen's Association March 18.

Chief Laverne Seckman expressed appreciation to Civil Defense workers and Glenmoor firemen and others who aided in the search for a lost Bloomfield youngster last Wednesday.

Had Won Fight Against Cancer

Sen. Neuberger, 47, Dies Of Cerebral Hemorrhage

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Death by cerebral hemorrhage claimed Sen. Richard L. Neuberger early today. It was an ironic fate for the 47-year-old Oregon Democrat who had just won a fight with cancer.

The senator was stricken at his home Tuesday afternoon. He lapsed into a coma and gradually became weaker. Death came at 1:30 a.m.

Neuberger had been home since January, trying to shake off a series of virus infections and an attack of shingles. Last week he filed for re-election to the Senate.

His death cuts the Democratic total to 64 against 35 Republicans but a Democrat must be appointed by Republican Gov. Mark Hatfield to fill out his term.

Haste will be needed by both Republican and Democratic leaders in lining up someone to compete in the May 20 primary. Filings close at 5 p.m. Friday.

Neuberger's health had not been robust for many months.

He became ill in the summer of 1958. That August he underwent an operation for cancer. Five months later he was smiling broadly as he told a news conference he regarded himself as a cured cancer patient.

He said there was no recurrence of cancer but he failed to shake off colds and other virus infections and then suffered an attack of shingles.

In January he came home to recuperate. He said he was getting better and last week he filed for re-election.

So strong was his support in Oregon that the Republicans had groomed no one of stature to oppose him.

Kaycees To Mark St. Patrick's Day

Plans for an "open house" St. Patrick's Day celebration March 17 were completed at a meeting of the Carroll Council 509, Knight of Columbus, at the K. of C. Hall Tuesday night.

The celebration will get under way at 8 p. m. with Joseph O'Hanlon as chairman.

Plans also were completed for the first degree initiation at the council's next meeting Tuesday night.

Fr. Francis G. Mulhearn, an assistant at St. Aloysius Catholic Church, and chaplain of the council, spoke on "Love Is a Sacrifice," the first in a series of Lenten talks.

It was announced that the auxiliary will sponsor a "fish fry" March 25 from 5 to 7 p. m. at the council hall.

Council members will receive Holy Communion in a group at the 7:30 a. m. Mass March 27 at the church.

Delegates Appointed By Fairview Grange

Charles Mills, master, and Mrs. John Rice were named Fairview Grange delegates to the West Virginia Grange meeting Friday and Saturday at Cedar Lake near Ripley at a meeting of the Grange Tuesday night at the Pughtown Grange Hall.

Mrs. Mills, member of the project committee, reported a new ceiling has been installed at the hall.

A program of St. Patrick's Day readings and songs was directed by Mrs. Rose Hukill. Lunch was served 22 by Mrs. Earl Pugh and committee.

The next meeting will be March 22.

Democratic Women's Meeting Is Postponed

LISBON — The Central Women's Democratic Club meeting scheduled tonight has been postponed until Friday, March 18, at 7:30 p. m. at the village hall.

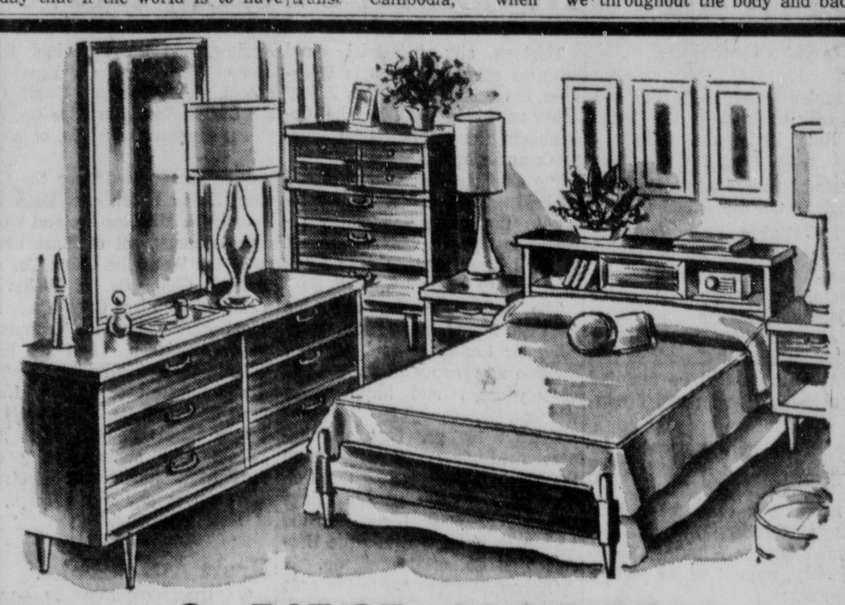

The meeting was reset due to the death of Thomas Raymond Wilhelm, husband of the treasurer, Mrs. Evelyn Wilhelm.

Prince Asks Red China Be Included In Talks

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Prince Norodom Sinhanouk, prime minister of Cambodia, said today that if the world is to have lasting peace, Red China must be allowed to participate in discussions to that end.

"We worry about the French atomic explosion in the Sahara," said the 37-year-old leader of neutralist Cambodia, "when we should be taking into account a much more important event, a possible A-bomb test in China."

It takes about 45 seconds for the blood in one's body to make the complete circuit from the heart throughout the body and back.

Around-The-Clock Sessions Off

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern senators could chalk up a first-round victory in the 1960 civil rights battle today as they confidently looked forward to another Thursday in the first major vote test.

Nevertheless, the likely final outcome remained the same as when the firing started Feb. 15—passage of a bill limited essentially to voting rights but still too strong for the Southerners and too weak for ardent civil righters.

The Dixie bloc won the initial round with a decision of the leaders Tuesday to call off around-the-clock sessions which had tied the Senate in knots through six all-night meetings.

The 18 Southern filibusterers, using a three-team system, demonstrated they could keep going handily in this sort of marathon. One of their number still was holding forth when the Senate recessed at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday.

The signal for the end of nonstop session was the filing by 31 senators — 23 Democrats and 8 Republicans—of a petition to shut off the talking marathon by invoking the cloture rule.

The vote on this is likely to come at 11 a.m. Thursday. There appeared to be no chance it would win the required votes of two-thirds of the senators present.

Both Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill) said the cloture move was premature and announced they would vote against it at this time.

Johnson made it clear he believes an adverse vote on cloture would merely encourage the Southerners, declaring the result "will prolong debate instead of curtailing it."

Dirksen and other Republicans who talked with Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the Senate floor Tuesday night, said afterward he had counted himself out of any effort now to round up the needed votes for cloture.

However, it seemed certain that Johnson and Dirksen did expect to get the necessary two-thirds for cloture at some future time.

Some senators believe the vehicle for a successful cloture vote eventually will be the House civil rights bill when it arrives in the Senate, probably next week. That branch opens its debate on the subject Thursday.

The House bill is expected to be less far-reaching than the proposals now before the Senate.

The Senate plans to continue its civil rights debate today.

There was a possibility of a vote on one of the strongest of the civil rights measures, a proposal to empower the attorney general to bring injunctions to enforce all types of rights.

Jury Awards City Man $475

Eston G. Maple, 1112 Vine St., received a verdict of $475 from a Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon Tuesday as a result of a claim he filed against Victor and Nelvina Dorrell, 810 Cadmus St., in a real estate transaction.

Maple said he sold the Dorrells a home for $4,700 on land contract, and they were paying $60 a month. When the Dorrells said they were unable to pay the amount, Maple said he reduced the principal by $500 so they could receive a loan from a bank at lower monthly payments.

Maple claimed the couple signed an agreement to pay the $500, but since April 1956 had not paid more than $25 of the sum. The trial began Monday.

Judge Joel H. Sharp presided and the jury included Mabel Neal, Grace Haney, George Bradfield, Virginia Leon and Ethel Golba of East Liverpool; Nevin Halverstadt, Ralph Scattergood, Galen Berger, Iren Gbur and Anna O'Hara of Salem and Mary Kampfer and Robert Muhleman of Lisbon.

Only about 50 per cent of all salaried workers are satisfied with their present jobs, according to one recent poll.

Last Arguments Scheduled Today In Murder Trial

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Only the concluding arguments of the defense and the state remain today before the jury decides whether Billy Joe Schaffer, 25, is guilty or innocent of killing his former school teacher, Mrs. Emma Remy, 75, in a 28-cent robbery.

Schaffer, an ex-convict, is on trial for his life. He is accused of strangling Mrs. Remy and setting her home on fire.

Dr. Henry Luidens, superintendent of Lima State Hospital and a rebuttal witness for the state, testified Tuesday that Schaffer knows right from wrong. Schaffer had been held for a 30-day observation period at the hospital. He is pleading innocent by reason of insanity.

Earlier in the trial, Dr. Julius Hoffman, Columbus psychiatrist, testifying for the defense, decribed Schaffer as a psychopath, a braggart and a liar. He said Schaffer is "sick," but admitted under cross - examination that Schaffer knows right from wrong.

Ted Williams has hit 17 home runs with the bases loaded.

Jury Awards City Man $475

Eston G. Maple, 1112 Vine St., received a verdict of $475 from a Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon Tuesday as a result of a claim he filed against Victor and Nelvina Dorrell, 810 Cadmus St., in a real estate transaction.

Maple said he sold the Dorrells a home for $4,700 on land contract, and they were paying $60 a month. When the Dorrells said they were unable to pay the amount, Maple said he reduced the principal by $500 so they could receive a loan from a bank at lower monthly payments.

Maple claimed the couple signed an agreement to pay the $500, but since April 1956 had not paid more than $25 of the sum. The trial began Monday.

Judge Joel H. Sharp presided and the jury included Mabel Neal, Grace Haney, George Bradfield, Virginia Leon and Ethel Golba of East Liverpool; Nevin Halverstadt, Ralph Scattergood, Galen Berger, Iren Gbur and Anna O'Hara of Salem and Mary Kampfer and Robert Muhleman of Lisbon.

Only about 50 per cent of all salaried workers are satisfied with their present jobs, according to one recent poll.

Last Arguments Scheduled Today In Murder Trial

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Only the concluding arguments of the defense and the state remain today before the jury decides whether Billy Joe Schaffer, 25, is guilty or innocent of killing his former school teacher, Mrs. Emma Remy, 75, in a 28-cent robbery.

Schaffer, an ex-convict, is on trial for his life. He is accused of strangling Mrs. Remy and setting her home on fire.

Dr. Henry Luidens, superintendent of Lima State Hospital and a rebuttal witness for the state, testified Tuesday that Schaffer knows right from wrong. Schaffer had been held for a 30-day observation period at the hospital. He is pleading innocent by reason of insanity.

Earlier in the trial, Dr. Julius Hoffman, Columbus psychiatrist, testifying for the defense, described Schaffer as a psychopath, a braggart and a liar. He said Schaffer is "sick," but admitted under cross - examination that Schaffer knows right from wrong.

Ted Williams has hit 17 home runs with the bases loaded.

Physicians know how quickly a minor ailment can develop into a serious problem. They fear the consequences of neglect.

People with lesser knowledge often wait until they are real sick before consulting a physician. They attempt to treat themselves. This is most unwise and can lead to much future bad health. Be safe. See your physician quickly when sick.

Talks About Poetry

CINCINNATI (AP)—If you don't think much of poetry these days, you've got lots of company, says a Cornell University faculty member. Dr. Morris Bishop, professor of romance literature, said Tuesday: "To my knowledge the only people who read poetry today are the poets themselves, along with amateur poets who are trying to introduce themselves to the poetic atmosphere." Dr. Bishop was here for lectures at the University of Cincinnati.

Rescuers Fight Snowstorm To Save U.S. Fliers

GRANADA, Spain (AP) — A Spanish rescue team fought its way through a blinding snowstorm today to bring to safety 10 of 24 survivors aboard a U.S. Navy plane that crash-landed high in the Sierra Nevada. No one was killed in the crash.

The 10 were reported unhurt although previous reports, brought down the mountain Tuesday night by two other survivors after an eight-hour struggle, had said all of the remaining 22 aboard the four-motor plane were injured.

Only five of the 12 still to be brought down are injured, the rescue team reported, and their injuries are not serious.

Rescue teams from all of the surrounding villages had battled throughout the night in an effort to reach the big C54, which crash-landed in heavy fog while en route from Naples, Italy, to the U.S. naval base at Rota, Spain.

Cards Mailed Vets For Pension Plan

Veterans and their dependents in receipt of pension payments from the Veterans Administration have received a special pamphlet and a card on which they may make a choice regarding the new pension bill, A. G. Bille, contact representative of the Veterans Administration Office, 227 N. 5th St., Steubenville, Ohio, reminded today. The check, pamphlet, and card were mailed around March 1, Bille added.

The pamphlet supplies full information on both the present and the new pension laws so that the pension recipient will be able to make a choice between the two.

Bille pointed out that there is no hurry about making the choice and that the pensioner could continue under the present pension law as long as he or she were eligible. Once a pensioner chooses to come under the new law, however, there is no return to the provisions of the present law.

The pamphlet, in addition to explaining the advantages or disadvantages that may affect individual pensioners under both laws, also gives clear instructions for filling out the enclosed card by which choice of the new pension law may be made.

The new pension law goes into effect July 1 and the card must be received by VA on or before that date for the new rate to go in effect that date. If the card is received by VA after that date, the new rate will be effective as of the date the card is received, Bille said.

Ike Says U.S., Latin-America Bonds Strong

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says relations between the United States and Latin America have reached "an all-time high."

But a growing diplomatic storm with the Fidel Castro government of Cuba provided a sharp exception to the general picture Eisenhower painted in a nationwide television address Tuesday night.

Eisenhower made no reference to Cuba as he reported to the American people on his 15,560-mile tour of four South American countries. Despite the excellent relations he reported, he said there were some notable exceptions.

"An even firmer partnership must be our goal," he added.

Shortly before he spoke, Cuba rejected as insulting a statement by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Monday denouncing implications by Castro that U.S. sabotage may have been involved in last week's explosion of an ammunition ship in Havana.

Herter had called the accusation "baseless, erroneous and misleading," and said it raised questions of the Castro regime's desire for better relations with this country.

Cuba fired back Tuesday night a protest "against the aggressive tone derogatory to our national dignity." Foreign Minister Raul Roa insisted that Cuban representatives must be addressed with "absolute respect. . . without descending to offensive utterances of a personal character."

The State Department declined immediate comment.

In his speech, Eisenhower called his tour of South American countries "a most instructive and rewarding experience."

He stressed repeatedly that "serious misunderstandings" still impede the development of the best possible relationships between this country and its neighbors to the south.

His speech set forth no new policy or specific proposals for dealing with Latin American problems although he declared this country's intentions to do what it can to help them speed their industrial development.

Diversification of agriculture and industry, Eisenhower said, would help many of the countries which depend for their economic well-being largely on a single product, such as coffee.

Increase Seen In Population

The Bureau of the Census of the U. S. Department of Commerce predicts the forthcoming census will show a population gain of 13.6 per cent in the 6 states containing the Ohio Valley. This is under the national estimate.

The 1950 census recorded a total population of 5,113,983 in the 73 counties containing the main valley of the Ohio River. This represented an increase since 1940 of 9.1 per cent for this group of counties, as compared with 14.5 per cent for the entire country. In the preceding decade, 1930-1940, the population increase for the 73 counties was 5.1 per cent, while that of the nation was 7.2 per cent.

Annual estimates prepared by the Census Bureau indicate a population increase of 17 per cent between 1950 and 1959 for the United States, and of 13.6 percent for the group of states — Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia — containing the Ohio River Valley. The bureau has not prepared county-by-county estimates, however, and the census beginning April 1 will provide the first measure in 10 years of population changes for most areas smaller than states.

Between 1930 and 1940, only 10 of the 73 Ohio riverside counties lost population — 6 of these were in Kentucky, 3 in Indiana, and one in West Virginia. Between 1940 and 1950, however, 39—more than half—of the counties showed decreases in population. The 6 Illinois counties along the Ohio River all lost population in the 1940-1950 period, as did 4 of the 13 Indiana riverside counties; 8 of the 14 in Ohio, 15 of the 26 in Kentucky and 6 of the 12 West Virginia counties.

Population figures for counties adjacent to East Liverpool from the 1950, 1940, and 1930 censuses, with per cent changes, are shown in an attached table:

Columbiana — 98,920; 90,121 and 86,484 with 9.8 percentage change in 1940-50, and 4.2 per cent in 1930-40.

Hancock — 34,388, 31,572 and 28,511 with 8.9 and 10.7 per cent.

Beaver — 175,192, 156,754 and 149,062 with 11.8 and 5.2 per cent.

Town Accepts Sewage Grant

NEW CUMBERLAND — Mayor Albert Fuccy was authorized to accept a federal grant not to exceed $68,004, subject to the approval of the Magnus Bonding Co. of Cincinnati, when Town Council met Tuesday night to further discuss a proposed sewage plant.

The A. R. Todd engineering firm of Wheeling told Council that proposed improvements to the community's water system have been approved by the State Health Department.

Deadline for accepting the federal grant is March 23. The grant totals 30 per cent of the eligible project cost, which consists of cost of financing, installation of interceptor sewers, a pump station and sewage treatment plant.

Total estimated cost of the sewage disposal project is $243,180 which does not include cost of improvements to the water system. Council also discussed chloride treatment of water which would cost residents 22 cents annually.

Ike Says U.S., Latin-America Bonds Strong

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says relations between the United States and Latin America have reached "an all-time high."

But a growing diplomatic storm with the Fidel Castro government of Cuba provided a sharp exception to the general picture Eisenhower painted in a nationwide television address Tuesday night.

Eisenhower made no reference to Cuba as he reported to the American people on his 15,560-mile tour of four South American countries. Despite the excellent relations he reported, he said there were some notable exceptions.

"An even firmer partnership must be our goal," he added.

Shortly before he spoke, Cuba rejected as insulting a statement by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Monday denouncing implications by Castro that U.S. sabotage may have been involved in last week's explosion of an ammunition ship in Havana.

Herter had called the accusation "baseless, erroneous and misleading," and said it raised questions of the Castro regime's desire for better relations with this country.

Cuba fired back Tuesday night a protest "against the aggressive tone derogatory to our national dignity." Foreign Minister Raul Roa insisted that Cuban representatives must be addressed with "absolute respect. . . without descending to offensive utterances of a personal character."

The State Department declined immediate comment.

In his speech, Eisenhower called his tour of South American countries "a most instructive and rewarding experience."

He stressed repeatedly that "serious misunderstandings" still impede the development of the best possible relationships between this country and its neighbors to the south.

His speech set forth no new policy or specific proposals for dealing with Latin American problems although he declared this country's intentions to do what it can to help them speed their industrial development.

Diversification of agriculture and industry, Eisenhower said, would help many of the countries which depend for their economic well-being largely on a single product, such as coffee.

2 Jailed At Marietta For Local Auto Theft

Two men were jailed in Marietta Tuesday night in connection with the theft of an auto from a Klondyke used car lot Feb. 9, Police Chief Americo Radeschi said today.

Identified as Robert Gary, 25, of R. D. 1 and John Gillen, 26, of Cincinnati, the 2 will be returned here for possible prosecution, the chief said.

Increase Seen In Population

The Bureau of the Census of the U. S. Department of Commerce predicts the forthcoming census will show a population gain of 13.6 per cent in the 6 states containing the Ohio Valley. This is under the national estimate.

The 1950 census recorded a total population of 5,113,983 in the 73 counties containing the main valley of the Ohio River. This represented an increase since 1940 of 9.1 per cent for this group of counties, as compared with 14.5 per cent for the entire country. In the preceding decade, 1930-1940, the population increase for the 73 counties was 5.1 per cent, while that of the nation was 7.2 per cent.

Annual estimates prepared by the Census Bureau indicate a population increase of 17 per cent between 1950 and 1959 for the United States, and of 13.6 percent for the group of states — Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia — containing the Ohio River Valley. The bureau has not prepared county-by-county estimates, however, and the census beginning April 1 will provide the first measure in 10 years of population changes for most areas smaller than states.

Between 1930 and 1940, only 10 of the 73 Ohio riverside counties lost population — 6 of these were in Kentucky, 3 in Indiana, and one in West Virginia. Between 1940 and 1950, however, 39—more than half—of the counties showed decreases in population. The 6 Illinois counties along the Ohio River all lost population in the 1940-1950 period, as did 4 of the 13 Indiana riverside counties; 8 of the 14 in Ohio, 15 of the 26 in Kentucky and 6 of the 12 West Virginia counties.

Population figures for counties adjacent to East Liverpool from the 1950, 1940, and 1930 censuses, with per cent changes, are shown in an attached table:

Columbiana — 98,920; 90,121 and 86,484 with 9.8 percentage change in 1940-50, and 4.2 per cent in 1930-40.

Hancock — 34,366, 31,572 and 28,511 with 8.9 and 10.7 per cent.

Beaver — 175,192, 156,754 and 149,062 with 11.8 and 5.2 per cent.

Town Accepts Sewage Grant

NEW CUMBERLAND — Mayor Albert Fuccy was authorized to accept a federal grant not to exceed $68,004, subject to the approval of the Magnus Bonding Co. of Cincinnati, when Town Council met Tuesday night to further discuss a proposed sewage plant.

The A. R. Todd engineering firm of Wheeling told Council that proposed improvements to the community's water system have been approved by the State Health Department.

Deadline for accepting the federal grant is March 23. The grant totals 30 per cent of the eligible project cost, which consists of cost of financing, installation of interceptor sewers, a pump station and sewage treatment plant.

Total estimated cost of the sewage disposal project is $243,180 which does not include cost of improvements to the water system. Council also discussed chloride treatment of water which would cost residents 22 cents annually.

Concern Cited On Defects In School Buses

Andrew H. Holtz, operator of a concern which hauls children to St. Aloysius Parochial School on contract, was warned today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to correct alleged defects in two of his vehicles for which he was cited Tuesday by the State Highway Patrol.

Holtz and a relief driver, Kelsey E. Franklin, pleaded guilty this morning to charges of operating unsafe vehicles. The judge imposed fines of $50 and costs on each, but suspended the fines on a promise from Holtz the defects will be corrected by Monday.

Patrolman E. D. Wain, who cited Holtz and Franklin, promised the court he will inspect the buses again Tuesday. The judge lectured Holtz severely for "endangering the lives of children" by operating unsafe buses, but said he did not feel inclined to mete out a penalty that would put the contractor out of business and thus halt transportation for the school children.

Patrolman Wain's affidavit alleged Holtz was driving a 1957 model bus "in unsafe condition" and said it had "defective muffler, defective right rear tire and inadequate vision to the rear." Franklin was accused of driving a vehicle "in unsafe condition" and the affidavit alleged "defective front turn signals, defective horn, defective headlights, a cracked windshield and inadequate vision to the rear."

In an unsworn statement to the court, the officer said he cited Holtz about 9 a. m. yesterday. He said he followed the bus downtown via St. Clair Ave. and asked to examine the vehicle after the children had been discharged.

The investigation was "the result of many complaints from citizens who asked us to check these vehicles," the officer said. He said he found "no air in the outside right rear dual tire — it was completely fat — and a hole in the muffler approximately a foot long." Frosted glass made it impossible to see via either the side view mirror or the rear view mirror, he added.

Holtz told the judge the lights, horn and turn signals did not operate on one bus because all the wiring was disconnected for installation of a new motor in the last few days and the bus was put in service again before the wiring had been reconnected.

In connection with the flat tire on the other bus, he said it is a tubless type, but it will not hold air properly. A tube is on order for the outsize tire, but it has not arrived, he said. Holtz conceded he has been driving with a flat on the rear dual wheel for two or three weeks.

The defective muffler is being replaced, Holtz said. He showed the judge a receipt for a new muffler which he said he purchased yesterday.

Judge Chertoff lectured Holtz for operating a bus with a defective muffler, declaring dangerous carbon monoxide fumes might enter the bus.

"We have been hauling for five years and never so much as scratched a child," Holtz said in his own defense.

After ordering the fines, the judge said: "If you are brought in here again I can sentence you to jail . I don't want to do that, because it would jeapordize transportation for the school children." He pointed out to Holtz he is hauling "the most precious cargo in the world."

An officer at the Lisbon post said a number of complaints had been received from parents of students on the buses, from city officials and from Columbiana County authorities.

The officer at Lisbon said the patrol does not conduct inspections of these buses, because they are not under the public school provision by which the patrol checks the vehicles used by public schools.

He said the patrol realized ordering the buses off the road would result in curtailment of the school operations, but declared the "safety of the children was of far more importance."

The officer at Lisbon said state legislators are considering a move to place the buses used by parochial schools under the patrol's inspection jurisdiction.

State Sen. Gilbert Wins Congress Seat

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic state Sen. Jacob H. Gilbert has won a landslide victory in the race for U.S. representative from the 23rd District in the Bronx.

Complete returns Tuesday night gave Gilbert an unofficial total of 4,579 votes. Republican Simon M. Koenig got 575, and Liberal Hector Mathew got 411.

After 2 Days And Nights

Theater Picketing Causes Little Effect In Bluefield

BLUEFIELD (AP) — Two days and nights of orderly Negro picketing against segregated seating in Bluefield's three movie houses has had little noticable effect on the city, the theaters or the demonstrators.

The young Negroes, moving in long, single files, some with placards on their backs, have made known their dissatisfaction with the separate entrances and enforced balcony seating which local custom has enforced.

The city has taken it calmly, with police on hand each time the Negroes gather, but without spectator crowds or nasty remarks.

The theaters — the Colonial, Granada and State — have stayed open with customers coming and going as fast as might be expected on a frigid winter day with streets still banked with snow. Statements from theater managers have been conciliating to the effect that the Negroes have a right to their demonstrations, but they the managers also have a right to segregate in keeping with what they see as the wishes of the majority of their customers.

Negroes have been seen entering the separate balcony entrances unconcerned, even as the pickets assembled outside. There even have been disgruntled remarks dropped by other Negro passers-by such as the teenage boy who asked yesterday:

"What do they think they can get out of this?"

Or the matronly Negro woman walking past one theater with two daughters who shook her head and said, "All they want is publicity."

The marchers — they've said practically nothing, except for a few lapses to briefly answer a reporter's question such as "Do you go to Bluefield State College?"

A girl marcher the first afternoon answered a newsman she knew of none except Bluefield Skaters in the march. A similar indication came from the 50 Monday night.

Yesterday, with ranks increased at least to 93 by one afternoon count, some younger marchers were seen carrying notebooks and looking more like high schoolers than collegians.

There has been a definite pattren: come at 4 p.m. after school and as a show begins, then stay for an hour. Return at 7 p.m. for another hour or more to catch evening movie-goers.

As for whether the demonstration will continue today or tomorrow, nobody has said, and few whites apparently cared. It's been that kind of a situation.

Jury Trial

for some of the actions described by the prosecution or ascribed them to the effects of carbon monoxide.

"I felt awful funny; I felt like I was stepping three feet off the ground," he said at one point in describing his physical condition at the time of his arrest.

To lay the groundwork, the defense first introduced testimony from Charles R. Buchheit, a Dresden Ave. garage operator. At the time of the arrest, Lewis' car was in Buchheit's garage for repair and Lewis was driving a car loaned him by Buchheit, the garage operator testified.

Two or three days before loaning the car to Lewis, Buchheit testified, he found a leak in the exhaust system which "I never bothered to fix." He said there was a leak in the pipe where it connects to the motor, at a point about under the driver's feet.

Robert Fraser of Route 30 at Sub-station, a friend of the defendant, told of being with Lewis from 11:30 the night before his arrest until 2 the next morning—about 35 minutes before his arrest. Fraser said he met Lewis at a service station at Sub-station. Lewis took him on an errand to Rock Camp and remained in his car with the motor running about 40 minutes while Fraser talked to the dispatcher of the trucking company for which he works, he testified.

Then the two men went to Fraser's home, where they cooked and ate hamburgs and had two bottles of beer each, he testified. When Lewis began to leave, the two friends sat in the car for about 30 minutes with the motor running while they talked about Fraser's plans for a trip to California, Fraser testified.

Asked if he felt any effects, possibly from carbon monoxide, Fraser said: "I was dizzy and light-headed" after leaving the car.

Testimony of the three officers occupied most of the session before the city rested its case at 1:50. The defense required about an hour and a half, resting at 3:15. The court heard evidence from Patrolmen E. R. Furgason and Floyd K. Garvey, who took Lewis into custody, and Patrolman Kenneth Mooney, the desk officer who booked him.

The arresting officers testified that Lewis, questioned at the time of his arrest, admitted he had left a tavern in California Hollow shortly before his car spun out of control. Officer Garvey also testified that Lewis admitted to drinking "three or four beers" when the patrolman expressed disbelief at his story of drinking two beers.

But Lewis denied yesterday that he stopped at a tavern. He said he drove from his friend's home direct to the point where his car crashed.

The case was tried before one of the biggest audiences ever to watch a Municipal Court hearing. Four High School civics classes watched the trial at intervals, accompanied by their teacher, Miss Helen Capehart.

John H. Parsons of Curry Ave. was added as the 13th — alternate juror — before testimony got under way. His was the last name remaining on the 21-member venire that reported for the trial. But the trial was able to proceed without summoning of additional jurors when Parsons was seated without an objection from either side.

Below-Zero This Morning, Snow Tonight

The late winter cold wave tumbled the mercury to 9 below zero this morning at Millport in the lowest March mark in over 25 years and the weatherman warned there will be light snow tonight as the temperature moderates.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, said this is the first time since March 1934 there has been a sub-zero reading four nights in a row.

The cold spell of 1934 was more severe with a 23 below on the last day of February to set the stage for the frigid entry of March. It also fell to 15 below and there was a 52-degree "jump" in one day—from 23 below to 29 above.

The Ohio Valley was spared the sub-zero bite. Dam 8 at Newell reported 8 above this morning. It had 5 above Monday and 11 above Tuesday. Fredericktown had 6 below this morning. It was 9 above downtown.

The forecast for Northeastern Ohio did not guess at the expected snow fall but some sources said 4 inches can be expected.

A low pressure area in Arkansas on this morning's weather map had spread snow, moderate to heavy, to just south of the Ohio River by early this morning.

The snow was to spread into southwest Ohio this morning and over the remainder of the state this afternoon and tonight. Heavy snow warnings are in effect in the south and central portions with the total accumulation in these sections expected to be 4 to 7 inches.

The snow will come with a slight rise in temperature as only 15 to 20 is forecast as the night's low range. Today's high will be 22 to 27. Thursday will continue cold with snow flurries.

Workers at the Ohio Highway Department garage at Leetonia and Columbiana County highway employes, weary of battling snow since mid-February, received news of the storm warning with little enthusiasm, but said they "will do our best if it comes."

15 minutes. Afterward he said, "our hopes are high."

"We are confident the fire has been contained," Wilson said. "There is no evidence of fire being visible, but there is steam and heat. Plans are made to proceed with fresh air to the area where we think the men are."

The manager said flames had broken out on both sides of the slate fall. A team of 40 men battled in smoke and fumes to put out the blaze that ate into coal and slate and timber props.

Rescuers couldn't move on 2,000 feet further, where the imprisoned were believed to be, until the fires were practically out.

N. T. Camicia, vice president in charge of operations for the coal company, said at 6 a. m. rescuers had reached within 600 feet of where the men should be. He said the rescue team was able to skirt around the fire area after the blaze had been controlled.

Officials theorized that the slate fall that triggered the 200-foot long blockade broke a trolley wire which ignited coal and timbers.

Black from burrowing through coal and dirt in a 14-inch ventilation passage, Willis Carter, 46, and Kyle Blair, 29, told how they crawled on their bellies for nearly three hours in a dramatic escape.

Carter, whose brother James is one of those trapped, said eight or 10 other workers also could have escaped.

"I tried to get them to follow me, but they wouldn't listen," said Carter, who is responsible for ventilation at the mine.

Carter figured the two crawled 2,240 feet through the narrow tunnel. He said some of the men remained behind on orders from their foreman.

For a time after the accident the trapped men were safe in a well-ventilated area. They talked by telephone with those on the outside. Then the phone went dead, presumably because a cable burned.

Defense Chief Hurt Slightly In Car Mishap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. was injured slightly in an automobile collision today.

The Cabinet member was en route from his home to the Capitol where he was scheduled to have a breakfast conference.

Gates received a wrenched shoulder. He was reading a file of papers, with his head down, at the moment the cars came together at 7th St. and Independence Aves. S. W., about a quarter of a mile from the Capitol grounds.

Gates proceeded to his office in the Pentagon, where a doctor examined him.

Additional air-conditioning and exhaust equipment will be installed at the polystyrene plant to give optimum quality control and improve working conditions.

David L. Eynon, Jr., vice president of the Plastics Division of Koppers, said other steps will be taken by the company in the near future to increase Koppers' participation in the plastics market. He said the heat-resistant types of polystyrene are finding increased use in such applications as television sets, radio cabinets and lighting fixtures.

Gas Rate

creased costs of furnishing natural gas service make this step necessary."

Morton Lewis of New York, assistant treasurer of Columbia Gas, recommended the commission approve a 6.75 per cent rate of return.

John H. Zerbe of Akron, representing East Liverpool, Steubenville, Martins Ferry, Wellsville, Bellaire and other communities objecting to the increase, will present his arguments after the company case, as will Robert J. White of Cincinnati, counsel for a group of industrial customers.

Ralph N. Mahaffey, former chief examiner for the commission and now an attorney for Ohio Valley, said a lower wholesale rate approved by the Federal Power Commission for Manufacturer's Light & Heat—from which Ohio Valley gets most of its gas — means Ohio Valley can ask for less than originally supposed.

The present rate, he said, is 15.425 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 1,000 cubic feet, 7.625 cents per 100 for the next 4,000, and 7.425 per 100 for all over 5,000.

The new rate, Mahaffey explained, is one cent less per 1,000 cubic feet in each step than one proposed by the utility in January. It is 29.9 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 1,000, 7.7 for the next 99,000, 7.4 for the next 200,000, 5.725 for the next 5,000,000, 5.4 for the next 10,000,00, 4.85 for the next 18,000,000, and 4.4 for the next 200,000,000.

Mahaffey said it represents a 15 per cent increase, or about $998,60 a year, compared with a 16 per cent, $1,200,000 increase first proposed two months ago.

All three commissioners are hearing the case.

Cities Will Submit Rate Reply April 5

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. rate hearing at Columbus was adjourned until April 5 after the company concluded presentation of its case Tuesday. When the hearing resumes, counsel for cities and industries opposing the application will cross-examine the company's witnesses.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper of East Liverpool and Solicitor William Bush of Wellsville attended the hearing. Cooper said the cities "asked the company for certain information concerning its operations in this territory which it had not made available at the time of the hearing." The continuance will allow preparation of that material, he said.

Plane's Bullets Hit Indonesia Chief's Palace

The plane dived low over the heart of this capital for the run against the white building and raked it for a few seconds, then sped away.

First reports made no mention of casualties.

The Japan Broadcasting Corp. at Tokyo quoted a Radio Jakarta broadcast as saying the fighter was an Indonesian air force MIG17. MIGs from the Soviet Union make up part of Indonesia's fighter squadrons. The air force also uses some British-built jets. Sukarno was reported to have escaped injury.

The attack came four days after President Sukarno had dissolved Indonesia's Parliament and nine days after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev gave up his 12-day tour of this island nation.

Speculation as to a motive centered on the fact Sukarno has been struggling against political dissension, smouldering military rebellions, and economic difficulties throughout Indonesia's 10 years of independence.

Blaze Damages Drier, Clothes At Area Home

About $25 damage to a clothes drier and loss of some clothing was reported in a fire Tuesday afternoon at 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christie Krafft of Park Way.

Ten Liverpool Township East volunteer firemen answered the alarm. A belt in the ga drier broke, igniting clothing inside. Firemen said the family had thrown water on the blaze, and it was only smoldering when they arrived.

Concern Cited On Defects In School Buses

Andrew H. Holtz, operator of a concern which hauls children to St. Aloysius Parochial School on contract, was warned today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to correct alleged defects in two of his vehicles for which he was cited Tuesday by the State Highway Patrol.

Holtz and a relief driver, Kelsey E. Franklin, pleaded guilty this morning to charges of operating unsafe vehicles. The judge imposed fines of $50 and costs on each, but suspended the fines on a promise from Holtz the defects will be corrected by Monday.

Patrolman E. D. Wain, who cited Holtz and Franklin, promised the court he will inspect the buses again Tuesday. The judge lectured Holtz severely for "endangering the lives of children" by operating unsafe buses, but said he did not feel inclined to mete out a penalty that would put the contractor out of business and thus halt transportation for the school children.

Patrolman Wain's affidavit alleged Holtz was driving a 1957 model bus "in unsafe condition" and said it had "defective muffler, defective right rear tire and inadequate vision to the rear." Franklin was accused of driving a vehicle "in unsafe condition" and the affidavit alleged "defective front turn signals, defective horn, defective headlights, a cracked windshield and inadequate vision to the rear."

In an unsworn statement to the court, the officer said he cited Holtz about 9 a. m. yesterday. He said he followed the bus downtown via St. Clair Ave. and asked to examine the vehicle after the children had been discharged.

The investigation was "the result of many complaints from citizens who asked us to check these vehicles," the officer said. He said he found "no air in the outside right rear dual tire — it was completely fat — and a hole in the muffler approximately a foot long." Frosted glass made it impossible to see via either the side view mirror or the rear view mirror, he added.

Holtz told the judge the lights, horn and turn signals did not operate on one bus because all the wiring was disconnected for installation of a new motor in the last few days and the bus was put in service again before the wiring had been reconnected.

In connection with the flat tire on the other bus, he said it is a tubless type, but it will not hold air properly. A tube is on order for the outsize tire, but it has not arrived, he said. Holtz conceded he has been driving with a flat on the rear dual wheel for two or three weeks.

The defective muffler is being replaced, Holtz said. He showed the judge a receipt for a new muffler which he said he purchased yesterday.

Judge Chertoff lectured Holtz for operating a bus with a defective muffler, declaring dangerous carbon monoxide fumes might enter the bus.

"We have been hauling for five years and never so much as scratched a child," Holtz said in his own defense.

After ordering the fines, the judge said: "If you are brought in here again I can sentence you to jail . I don't want to do that, because it would jeapordize transportation for the school children." He pointed out to Holtz he is hauling "the most precious cargo in the world."

An officer at the Lisbon post said a number of complaints had been received from parents of students on the buses, from city officials and from Columbiana County authorities.

The officer at Lisbon said the patrol does not conduct inspections of these buses, because they are not under the public school provision by which the patrol checks the vehicles used by public schools.

He said the patrol realized ordering the buses off the road would result in curtailment of the school operations, but declared the "safety of the children was of far more importance."

The officer at Lisbon said state legislators are considering a move to place the buses used by parochial schools under the patrol's inspection jurisdiction.

State Sen. Gilbert Wins Congress Seat

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic state Sen. Jacob H. Gilbert has won a landslide victory in the race for U.S. representative from the 23rd District in the Bronx.

Complete returns Tuesday night gave Gilbert an unofficial total of 4,579 votes. Republican Simon M. Koenig got 575, and Liberal Hector Mathew got 411.

After 2 Days And Nights

Theater Picketing Causes Little Effect In Bluefield

BLUEFIELD (AP) — Two days and nights of orderly Negro picketing against segregated seating in Bluefield's three movie houses has had little noticable effect on the city, the theaters or the demonstrators.

The young Negroes, moving in long, single files, some with placards on their backs, have made known their dissatisfaction with the separate entrances and enforced balcony seating which local custom has enforced.

The city has taken it calmly, with police on hand each time the Negroes gather, but without spectator crowds or nasty remarks.

The theaters — the Colonial, Granada and State — have stayed open with customers coming and going as fast as might be expected on a frigid winter day with streets still banked with snow. Statements from theater managers have been conciliating to the effect that the Negroes have a right to their demonstrations, but they the managers also have a right to segregate in keeping with what they see as the wishes of the majority of their customers.

Negroes have been seen entering the separate balcony entrances unconcerned, even as the pickets assembled outside. There even have been disgruntled remarks dropped by other Negro passers-by such as the teenage boy who asked yesterday:

"What do they think they can get out of this?"

Or the matronly Negro woman walking past one theater with two daughters who shook her head and said, "All they want is publicity."

The marchers — they've said practically nothing, except for a few lapses to briefly answer a reporter's question such as "Do you go to Bluefield State College?"

A girl marcher the first afternoon answered a newsman she knew of none except Bluefield Skaters in the march. A similar indication came from the 50 Monday night.

Yesterday, with ranks increased at least to 93 by one afternoon count, some younger marchers were seen carrying notebooks and looking more like high schoolers than collegians.

There has been a definite pattren: come at 4 p.m. after school and as a show begins, then stay for an hour. Return at 7 p.m. for another hour or more to catch evening movie-goers.

As for whether the demonstration will continue today or tomorrow, nobody has said, and few whites apparently cared. It's been that kind of a situation.

Jury Trial

for some of the actions described by the prosecution or ascribed them to the effects of carbon monoxide.

"I felt awful funny; I felt like I was stepping three feet off the ground," he said at one point in describing his physical condition at the time of his arrest.

To lay the groundwork, the defense first introduced testimony from Charles R. Buchheit, a Dresden Ave. garage operator. At the time of the arrest, Lewis' car was in Buchheit's garage for repair and Lewis was driving a car loaned him by Buchheit, the garage operator testified.

Two or three days before loaning the car to Lewis, Buchheit testified, he found a leak in the exhaust system which "I never bothered to fix." He said there was a leak in the pipe where it connects to the motor, at a point about under the driver's feet.

Robert Fraser of Route 30 at Sub-station, a friend of the defendant, told of being with Lewis from 11:30 the night before his arrest until 2 the next morning—about 35 minutes before his arrest. Fraser said he met Lewis at a service station at Sub-station. Lewis took him on an errand to Rock Camp and remained in his car with the motor running about 40 minutes while Fraser talked to the dispatcher of the trucking company for which he works, he testified.

Then the two men went to Fraser's home, where they cooked and ate hamburgs and had two bottles of beer each, he testified. When Lewis began to leave, the two friends sat in the car for about 30 minutes with the motor running while they talked about Fraser's plans for a trip to California, Fraser testified.

Asked if he felt any effects, possibly from carbon monoxide, Fraser said: "I was dizzy and light-headed" after leaving the car.

Testimony of the three officers occupied most of the session before the city rested its case at 1:50. The defense required about an hour and a half, resting at 3:15. The court heard evidence from Patrolmen E. R. Furgason and Floyd K. Garvey, who took Lewis into custody, and Patrolman Kenneth Mooney, the desk officer who booked him.

The arresting officers testified that Lewis, questioned at the time of his arrest, admitted he had left a tavern in California Hollow shortly before his car spun out of control. Officer Garvey also testified that Lewis admitted to drinking "three or four beers" when the patrolman expressed disbelief at his story of drinking two beers.

But Lewis denied yesterday that he stopped at a tavern. He said he drove from his friend's home direct to the point where his car crashed.

The case was tried before one of the biggest audiences ever to watch a Municipal Court hearing. Four High School civics classes watched the trial at intervals, accompanied by their teacher, Miss Helen Capehart.

John H. Parsons of Curry Ave. was added as the 13th — alternate juror — before testimony got under way. His was the last name remaining on the 21-member venire that reported for the trial. But the trial was able to proceed without summoning of additional jurors when Parsons was seated without an objection from either side.

Below-Zero This Morning, Snow Tonight

The late winter cold wave tumbled the mercury to 9 below zero this morning at Millport in the lowest March mark in over 25 years and the weatherman warned there will be light snow tonight as the temperature moderates.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, said this is the first time since March 1934 there has been a sub-zero reading four nights in a row.

The cold spell of 1934 was more severe with a 23 below on the last day of February to set the stage for the frigid entry of March. It also fell to 15 below and there was a 52-degree "jump" in one day—from 23 below to 29 above.

The Ohio Valley was spared the sub-zero bite. Dam 8 at Newell reported 8 above this morning. It had 5 above Monday and 11 above Tuesday. Fredericktown had 6 below this morning. It was 9 above downtown.

The forecast for Northeastern Ohio did not guess at the expected snow fall but some sources said 4 inches can be expected.

A low pressure area in Arkansas on this morning's weather map had spread snow, moderate to heavy, to just south of the Ohio River by early this morning.

The snow was to spread into southwest Ohio this morning and over the remainder of the state this afternoon and tonight. Heavy snow warnings are in effect in the south and central portions with the total accumulation in these sections expected to be 4 to 7 inches.

The snow will come with a slight rise in temperature as only 15 to 20 is forecast as the night's low range. Today's high will be 22 to 27. Thursday will continue cold with snow flurries.

Workers at the Ohio Highway Department garage at Leetonia and Columbiana County highway employes, weary of battling snow since mid-February, received news of the storm warning with little enthusiasm, but said they "will do our best if it comes."

15 minutes. Afterward he said, "our hopes are high."

"We are confident the fire has been contained," Wilson said. "There is no evidence of fire being visible, but there is steam and heat. Plans are made to proceed with fresh air to the area where we think the men are."

The manager said flames had broken out on both sides of the slate fall. A team of 40 men battled in smoke and fumes to put out the blaze that ate into coal and slate and timber props.

Rescuers couldn't move on 2,000 feet further, where the imprisoned were believed to be, until the fires were practically out.

N. T. Camicia, vice president in charge of operations for the coal company, said at 6 a. m. rescuers had reached within 600 feet of where the men should be. He said the rescue team was able to skirt around the fire area after the blaze had been controlled.

Officials theorized that the slate fall that triggered the 200-foot long blockade broke a trolley wire which ignited coal and timbers.

Black from burrowing through coal and dirt in a 14-inch ventilation passage, Willis Carter, 46, and Kyle Blair, 29, told how they crawled on their bellies for nearly three hours in a dramatic escape.

Carter, whose brother James is one of those trapped, said eight or 10 other workers also could have escaped.

"I tried to get them to follow me, but they wouldn't listen," said Carter, who is responsible for ventilation at the mine.

Carter figured the two crawled 2,240 feet through the narrow tunnel. He said some of the men remained behind on orders from their foreman.

For a time after the accident the trapped men were safe in a well-ventilated area. They talked by telephone with those on the outside. Then the phone went dead, presumably because a cable burned.

Defense Chief Hurt Slightly In Car Mishap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. was injured slightly in an automobile collision today.

The Cabinet member was en route from his home to the Capitol where he was scheduled to have a breakfast conference.

Gates received a wrenched shoulder. He was reading a file of papers, with his head down, at the moment the cars came together at 7th St. and Independence Aves. S. W., about a quarter of a mile from the Capitol grounds.

Gates proceeded to his office in the Pentagon, where a doctor examined him.

John H. Zerbe of Akron, representing East Liverpool, Steubenville, Martins Ferry, Wellsville, Bellaire and other communities objecting to the increase, will present his arguments after the company case, as will Robert J. White of Cincinnati, counsel for a group of industrial customers.

Midland Opens Bid With 62-38 Win Over South Union

Strong Uniontown Team Is Next Foe

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Pacing up and down in the locker room under the spacious Pitt Fieldhouse, Coach George Hamilton uttered: "We looked pretty ragged tonight, didn't we?"

That about summed up Midland's performance Tuesday night at Pittsburgh, but a superior height advantage finally paid off for the Leopards who eliminated South Union, 62-38.

The victory placed Midland in the WPIAL semi-finals against a very strong Uniontown team Saturday night at 8 p. m. on the same Pitt Fieldhouse floor.

However, the Leopards will have to give a better account of themselves if they expect to stay in the tournament running.

A crowd of 5,002, a new all-time WPIAL tourney record, watched the doubleheader which saw Uniontown advance with a 79-64 decision over Rostraver in the opening game.

The Midland-Uniontown winner will meet the survivor of the Farrell-Stowe contest for the WPIAL championship on March 15. Farrell and Stowe will clash Thursday night.

South Union, which hails from the Uniontown area, posed no height problem since the tallest player on the squad was 6-foot-1 Dave Marovich. The other four starters were under the 6 - foot mark.

A press thrown up by South Union worried the Leopards throughout the first half and Hamilton's team couldn't get started.

South Union took a 9-8 lead at the end of the first period, but Midland finally went out in front, 25-21, at halftime and led the rest of the way.

The long layoff from a regular scheduled contest apparently hurt the Leopards Tuesday night. Midland hadn't played since its last game of the season Feb. 23 with Freedom.

The Leopards were the last team to dive into tourney action. South Union already had a 47-46 win over Donora under its belt when the Blue Devils took the floor against Midland last night.

Although the score of 62 points and a 46 per cent shooting average indicates a fine performance, in between scoring the Leopards passed carelessly and didn't seem quite themselves.

The Midland offense picked up in the second half as the Leopards drove to a 39-28 margin at the end of the third period and moved out to leads of 20 points or better in the fourth quarter.

The junior sparkplug grabbed off 18 rebounds, scored 11 points and his all-around play kept the Leopards moving.

Big Movie Smith 6-foot-3 who set a new all-time career record at Midland this season, came away as the game's leading scorer with 17 but confined most of his scoring to the second and third quarters when he hit for 13 points.

After a slow start, Smith picked up the slack in the scoring department and under the boards and grabbed 21 rebounds for the evening.

Hamilton started Barney Silverman in Steve Yetso's spot. Yetso, a 6-foot-4 forward, was still feeling the effects of the flu, but was inserted into the lineup midway through the first quarter and ended up with eight points.

Silverman served well again in his utility spot and added 10 points while Gene Lake, after being held scoreless in the first quarter, finished with 11 points.

South Union's small club, which harassed the taller Midland five throughout the first half, finally gave way to the height edge.

Litman, a neat-driving artist, topped Union with 13 points while Stone, a clever jump shot specialist, hit for 12 markers.

It was Litman who scored six points in the first quarter to give South its 9-8 edge when the eight minutes expired.

Lake's foul to open the second quarter tied the game for the first time, 9-9. Four other deadlocks followed with the last at 17-17.

Anderson's field goal with 3:19 remaining in the first half put Midland ahead to stay.

With the half ending Midland, 25-21, Smith scored seven straight points in the third quarter to push Midland's lead to 34-22. Only a foul by Jack Silbaugh interrupted Smith's scoring spree.

The Leopards battled to a 39-28 advantage at the end of the third quarter.

Midland put the game on ice in the early minutes of the fourth period with nine straight points, including four by Anderson and Silverman's bucket and foul and Rudy Krivoshia's two-pointer.

Northwestern Five Eyes Another State Cage Title

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten Northwestern of Wayne County, voted the top Class A team in Ohio in the Associated Press poll at the close of regular season play, is only three steps away from its third trip in three years to the state high school basketball finals.

The Huskies, 1958 state champions, ran their record this season to 24-0 Tuesday night when they trimmed Mogadore, 65-52, in district tournament play at Canton.

The big noise in Class AA action in a Tuesday program restricted to four Central District tussles at Columbus was the sidelining of top-seeded Columbus East. Washington Court House (16-5) turned the trick in a major upset, 61-58.

East (17-5), capital city league champion — and 1951 state AA king—boasted a 57-47 lead with 5:30 to play. But Coach Gene Millard's Blue Lions didn't know they were beat. The Courthousers, who shared the South Central Ohio League crown with three other teams, streaked for 12 points in a row to go in front, 59-57, and doggedly held on.

In the other AA games, Newark (18-3) remained in the running for the statet title Wildcat quintets won in 1936, 1938 and 1943 by hurdling London, 69-48; Columbus Linden McKinley (18-3) whipped Circleville, 46-34, and Grandview of Columbus (12-9) thumped Grove City, 75-57.

Granville, seventh - ranked in the AP's Class A poll, stayed undefeated through its 23rd game when it outclassed Johnstown, 63-43, at Denison University. But Northwestern of Union County, only once beaten before, was spilled by six-time-loser Radnor, 46-42, in Marion Class A action.

Cuyahoga Heights tripped Braceville, 62-51, in A at Canton, in the only other game of a night that saw the Class AA field reduced to 76 teams, the Class A group to 60—from an original 432 and 561 respectively.

The tempo picks up again tonight, with eight more AA clubs and 13 of the smaller schools facing extinction in district competition at 13 sites.

The only poll top-tenners (seven in AA, eight in A still survive) scheduled tonight are No. 2 rated New Boston (23-0), which faces Buford at Piketon, and No. 6 Lowellville (21-1) which vies with Akron St. Mary at Canton, in Class A games.

Top Bowling Talent To Make Bow In ABC

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — After confining its opening four days to relatively unknown bowlers, the 57th American Bowling Congress Championships will present some of the nation's leading tenpin talent tonight.

Top billing will go to Ned Day, who is bowling with the Sara-Lee Kitchens of Chicago. A member of the ABC Hall of Fame, Day won the all-events title in 1948 and was a member of the 1956 team champion Chicago Falstaffs.

Barons Lose To Aces But Eye Playoff Spot

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Barons, striving for a spot in the American Hockey League playoffs, were just one point off the pace today and the big villain in their eyes was lowly Quebec.

The Barons had a chance to skip past Buffalo and Providence Tuesday night into fourth place—the last playoff spot—but were edged by the last place Aces, 6-5. The Aces took a 4-0 lead and Cleveland never caught up.

Buffalo and Providence, tied for fourth, each have 66 points, the Barons 65.

Midland Opens Bid With 62-38 Win Over South Union

Strong Uniontown Team Is Next Foe

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Pacing up and down in the locker room under the spacious Pitt Fieldhouse, Coach George Hamilton uttered: "We looked pretty ragged tonight, didn't we?"

That about summed up Midland's performance Tuesday night at Pittsburgh, but a superior height advantage finally paid off for the Leopards who eliminated South Union, 62-38.

The victory placed Midland in the WPIAL semi-finals against a very strong Uniontown team Saturday night at 8 p. m. on the same Pitt Fieldhouse floor.

However, the Leopards will have to give a better account of themselves if they expect to stay in the tournament running.

A crowd of 5,002, a new all-time WPIAL tourney record, watched the doubleheader which saw Uniontown advance with a 79-64 decision over Rostraver in the opening game.

The Midland-Uniontown winner will meet the survivor of the Farrell-Stowe contest for the WPIAL championship on March 15. Farrell and Stowe will clash Thursday night.

South Union, which hails from the Uniontown area, posed no height problem since the tallest player on the squad was 6-foot-1 Dave Marovich. The other four starters were under the 6 - foot mark.

A press thrown up by South Union worried the Leopards throughout the first half and Hamilton's team couldn't get started.

South Union took a 9-8 lead at the end of the first period, but Midland finally went out in front, 25-21, at halftime and led the rest of the way.

The long layoff from a regular scheduled contest apparently hurt the Leopards Tuesday night. Midland hadn't played since its last game of the season Feb. 23 with Freedom.

The Leopards were the last team to dive into tourney action. South Union already had a 47-46 win over Donora under its belt when the Blue Devils took the floor against Midland last night.

Although the score of 62 points and a 46 per cent shooting average indicates a fine performance, in between scoring the Leopards passed carelessly and didn't seem quite themselves.

The Midland offense picked up in the second half as the Leopards drove to a 39-28 margin at the end of the third period and moved out to leads of 20 points or better in the fourth quarter.

The junior sparkplug grabbed off 18 rebounds, scored 11 points and his all-around play kept the Leopards moving.

Big Movie Smith 6-foot-3 who set a new all-time career record at Midland this season, came away as the game's leading scorer with 17 but confined most of his scoring to the second and third quarters when he hit for 13 points.

After a slow start, Smith picked up the slack in the scoring department and under the boards and grabbed 21 rebounds for the evening.

Hamilton started Barney Silverman in Steve Yetso's spot. Yetso, a 6-foot-4 forward, was still feeling the effects of the flu, but was inserted into the lineup midway through the first quarter and ended up with eight points.

Silverman served well again in his utility spot and added 10 points while Gene Lake, after being held scoreless in the first quarter, finished with 11 points.

South Union's small club, which harassed the taller Midland five throughout the first half, finally gave way to the height edge.

Litman, a neat-driving artist, topped Union with 13 points while Stone, a clever jump shot specialist, hit for 12 markers.

It was Litman who scored six points in the first quarter to give South its 9-8 edge when the eight minutes expired.

Lake's foul to open the second quarter tied the game for the first time, 9-9. Four other deadlocks followed with the last at 17-17.

Anderson's field goal with 3:19 remaining in the first half put Midland ahead to stay.

With the half ending Midland, 25-21, Smith scored seven straight points in the third quarter to push Midland's lead to 34-22. Only a foul by Jack Silbaugh interrupted Smith's scoring spree.

The Leopards battled to a 39-28 advantage at the end of the third quarter.

Midland put the game on ice in the early minutes of the fourth period with nine straight points, including four by Anderson and Silverman's bucket and foul and Rudy Krivoshia's two-pointer.

Ohio U. Upsets Notre Dame; West Virginia Sinks Navy

6 Teams Advance To Semi-Finals

By The Associated Press

California's defending champion Bears and the hustling Mountaineers of West Virginia, one-two in last year's NCAA basketball tournament, are over their first hurdle in their drive for another title showdown.

Defense-minded Cal, a 71-70 winner over West Virginia in the NCAA championship tussle in 1959, routed Idaho State 71-44 Tuesday night while West Virginia, with All-America Jerry West better than ever, whipped Navy 94-86.

Both were among six first-round games played in the sprawling NCAA eliminations in San Francisco, New York and Lexington, Ky. West Virginia's triumph over Navy came in an Eastern regional tripleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden in which powerful New York U. downed Connecticut 78-59 and Duke's Atlantic Coast Conference champs overwhelmed Ivy League king Princeton, 84-60.

In Lexington, Western Kentucky routed 10th-ranked Miami (Fla) 107-84—missing the single game NCAA scoring high by one point, and Ohio U., champion of the Mid-American Conference, upset Notre Dame 74-66 in first-round games in the Mideast regional.

California's victory, the Bears' 25th in 26 games this season and 41st in their last 42 starts, came at San Francisco in a first-round game of the Western regional.

All six winners advance to regional semifinals this weekend, when the bulky NCAA field will be chopped to the four survivors for the national semifinals and finals at San Francisco March 18 and 19.

Two games tonight will complete the line-up for the four four-team regionals this Friday and Saturday at Charlotte, N.C., Louisville, Manhattan, Kan., and Seattle. New Mexico State, the Border Conference champ, plays Oregon at Corvallis, Ore., with the winner advancing to the Seattle Regional. In Manhattan, Kan., Kansas and Kansas State, co-champs of the Big Eight Conference, meet in a one-game playoff to determine the league's NCAA representative at the Manhattan regional.

Eastern at Charlotte, N.C.—West Virginia (25-4) vs NYU (20-3); St. Joseph's (Pa) (19-5) vs Duke (16-10), (St. Joseph's first-round bye).

Mideast at Louisville—Ohio U. (17-7) vs Georgia Tech (21-5); Western Kentucky (20-6) vs Ohio State (21-3). (Georgia Tech, Ohio State first-round byes).

Midwest at Manhattan, Kan.—Cincinnati (25-1) vs DePaul (16-6); Texas (18-6) vs Kansas-Kansas State winner. (Cincinnati, Texas, and Big Eight champ first-round byes).

All-Ohio Duel Could Unfold At Lexington

By The Associated Press

Ohio State has steered clear of basketball competition against any other schools in the state for years now, but there's a fair chance they'll take to the court Saturday night with one—surprising Ohio University.

The underdog Bobcats, after shaking off first half stage fright, bumped off Notre Dame, 74-66, at Lexington, Ky., in the opener of the Mideast Regional of the NCAA basketball tournament Tuesday night.

Now "all" that's needed to bring the two Buckeye teams together in a clash for the regional title is for OSU to beat Western Kentucky and Ohio U. to spill powerful Georgia Tech in Friday night's semifinals at Louisville.

Western Kentucky demonstrated Tuesday night that Ohio State's task Friday may be a tough one. The Hilltoppers merely massacred nationally 10th-ranked Miami, Fla., 107-84, in the second half of the doubleheader at Lexington.

Meanwhile, out in Kansas City, Findlay kept Ohio alive in the NAIA tournament by beating Pittsburgh (Kan.) State, 76-61. Pittsburg had been seeded ninth in the 32-team field. Findlay faces Wofford of Spartansburg, S. C., in a second round match tonight.

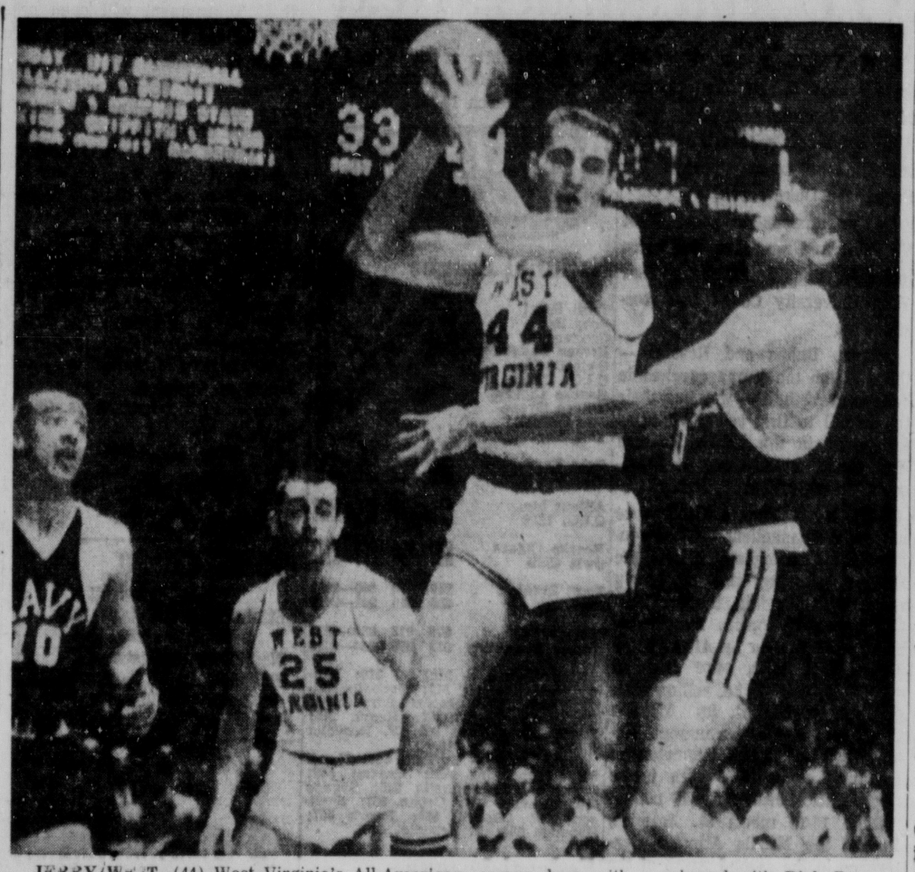

Ohio U. (17-7) and Notre Dame battled through six ties and 11 lead changes in the first half, which ended with the Irish on top 32-31. But Bunk Adams' layup at the outset of the second half put the Mid-American Conference champs in front, and they stayed there in eliminating the at-large entry.

Howard Jolliff, 6-6 junior from Canton, was the standout for the Bobcats, cramming in 29 points and hauling in 16 rebounds. Larry Kruger helped out with 22 points.

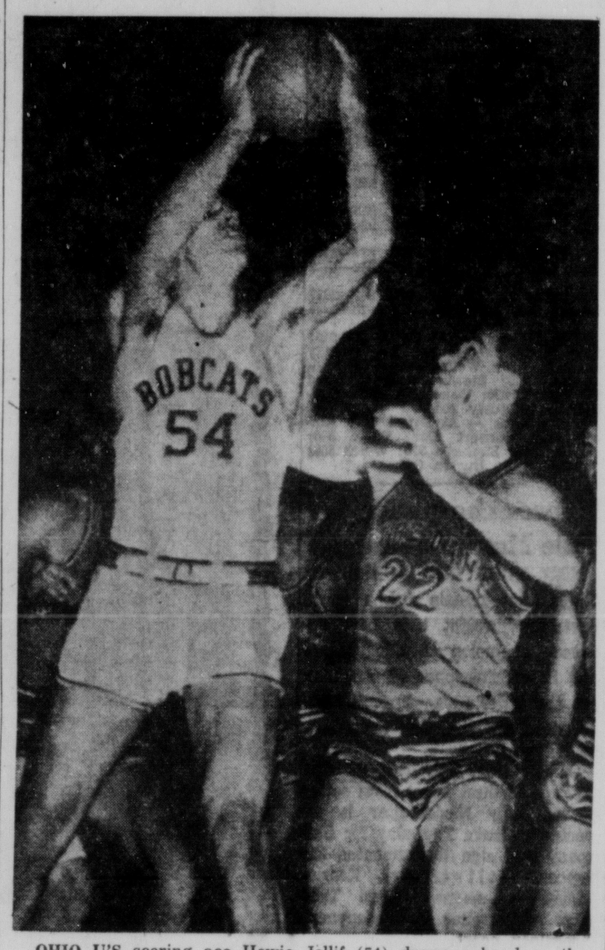

Fast breaks and a sagging defense did the job for Ohio as it opened a 50-39 lead, then after seeing it trimmed to 58-57, spread it to 72-60. Bobcat coach Jim Snyder explained that "at the halftime, we decided to run. Notre Dame appeared tiring in the last 10 minutes of the first half."

The Ohioans shot a neat .483 from the field and outrebounded the Irish.

Findlay served up a well balanced attack, four starters hitting between 13 and 19 points. The Oilers led Pittsburg 33-29 at the half and gradually pulled away.

OHIO U'S scoring ace Howie Jollif (54) draws a bead on the basket while Notre Dame's Michael Graney (22) looks upward. Jollif bagged 29 points to lead both teams in scoring as the Bobcats downed the Irish, 74-66, after trailing at halftime Tuesday night in the NCAA tourney at Lexington. (UPI Telephoto)

Akins Drops London Bout

LONDON (AP) — Wally Swift may have earned a shot at the world welterweight crown of Don Jordan after his close decision over former champ Virgil Akins Tuesday night at Wembley Stadium.

British promoter Harry Levene promised Swift, the British welter king, a possible shot at Jordan or world junior welter King Carlos Ortiz of New York if he beat Akins.

Levene said he plans to get one of the two Americans here for a May 17 bout against the 23-year-old Swift.

Swift's victory over Akins, who lost his title to Jordan of Los Angeles in December 1958, was a close one. Referee Ike Powell's decision was greeted with mixed boos and cheers by the crowd of 10,000.

The referee is the sole judge in British boxing. The Associated Press gave Swift six rounds and Akins four.

Akins, of St. Louis, looked like he was going to end the fight in the first round but couldn't put away Swift, who weighed 147½.

Akins weighed 148¾.

Cash Pressing For Job At First With Indians

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The training camp performance of a gentleman named Norm Cash, recently of Chicago, has Cleveland Indians manager Joe Gordon wondering how he can get the husky first baseman into his lineup.

Cash smashed a long triple and a double to drive in four runs in the first intrasquad game Tuesday. The game was won 6-2 by Red Kress' Apaches over the Pimas of Jo-Jo White.

"I wish I could find a spot for him," Gordon said. "If he played regularly he'd hit a minimum of 20 home runs, and I think he'd hit for a respectable average, too."

Cash, from the White Sox in a trade that also brought Bubba Phillips and John Romano, has been the Indians' longest hitter this spring. But with Vic Power at first base, Tito Francona in left field and Rocky Colavito in right, there appears to be no room for the 25-year-old Texan.

Cash is listed on the roster as an outfielder, but has had little experience at that position.

Gordon expressed satisfaction with several other individual performances during the game. He singled out Mike De La Hoz, Steve Jankowski and Phillips, all of whom made notable infield plays.

"Phillips covers that infield like the grass," the manager commented.

But what seemed to please Gordon most was a homer, the team's first this year, made by shortstop Woodie Held with two out in the last inning.

Held was known last seaason as a poor risk when the count reached two strikes. But after working closely with him, Gordon appears to think Held will be vastly improved in the season ahead. Held hit 29 homers last season.

Was 1959 Comeback Year For Cincinnati's Gus Bell?

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Gus Bell doesn't care for the idea his shining performance last season for Cincinnati's Reds was a "comeback."

But he'll admit he didn't get all the bad breaks in 1959 that came the year before.

Troubles came fast for Bell in 1958—injuries, illness, slumps. His batting average skidded to .252. His morale fell to zero.

"I thought I had come to the end," Bell related Tuesday at spring training camp here. "I had blood poison and I began to envision all sorts of horrible things."

But came 1959, Bell hit .293—raising his lifetime average to .287. He drove in over 100 runs and hit 19 homers.

And another mark passed, unnoticed in the welter of baseball statistics. Bell posted a string of 199 errorless games from May 4, 1958, to Aug. 13, 1959.

Birdie Tebbetts, who used to run the Reds on the field, said "Gus is the most underrated outfielder in the league . . . He doesn't get his just due because he doesn't play in New York."

The current Cincinnati manager, Fred Hutchinson, is a little less enthusiastic. He said, "He's one-third of the best outfield in the league."

Bell said he has tried to keep in trim with heavy winter workouts but he said he hasn't set any high goals.

"Just go up there, swing and hope for the best," he said. "I do know I have to do a little better for I've found out my family is eating more and if they want to eat I have to get busy."

The Bells have six children. A seventh is expected in early summer.

Golfer In Hospital

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Art Wall Jr., the PGA's 1959 golfer of the year and leading money winner, is in Hahnemann Hospital with a troublesome right knee. The Honesdale, Pa., native entered the hospital last Tuesday with a kidney infection. This cleared up but meantime his knee began swelling and had to be drained. Wall, 36, said he is not sure what is wrong with the knee.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

"Litterbugs, strewballs, strowboes and such,
Thirty days in jail is not too much."

This little bit was inspired by a recent news item. Knox Township constable Merle Hardy, seeing rubbish dumped along the highway on 12th St., Salem, stopped to investigate. Scatching among the debris, he found the name and address of an Alliance resident and proceeded to bring the offender into the County Court.

The offender was found guilty and a fine imposed.

Take a look behind the guard rails of most any of the township roads and along Little Beaver Creek and see the mess for yourself. Scratch around and find names and addresses of the dumpers as I have done. If this is sufficient evidence of arrests, then why can't they be made?

At Westville Lake where I live, we have an Alliance concern that hauls our garbage for the small fee of $1 per month. Isn't there a city garbage disposal available for all city residents? Rural dwellers want none of your garbage and other rubbish.

I admire the Mahoning County farmer who happened to see a Youngstown resident dump a bag full of rubbish on his farm.

He managed to job down the license number and learn the identity and address of the offender. So he gathered up the entire mess and took to to Youngstown and dumped it right in the man's front yard.

OLE MAN WINTER finally supplied enough cold weather to make ice fishing safe and the fishermen at Westville Lake and Lake Placentia are having lots of fun catching bluegills, a few crappies and an occasional bass.

Harold Muller of Sebring is the present 1960 fishing champ, having landed a 4-pound-8-ounce largemouth bass at Lake Placentia last week at 9 p. m. during a snowstorm. Christmas tree tinsel draped over a hook did the trick. The bass measured 20½ inches. I did the measuring!

I WOULD LIKE to see 50 ice fishermen at Zepernick Lake, since Placentia and Westville Lakes do not have a monopoly on ice fishing in my book. There are some beautiful bluegills and red-ear sunfish in Zepernick's as well as large bass waiting for some ingenious fisherman to out-smart.

In Alliance over the weekend a department store clerk, noticing my uniform, asked me "How's fishing"?

I said it was good at present and that the ice fishermen were making some good catches. Then he proceeded to tell me he didn't believe in ice fishing. He went on to say he liked to fish during summer vacation and he couldn't catch the big bluegills at Mogadore like the ice fishermen are now catching.

Fishing through the ice has no effect on the summer fishing whatsoever, but I couldn't explain this to this individual.

Fundamentals of the game were explained at the first session. Next week the class will go into the details.

Lew Burdette Leads Braves' Holdout List

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Right-hander Lew Burdette, a 21-game winner for Milwaukee last season, heads an imposing list of Braves still holding firm in their salary disputes with the front office as major league baseball's holdout roster continues to dwindle.

With the exhibition season only three days away, the Braves still have four players unsigned—Burdette, relief specialist Don McMahon, outfielder Wes Covington and utility infielder Bobby Avila.

The rest of the major league clubs have only seven dissatisfied customers.

Also continuing the holdout siege are a quartet of American League outfielders — New York's Mickey Mantle, Detroit's Charlie Maxwell, Gene Woodling of Baltimore and the always late-reporting Minnie Minoso, now with Chicago's White Sox.

The others on the list are Pittsburgh outfielder Joe Christopher, Washington pitcher Hal Griggs and infielder Ted Lepcio of Philadelphia.

The Braves, who lost the National League pennant to Los Angeles in a playoff, lured one of their key players into the fold Tuesday when they signed shortstop Johnny Logan. Salary terms were not disclosed.

The Yankees signed Tony Kubek, who shifted between the infield and outfielder last season, for about $18,000, a slight raise.

'Masked Marvel' Helps Red Wings Over Canadiens

DETROIT (AP) — Jacques Plante has done an about-face, shedding his controversial mask. But he says he'd rather wear a faceguard in Montreal Canadien games.

"I play just the same with it or without it and have just as much guts whether I wear it or not," said the National Hockey League champions' goalie after the Detroit Red Wings blanked the Canadiens 3-0 in Tuesday game. "But I'd like to wear it again."

It was the first time Plante had appeared unmasked in a game since a puck struck his face in a game at New York Nov. 1. He was visibly shaky, especially on two of Detroit's three goals.

"I wanted him to try it to see what it was like without the mask," said Coach Toe Blake.

"I think the mask affected his play. I would prefer that he didn't wear it in the playoffs and Jacques has agreed to give it a try in these last few games."

The Canadiens begin defense of their Stanley Cup title in two weeks.

The victory practically assured the Wings of one of the two final berths in the playoffs. They are tied with Chicago in third place. Slumping Boston trails both by eight points in the battle for the two berths.

Palmer Golf Favorite

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the hottest golfer on the winter tour, was established today as the favorite in the $15,000 Pensacola Open which starts Thursday. The Ligonier, Pa., pro will be trying to win his third tournament in a row. He won the Texas and Baton Rouge open's in the past two weeks.

West Virginia Meets NYU And Sanders Next

"West Virginia can beat any team in the country," says Vic Bubas, the Duke coach.

"We're anxious to meet West Virginia, and we have the extra incentive this time," says New York University Coach Lou Rossini.

Schaus, Bubas and Rossini — three of the top young coaches in college basketball — watched their teams roll to first round victories last night in the NCAA Eastern first round tripleheader at Madison Square Garden.

NYU laced Yankee Conference champion Connecticut 78-59 as senior Russ Cunningham ruined the Uconns' pressing zone on long shots. West Virginia, the Southern Conference champion, rode a 34-point performance by All-America Jerry West to a 94-86 triumph over Navy, and Duke, rolling with the momentum of its Atlantic Coast conference tournament victory, brushed aside Princeton of the Ivy League 84-60 with junior Doug Kistler hitting for 26 points.

Duke 16-10 meets St. Joseph's Pa. of the Middle Atlantic Conference in the second game of the Eastern Regional semifinals at Charlotte, N. C., Friday night. NYU, an at-large entry, faces West Virginia, a finalist last year, in the opener.

Streaking NYU 20-3 has won nine straight, and 14 of its last 15. But the loss in the span was 98-69 to West Virginia at Morgantown. The late-season push gained NYU No. 12 ranking in the final Associated Press poll. West Virginia 25-4 was No. 5.

"NYU is naturally improved over when we beat them a month ago, but we are all better in March than we are in February," said Schaus. "At least I hope we are."

Schaus and the West Virginia players are wary of Tom Satch Sanders, the 6-6 NYU center whom Schaus rates better than California All-America Carrall Imhoff.

"Sanders can play with the best in the country," said Schaus. "We couldn't stop him at Morgantown, and I know we'll have a tough time again."

Navy Coach Ben Carnevale said, "Don't let Sanders' point total he had 11 while teammates Cunningham and Al Barden led with 18 and 23, respectively fool you. His physical power underneath is tremendous. He's murder on the short rebound."

But Carnevale, whose Navy team lost to NYU earlier in the season, had even more praise for West. "We played him every way I could think of, but we still couldn't stop him. NYU will have its hands full with Jerry. They have the size, speed and the strength to beat West Virginia, but you can't stop West Virginia unless you stop West."

There was no stopping him last night. In his finest six Madison Square Garden appearances during his three-year varsity career, West hit 12 of 21 field goal attempts, grabbed 15 rebounds and handed off five assists.

"I guess it was my best all-around New York game," said the modest West.

Jay Metzler, who had 27 points for Navy, said, "Jerry's just as good on defense as he is on offense."

Moore-Schoeppner Title Match Looms

NEW YORK (AP) — The only things that remain for a world light heavyweight title bout between champion Archie Moore and Eric Schoeppner of Germany are the latter's signature, the exact date and site, and the television contract.

Of the four, only the TV contract is furthest away from settlement. Andy Niederreiter is expected to leave Thursday for Germany and sign the unbeaten European titlist. Jack Kearns, Moore's manager, signed Tuesday. Niederreiter is Schoeppner's American agent.

Promoter Jack Fugazy said the bout will most likely be held July 11 at Roosevelt Stadium, in Jersey City, N.J.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

"Litterbugs, strewballs, strowboes and such,
Thirty days in jail is not too much."

This little bit was inspired by a recent news item. Knox Township constable Merle Hardy, seeing rubbish dumped along the highway on 12th St., Salem, stopped to investigate. Scatching among the debris, he found the name and address of an Alliance resident and proceeded to bring the offender into the County Court.

The offender was found guilty and a fine imposed.

Take a look behind the guard rails of most any of the township roads and along Little Beaver Creek and see the mess for yourself. Scratch around and find names and addresses of the dumpers as I have done. If this is sufficient evidence of arrests, then why can't they be made?

At Westville Lake where I live, we have an Alliance concern that hauls our garbage for the small fee of $1 per month. Isn't there a city garbage disposal available for all city residents? Rural dwellers want none of your garbage and other rubbish.

I admire the Mahoning County farmer who happened to see a Youngstown resident dump a bag full of rubbish on his farm.

He managed to job down the license number and learn the identity and address of the offender. So he gathered up the entire mess and took to to Youngstown and dumped it right in the man's front yard.

OLE MAN WINTER finally supplied enough cold weather to make ice fishing safe and the fishermen at Westville Lake and Lake Placentia are having lots of fun catching bluegills, a few crappies and an occasional bass.

Harold Muller of Sebring is the present 1960 fishing champ, having landed a 4-pound-8-ounce largemouth bass at Lake Placentia last week at 9 p. m. during a snowstorm. Christmas tree tinsel draped over a hook did the trick. The bass measured 20½ inches. I did the measuring!

Moore-Schoeppner Title Match Looms

NEW YORK (AP) — The only things that remain for a world light heavyweight title bout between champion Archie Moore and Eric Schoeppner of Germany are the latter's signature, the exact date and site, and the television contract.

Of the four, only the TV contract is furthest away from settlement. Andy Niederreiter is expected to leave Thursday for Germany and sign the unbeaten European titlist. Jack Kearns, Moore's manager, signed Tuesday. Niederreiter is Schoeppner's American agent.

Promoter Jack Fugazy said the bout will most likely be held July 11 at Roosevelt Stadium, in Jersey City, N.J.

Ticker Tape Parade Waits Carol Heiss

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Carol Heiss, the 20-year-old world and Olympic figure skating champion, gets the city's traditional ticker tape parade up Broadway today amid rumors that she may announce her engagement to another figure skater.

There has been talk that Carol, a blonde New York University junior, would marry Hayes Alan Jenkins, the 1956 Olympic figure skating champion and now a lawyer in Akron, Ohio.

But Carol denied — or almost denied — it all.

"I'm not even going steady," she said. "Maybe within the next five years I might become engaged, but not now. I can't be linked romantically with anyone."

She added that she hasn't seen Jenkins since Thanksgiving Day.

But if she does become engaged, would it be to Jenkins?

"Not necessarily."

Carol said she has only one definite plan and that's to rest.

"I don't even know what I'm going to be doing the day after tomorrow let alone plan for the future," she said. "Usually, I rest a couple of weeks, then start training again for the next competition. This time, though, I'm going to rest a lot longer."

She also has not been swayed toward a professional career, although her coach, Pierre Brunet, said she has received "dozens" of offers from ice shows and movie studios.

"I am tired of having lived out of a suitcase for the last seven weeks," she commented. "I don't think I could stand living out of one for 42 weeks a year. I like to live a normal life and I don't think that's normal."

War On Fox Declared

One enterprising huntsman used a rotating sewer cleaning device to outfox a fox that took refuge in a den.

He popped the device into the den and out came the fox.

Wins Yacht Race

Thrift Is Rule Of New Oil-Rich Football Head

DALLAS (AP) — Many men have bought teams just to get into baseball or football but Lamar Hunt had to organize a whole league to get into the game he loves.

What sort of man is this young oil millionaire who failed to buy into the long established National Football League and formed the American Football League instead?

The 27-year-old Hunt, whose worth is estimated at 50 million dollars with yearly income of four million dollars, claims to be about as eccentric as a new automobile.

Hunt, youngest son of one of the world's richest men — H. L. Hunt —is as unpretentious a fellow as you might expect to meet. You wouldn't think his job paid more than $100 a week.

His wife, Rose Mary, 24, who has known Lamar since she was a schoolgirl, says:

"It would look ridiculous for us to live any differently. None of our friends do. What would we do with a big house or a yacht or three cars? Who would take care of them?"

"I can't even take care of my own car," chimes in Hunt. "But it's old and I can tear it up with a clear conscience."

He borrowed the automobile of the general manager of the Dallas Texans, Don Rossi, so he could impress a prospective player.

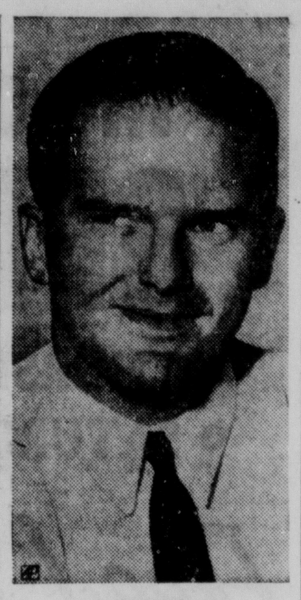

The Hunts avoid the social whirl as much as possible and limit their cultural life to frequent movies and record albums.

"I have never been to one of those debutante things," says Hunt. "I don't dance well and neither of us smokes or drinks.

"I've seen one ballet, I think and one or two operas. That's one or two too many. And I'm ashamed to say I don't read much."

Hunt's mind is a catalogue of sports. He pulls names out of the past with the dedication and uncanny accuracy of a coin collector.

LAMAR HUNT
Wanted Team In Dallas.

"I don't think that frustration was the compelling reason I finally got into professional football. I just wanted Dallas to have a professional team," Hunt explains.

Hunt's only participating sport is golf. He shoots in the mid-90s. He also coaches a kids' football team and plays catch with the youngsters on the block.

"Sometimes when we're talking over a big decision, Lamar will pick up a football and toss it to me," says Rossi. "Then we'll play catch while he works out the answer.

"He's really a remarkable person. He could have been a brilliant coach with his analytical mind and knowledge of football technique.

"He's completely sincere and unpretentious. Half the time he doesn't have a dime in his pocket. It's a regular office joke how he borrows money for soft drinks or candy."

Hunt loves sweets and around the office he's called "King of the Yum Yums."

Hunt will operate his Dallas Texans — he's also president of the AFL — in competition with the Dallas Rangers, the local club in the National Football League.

Hunt admits he's a little bitter about the NFL, which he has accused of trying to sabotage his league, but says he's more determined than ever to put over the AFL despite the competition.

"I know it's very important that I succeed," he adds.

Family Entertains Wrestling Squad

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hopple of Hopples Corners entertained with a steak dinner Tuesday night, honoring the wrestling squad of Beaver Local High School.

This was the eighth annual banquet for the wrestlers as for six years the family treated the group from East Liverpool High School before their sons were transferred to the new school.

Over 50 attended and guests included Jack O'Rourke, Flody Suarez, Jack Frontone and Bruce Costanzo, coaches; Sam Wagner, athletic director, and Lee Kirkland, principal.

The hostes was assisted by Mrs. Clark Bookman, Mrs. Charles Yost, Mrs. Charles Hopple, Mrs. Lloyd DeSellem, Mrs. Lillie Campbell, Mrs. Paul Durbin and Mrs. Stanley Rose.

Assisting with the serving were Misses Bonnie Adkins, Sandra McKenzie, Rose Bookman and Linda Yost.

Golden Gloves Finals To Be On TV Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—Amateur boxing's best-in-the-West will be displayed on national television tonight as the finals of the 33rd Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions are held in Chicago Stadium.

Four, and possibly five, of the eight title bouts will be shown on TV (ABC, 10 p.m. EST).

This will be on the televised portion of the program, along with the 147, 175, 135 and possibly the 160-pound title matches.

Too Much West For Navy, Coach Says After Defeat

NEW YORK (AP) — Too much West in West Virginia was the way Navy Coach Ben Carnevale explained his team's 94-86 basketball loss to WVU in an NCAA first-round game here.

"A little too much West — what can you do with a guy like that," Carnevale said.

The West is two-time All-America Jerry West who scored 34 points, grabbed 15 rebounds and handled five assists while piloting the Mountaineers past the Middies into the NCAA eastern semifinals at Charlotte, N.C. Friday night. Their opponent will be New York U., a team the Mountaineers whipped 98-69 at Morgantown last month.

WVU Coach Fred Schaus agreed.

"That 98-69 beating we gave them in Morgantown is not an indication of the difference in the two clubs," he said. "We broke it open in the final two minutes down there. Until then it could have gone either way."

It took a little while for West to get warmed up. Taking up the slack was Jim Warren who scored 10 of WVU's first 15 points and who finished with 22.

"If Warren keeps up his hot pace, he could be a big difference in this tournament," Schaus said.

Warren, a senior from Clarksburg, W. Va., hit on 10 of 17 floor shots and had two for two at the foul line.

West hit on 12 of 21 floor shots and 10 of 15 free throws. He didn't make a field goal during the opening five minutes and at the halfway mark had counted 14 points. He was blanked for about 4½ minutes in the second half but then opened up with a rush — at stretch scoring 11 of WVU's 13 points.

The Mountaineers hit on 37 of 68 field goal attempt for 51.4 per cent and canned 20 of 26 free throws. Navy hit 35 of 77 from the field for 45.3 per cent and 16 of 25 free throws.

Schaus, who had a 102-degree temperature from the flu during the game, said he felt much better after the Navy victory. But the Mountaineer mentor didn't show too much enthusiasm. He was worrying about NYU, particularly 6-7 center Tom Sanders.

"That big fellow Sanders can play with the best in the country," he said. "We couldn't stop him at Morgantown and I know we'll have a tough time again."

W. Va. Berths Nearly Filled

By The Associated Press

All but a few of the berths have been filled in the regional and area competition that leads up to the finals of the State High School Basketball Tournament at Morgantown March 18 and 19.

The Class A area playoffs are set for Saturday night with the champions of Region 1 vs Region 2, Region 3 vs Region 4, Region 5 vs Region 6 and Region 7 vs Region 8.

Bluefield whipped Welch 80-49 and Princeton beat Big Creek 60-48 in Class AAA sectional finals last night to move into the Region 3-AAA event at Fayetteville and fill the regional berths in the big school jousting.

The area playoffs:

Area 2 Petersburg — Aurora (16-3) vs Piedmont (18-5).

The Region 3-AAA drawings were scheduled for today as were those for some of the AA regionals.

Over Enthusiastic

COLUMBUS, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Irene Murray, 55, arrived an hour early for the Franklin - Seymour high school basketball game. She fell out of the bleachers, broke her ankle, was rushed to the hospital and returned with a cast on her leg to root Franklin to a 69-41 victory.

"If Warren keeps up his hot pace, he could be a big difference in this tournament," Schaus said.

Warren, a senior from Clarksburg, W. Va., hit on 10 of 17 floor shots and had two for two at the foul line.

West hit on 12 of 21 floor shots and 10 of 15 free throws. He didn't make a field goal during the opening five minutes and at the halfway mark had counted 14 points. He was blanked for about 4½ minutes in the second half but then opened up with a rush — at stretch scoring 11 of WVU's 13 points.

The Mountaineers hit on 37 of 68 field goal attempt for 51.4 per cent and canned 20 of 26 free throws. Navy hit 35 of 77 from the field for 45.3 per cent and 16 of 25 free throws.

The Mountaineers were scheduled to fly home today.

Schaus, who had a 102-degree temperature from the flu during the game, said he felt much better after the Navy victory. But the Mountaineer mentor didn't show too much enthusiasm. He was worrying about NYU, particularly 6-7 center Tom Sanders.

"That big fellow Sanders can play with the best in the country," he said. "We couldn't stop him at Morgantown and I know we'll have a tough time again."

W. Va. Berths Nearly Filled

By The Associated Press

All but a few of the berths have been filled in the regional and area competition that leads up to the finals of the State High School Basketball Tournament at Morgantown March 18 and 19.

The Class A area playoffs are set for Saturday night with the champions of Region 1 vs Region 2, Region 3 vs Region 4, Region 5 vs Region 6 and Region 7 vs Region 8.

Bluefield whipped Welch 80-49 and Princeton beat Big Creek 60-48 in Class AAA sectional finals last night to move into the Region 3-AAA event at Fayetteville and fill the regional berths in the big school jousting.

The area playoffs:

Area 2 Petersburg — Aurora (16-3) vs Piedmont (18-5).

The Region 3-AAA drawings were scheduled for today as were those for some of the AA regionals.

Over Enthusiastic

COLUMBUS, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Irene Murray, 55, arrived an hour early for the Franklin-Seymour high school basketball game. She fell out of the bleachers, broke her ankle, was rushed to the hospital and returned with a cast on her leg to root Franklin to a 69-41 victory.

Exercise Plays Vital Role In Reducing

Exercise guarantees smooth fit in that smaller-sized dress. With daily calisthenics, you can tone and tighten the muscles and overcome the sagging. You will be measurably slimmer. In fact, if you are more out-of-shape than you are overweight, exercise is vital.

By Ida Jean Kain

The place to begin exercise is invariably smack in the middle, for the waist and abdomen widen with added weight. It's easy to understand the middle spread—fat tends to infiltrate the least-used muscles. Also, the midsection depends solely on muscle tone for support since there is no bony framework from ribs to pelvic girdle.

At first blush it appears that the waist widens, but actually it is the abdominal muscles which lose tone.

Ease into exercise with a bias stretch. Position: Lying on back on floor on blanket...stretched out to full extension, with right arm stretched back on floor beyond head, both legs straight down.

With this action you reach the boundary lines of the figure which are often muscularly "dead" areas. Come back to starting position, stretch left arm back on floor beyond head and stretching left leg across right, pull again. Repeat three or four times until you feel pleasantly stretched. Keep the movement smooth.

ACTUALLY THIS amounts to stretching both ends against the middle. When you get the gist of this stretch-bend, bring a lift into the action. Lift — an inch up off legs — as you stretch-bend. The girdle muscles take the lifting action. Continue eight counts, alternating sides. Relax. Later increase the counts.

Young women have asked if exercises can be continued through the menstrual period. Yes, increased circulation is helpful during this period. Be careful to avoid any jumping or jarring movements for the first few days.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Wake Up And Stretch" to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

"ONCE MORE, WITH FEELING!"

From the smash Broadway hit in TECHNICOLOR

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The whole family reads your column and we are all mad at you. Recently someone wrote in to complain that her husband was a "hard-headed Dutchman" because he wouldn't give her any spending money.

We Hollanders are insulted and it's time someone straightened out the age-old misconception. People whose ancestors came from the Netherlands don't like being called Dutchmen because it's really the Germans who are Dutch, not us. In fact the word is "Duits" meaning German.

From this error came the false notion that Hollanders are Dutchmen and then we got stuck with the expression "Dutch treat" which hints we are cheap. I trust you will straighten this out in your column for a fine group of maligned people.—SPOKESMAN.

Dear Spokesman: According to Webster's unabridged a Dutchman is any person who has Germanic roots, which means Hollanders, Germans and persons of Dutch descent born in South Africa.

I polled my newspaper friends and they associate Dutchmen with tulips, cleanliness, windmills, wooden shoes, blue and white dishes and Queen Juliana. No one mentioned tight-fistedness.

Willful Daughter

Dear Ann: I'm writing about my niece whose mother died when she was 9. Her father is a grand person and he's sick with grief over her behavior.

Several months ago (she was not yet 16) she ran off and married a boy 18 of whom none of us approved. When her father learned she was pregnant he annulled the marriage and sent her 2,000 miles away to a church-connected school with hospital facilities.

She agreed to put the baby up for adoption without seeing it because her boy friend was then making plans to accept a football scholarship and didn't show much interest in her or the expected child.

Recently the girl wrote to tell me she changed her mind. She has no intention of giving up her baby which is due in April. She plans to run away from the institution before the child is born and meet her boy friend. She said, "We'll remarry and disappear until everything blows over."

The boy will tell us nothing but we know they are corresponding. My niece has money of her own, unfortunately. This boy is irresponsible and will leave her eventually — heartbroken and with the child to rear. What can we do to help her?—AUNT.

Dear Aunt: The girl is bitter, defiant and unstable. You can't police her forever. When she's of age she'll do as she pleases. Stand by, pick up the pieces and urge her to seek psychiatric help.

Too Much Father

Dear Ann: My husband is too much father, if you know what I mean. We were married in 1951 and I haven't had one night out alone with him in the last six years —since our first son was born.

He doesn't believe in sitters. He claims people who have children should stay home with them or take them along.

This is all well and good for a man who is out of the house all day but he doesn't understand that a woman must have a change of scenery. What do you suggest?—BEAT DOWN.

Dear Beat: "Togetherness" can be overdone. Your children should learn to adjust to new situations and to people outside the family. A reliable sitter can be a welcome relief for the children and an angel of mercy to a mother such as you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Scholarships Await Students In Hancock

Hancock County students were reminded that West Virginia University at Morgantown has available about 70 scholarships in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics but only about half the number of applicants to fill them.

Oliver Johnson, county agricultural agent, said March 15 is the deadline for applying for a scholarship.

He cited the "flunking out" of freshmen as the reason why many of the scholarships are not filled.

The highest tides in the world take place in Minas Basin, Bay of Fundy, Nova Scotia, where a mean range of 42 feet and a spring range of 45 feet have been reported.

Farmers In Hancock Told Insecticides Out

The Food and Drug Administration has condemned all the practical insecticides for use on forages, Oliver Johnson, Hancock County agricultural agent, has advised farmers.

The only material approved for application on forage that will kill spittle is malathion, Johnson said. However, malathion is costly and may completely break down and lose its effectiveness in three days, he added.

Hancock farmers have used heptachlor, benzine hectochloride and dieldrin for spittle bug control on alfalfa in the past years. The spittle normally reduces the first cutting of alfalfa by 25 to 75 per cent if an insecticide is not used, the agricultural agent said.

The pyramids of Egypt, were built from 3000 B.C. to 1800 B.C. The oldest is at Sakkara.

COLUMBIA Theatre Starts Today (WEDNESDAY)

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The whole family reads your column and we are all mad at you. Recently someone wrote in to complain that her husband was a "hard-headed Dutchman" because he wouldn't give her any spending money.

We Hollanders are insulted and it's time someone straightened out the age-old misconception. People whose ancestors came from the Netherlands don't like being called Dutchmen because it's really the Germans who are Dutch, not us. In fact the word is "Duits" meaning German.

From this error came the false notion that Hollanders are Dutchmen and then we got stuck with the expression "Dutch treat" which hints we are cheap. I trust you will straighten this out in your column for a fine group of maligned people.—SPOKESMAN.

Dear Spokesman: According to Webster's unabridged a Dutchman is any person who has Germanic roots, which means Hollanders, Germans and persons of Dutch descent born in South Africa.

I polled my newspaper friends and they associate Dutchmen with tulips, cleanliness, windmills, wooden shoes, blue and white dishes and Queen Juliana. No one mentioned tight-fistedness.

Willful Daughter

Dear Ann: I'm writing about my niece whose mother died when she was 9. Her father is a grand person and he's sick with grief over her behavior.

Several months ago (she was not yet 16) she ran off and married a boy 18 of whom none of us approved. When her father learned she was pregnant he annulled the marriage and sent her 2,000 miles away to a church-connected school with hospital facilities.

She agreed to put the baby up for adoption without seeing it because her boy friend was then making plans to accept a football scholarship and didn't show much interest in her or the expected child.

Recently the girl wrote to tell me she changed her mind. She has no intention of giving up her baby which is due in April. She plans to run away from the institution before the child is born and meet her boy friend. She said, "We'll remarry and disappear until everything blows over."

The boy will tell us nothing but we know they are corresponding. My niece has money of her own, unfortunately. This boy is irresponsible and will leave her eventually — heartbroken and with the child to rear. What can we do to help her?—AUNT.

Dear Aunt: The girl is bitter, defiant and unstable. You can't police her forever. When she's of age she'll do as she pleases. Stand by, pick up the pieces and urge her to seek psychiatric help.

Too Much Father

Dear Ann: My husband is too much father, if you know what I mean. We were married in 1951 and I haven't had one night out alone with him in the last six years—since our first son was born.

He doesn't believe in sitters. He claims people who have children should stay home with them or take them along.

This is all well and good for a man who is out of the house all day but he doesn't understand that a woman must have a change of scenery. What do you suggest?—BEAT DOWN.

Dear Beat: "Togetherness" can be overdone. Your children should learn to adjust to new situations and to people outside the family. A reliable sitter can be a welcome relief for the children and an angel of mercy to a mother such as you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Scholarships Await Students In Hancock

Hancock County students were reminded that West Virginia University at Morgantown has available about 70 scholarships in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics but only about half the number of applicants to fill them.

Oliver Johnson, county agricultural agent, said March 15 is the deadline for applying for a scholarship.

He cited the "flunking out" of freshmen as the reason why many of the scholarships are not filled.

The highest tides in the world take place in Minas Basin, Bay of Fundy, Nova Scotia, where a mean range of 42 feet and a spring range of 45 feet have been reported.

Farmers In Hancock Told Insecticides Out

The Food and Drug Administration has condemned all the practical insecticides for use on forages, Oliver Johnson, Hancock County agricultural agent, has advised farmers.

The only material approved for application on forage that will kill spittle is malathion, Johnson said. However, malathion is costly and may completely break down and lose its effectiveness in three days, he added.

Hancock farmers have used heptachlor, benzine hectochloride and dieldrin for spittle bug control on alfalfa in the past years. The spittle normally reduces the first cutting of alfalfa by 25 to 75 per cent if an insecticide is not used, the agricultural agent said.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Decline Of Creativity Noted In U.S.

When others are looking for robins, I look for the announcement of award luncheons. When they start passing out awards, spring can't be far behind. Already they' handed out the Sylvania Awards. The Emmys and the Peabodys lie ahead.

John Crosby

What kind of season has it been? It's not been a bad season. There's been plenty to look at, heaven knows, but the best things in it were written by people named Somerset Maugham ("Moon and Sixpence") and Edith Wharton ("Ethan Frome") who are not fresh youngsters.

It has not, in short, been a very creative season. The most original new show was "Twilight Zone," which has had trouble attracting viewers. The new dramas have been notably weak, especially on "Playhouse 90," of which we once expected so much. There hasn't even been a quiz show of any startling originality.

THE ONLY new personalities of any interest have been kids (Dennis the Menace, and that beatnik kid on "Dobie Gillis"). The other "new" personalities like "Mr. Lucky" are strictly imitations of Cary Grant.

We can't seem to produce new plays, new ideas, fresh personalities. But then I look around me into other fields and it occurs to me that this phenomenon is not isolated to television.

This has been one of the worst seasons Broadway has had in many many a moon. Even those plays with undoubted merit are not freshly minted.

"The Miracle Worker" is a case history—touching, dramatically satisfying, emotionally enriching—but still a case history.

"Fiorello" borrows its most explosive moments from newspaper files.

"Gypsy," "Andersonville Trial," "Sound of Music," all deal with real rather than imaginary people, and such shows as "Thurber Carnival" and "Take Me Along" are reworkings of old material.

Of fresh creative work, there are only Paddy Chayevsky's "Tenth Man" and Lillian Hellman's "Toys in the Attic."

THIS FAILURE of creativity afflicts almost any field you examine.

The movie houses are having a great day re-issuing old movies. Around the corner from my house is "From Here to Eternity." Elsewhere they are reissuing "On the Waterfront" and "Caine Mutiny." And, of course, one of the biggest hits of the new pictures is "Ben-Hur" which is hardly a new idea.

And, goodness knows, they have not had a new personality in the motion picture business since roughly the 12th century. Every movie marquee has either Cary Grant, Frank Sinatra, or Tony Curtis emblazoned all over it. I'm not only sick of those faces but of those names. I keep wishing just once they'd misspell them.

What would happen to the picture business if Cary Grant died, do you suppose?

MAYBE WE'VE just forgotten now to create. In the book business—no reason why I should let them escape unscathed—the No. 1 best seller, again reflecting our passion for biography, is Moss Hart's "Act 1."

People still write novels—the creative urge is not dead, just dying-but most of the fiction on the best seller list is utter trash.

I don't suppose it should be a great comfort to those of us stuck with the television dodge but the fact is that conditions in her sister arts are not much better and may conceivably be worse.

The theater, for instance, would have been in terrible shape without the assistance of some refugees from television. "The Miracle Worker" was a "Playhouse 90" script and Paddy Cheyevsky is television's best known minnesinger.

ANOTHER, and to me thoroughly alarming, failure of creativity is in the field of popular music. All the old songs are coming back, including some great old ones, but they were all written 30 years ago or more.

The singers are new but the songs are still "Say It Is't So," "Where or When," or "Among My Souvenirs."

America led the popular music field for so many years we assumed we always would. But where are the new song writers? Certainly there is none around of the stature of George Gershwin, Irving Berlin or Cole Porter.

In the whole field of American creativity, there seems to be a great pause. Television's lack is only one aspect of it.

Unemployed Man Admits Stealing Off Blind Woman

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—An unemployed clerical worker who said he kept from going hungry by stealing from a blind woman's concession stand in the courthouse agrees "it's pretty rotten."

Hammond was held without bail. He gave his address as 23 Gramercy Place, New York.

Lang said Hammond admitted stealing "maybe half a dozen sandwiches" and short-changing the blind owner on several occasions.

Hammond told a newsman he had been unable to get a job because he was too short of money to make a good appearance.

The tiny motors that move the control surfaces of modern jet fighter planes produce twice as much horsepower as the entire engine of the original Wright Brothers' plane.

Workers Survey State Hospitals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Social workers begin surveying 11 state hospitals today to screen aged inmates for transfer to nursing homes.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle estimates that the program which he has ordered will shift 3,500 inmates, making beds available for mental patients who require special care.

Aid for the aged fads will pay for the patients' care in the rest homes. Most will be transferred to homes in their home counties.

DiSalle said it would cost about 45 million dollars to provide beds in new state institutions for the aged patients. He added that the transfers will take considerable time but hoped they could be accomplished without undue delay.

California Couple To Adopt 9th Child

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Gerald E. Salsberry family, already a houseful, is going to grow larger in court today.

Salsberry and his wife are adopting their ninth child — Danny, 7 months, a blue-eyed blond of Irish-Italian-American Indian ancestry.

Mrs. Salsberry said all the children will be in court.

"I told them there was nothing to see," she said, "but they love Danny so, I guess they didn't want to miss anything."

The other children range from Joyce, 11, to Mark, 9 months. Two, Ronald, 7, and Steven, 5, are Koreans.

The family lives in suburban El Cajon.

Exhaustive Study Asked

Death Penalty Is Morally Wrong, Governor Asserts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"Capital punishment as applied by the state is morally wrong," Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has asserted to a Legislative Study Committee.

Speaking in the role of a private citizen Tuesday, DiSalle said: "Human personality must be considered of value in the sight of God."

"I'm hoping this committee will make an exhaustive study of this punishment. I'm convinced it is wrong. But as long as it is part of the law I will uphold it," he continued.

He added that he hopes for an attempt at proper rehabilitation of murderers instead.

Sen. William Baker (D-Montgomery), chairman of the 11-member committee, asked if the state shouldn't first become geared for rehabilitation.

"I think officials will agree with you," DiSalle answered.

The facts do not bear out claims of some that without capital punishment the murder rate would zoom, he said. "Capital punishment is not a deterrent," he insisted in his 75-minute talk.

DiSalle expanded on many of the arguments he presented to a committee of the last Legislature that rejected his plea to substitute life imprisonment for the death penalty.

The governor observed that many court-appointed attorneys lack experience in criminal cases and asked: "Is this the kind of justice that we feel is the kind we want in the state?" He quoted Ohio Penitentiary warden Beryle Sacks as reporting that of the seven now in death row awaiting execution, five were defended by court-appointed attorneys. Only two could afford to hire their own lawyers.

DiSalle asked why the state should continue a punishment which removes the possibility of correcting a mistaken conviction. He cited a 1922 case in which the convicted slayer of a Wilmington policeman won acquittal at a second trial.

Sen. Baker said the committee would not make any recommendations but hoped to assemble facts that would be helpful to the next Legislature in considering the capital punishment problem. The committee is an arm of the Legislative Service Commission, the Legislature's fact - finding body.

8 Of Free World Rich Nations Eye Rules In Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine of the free world's wealthier nations begin today to draft a set of informal ground rules aimed to step up economic aid to less developed nations.

Led by the United States, Britain and France, the Allies tackle the problem at a special meeting called to devise better ways to offset the Soviet Union's mounting foreign economic offensive.

Others represented are Canada, West Germany, Belgium, Italy, Portugal and Japan.

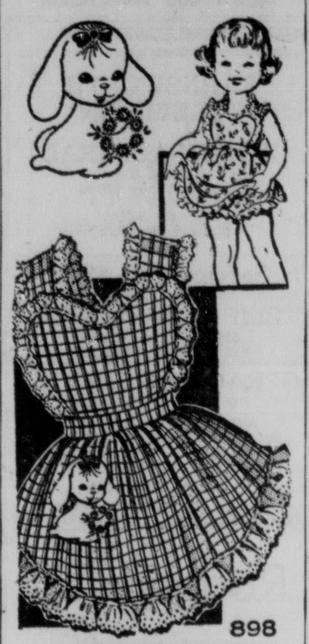

Western countries attending the meeting funnel about 3¼ billion dollars to direct aid to other areas annually. The biggest chunk of this — about 2¼ billion dollars — comes from the United States.

The four-day conference, bringing together top economic representatives of the nine, is the first concrete step in an allied decision to pour even more money into Asia, the Middle East and Africa in the years ahead.

2 More Serving Life Are Eligible For Parole Now

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two more life term slayers have been made eligible for parole by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. A third was denied clemency. DiSalle said his actions adhered to recommendations of the Pardon and Parole Commission.

The governor Tuesday commuted first-degree murder sentences to second-degree for George Murphy, 40, of Akron, and Floyd (Sailor) Baldwin, 52, of Toledo. He denied this consideration for Jessie Glover, 56, of Cincinnati.

Murphy was 18 when he and three companions held up a pool room in Akron and killed the proprietor, William Pantages. George Wells was executed for the slaying.

Glover killed the manager of a Cincinnati theater during a holdup in 1931.

Rail Unit Will Pay To Transport Statue

NILES, Ohio (AP) — A 7-foot bronze statue of William McKinley, offered by tobacco heiress Doris Duke as a gift to the former president's birthplace, will be transported here at the expense of the Railroad Service Committee of the Mahoning and Shenango Valleys.

The bronze replica now sits on an 11-foot pedestal on the Duke farms in Somerville, N. J., where it was erected in 1904. James Duke, father of the heiress, was a close friend and admirer of President McKinley.

Man Fatally Injured

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—Paul Stutler, 54, of Ashtabula, was fatally injured Tuesday when his car rammed a truck on Ohio 531 near here. A passenger, Frank Wente, 28, also of Ashtabula, suffered severe head lacerations.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Decline Of Creativity Noted In U.S.

When others are looking for robins, I look for the announcement of award luncheons. When they start passing out awards, spring can't be far behind. Already they' handed out the Sylvania Awards. The Emmys and the Peabodys lie ahead.

John Crosby

What kind of season has it been? It's not been a bad season. There's been plenty to look at, heaven knows, but the best things in it were written by people named Somerset Maugham ("Moon and Sixpence") and Edith Wharton ("Ethan Frome") who are not fresh youngsters.

It has not, in short, been a very creative season. The most original new show was "Twilight Zone," which has had trouble attracting viewers. The new dramas have been notably weak, especially on "Playhouse 90," of which we once expected so much. There hasn't even been a quiz show of any startling originality.

THE ONLY new personalities of any interest have been kids (Dennis the Menace, and that beatnik kid on "Dobie Gillis"). The other "new" personalities like "Mr. Lucky" are strictly imitations of Cary Grant.

We can't seem to produce new plays, new ideas, fresh personalities. But then I look around me into other fields and it occurs to me that this phenomenon is not isolated to television.

This has been one of the worst seasons Broadway has had in many many a moon. Even those plays with undoubted merit are not freshly minted.

"The Miracle Worker" is a case history—touching, dramatically satisfying, emotionally enriching—but still a case history.

"Fiorello" borrows its most explosive moments from newspaper files.

"Gypsy," "Andersonville Trial," "Sound of Music," all deal with real rather than imaginary people, and such shows as "Thurber Carnival" and "Take Me Along" are reworkings of old material.

Of fresh creative work, there are only Paddy Chayevsky's "Tenth Man" and Lillian Hellman's "Toys in the Attic."

The movie houses are having a great day re-issuing old movies. Around the corner from my house is "From Here to Eternity." Elsewhere they are reissuing "On the Waterfront" and "Caine Mutiny." And, of course, one of the biggest hits of the new pictures is "Ben-Hur" which is hardly a new idea.

And, goodness knows, they have not had a new personality in the motion picture business since roughly the 12th century. Every movie marquee has either Cary Grant, Frank Sinatra, or Tony Curtis emblazoned all over it. I'm not only sick of those faces but of those names. I keep wishing just once they'd misspell them.

What would happen to the picture business if Cary Grant died, do you suppose?

MAYBE WE'VE just forgotten how to create. In the book business—no reason why I should let them escape unscathed—the No. 1 best seller, again reflecting our passion for biography, is Moss Hart's "Act 1."

People still write novels—the creative urge is not dead, just dying-but most of the fiction on the best seller list is utter trash.

I don't suppose it should be a great comfort to those of us stuck with the television dodge but the fact is that conditions in her sister arts are not much better and may conceivably be worse.

The theater, for instance, would have been in terrible shape without the assistance of some refugees from television. "The Miracle Worker" was a "Playhouse 90" script and Paddy Cheyevsky is television's best known minnesinger.

ANOTHER, and to me thoroughly alarming, failure of creativity is in the field of popular music. All the old songs are coming back, including some great old ones, but they were all written 30 years ago or more.

The singers are new but the songs are still "Say It Is't So," "Where or When," or "Among My Souvenirs."

America led the popular music field for so many years we assumed we always would. But where are the new song writers? Certainly there is none around of the stature of George Gershwin, Irving Berlin or Cole Porter.

In the whole field of American creativity, there seems to be a great pause. Television's lack is only one aspect of it.

Unemployed Man Admits Stealing Off Blind Woman

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—An unemployed clerical worker who said he kept from going hungry by stealing from a blind woman's concession stand in the courthouse agrees "it's pretty rotten."

The stand, operated by Miss Nell Scales, is run on an "honor system" in which patrons make their own change from bowls on the counter.

Hammond was held without bail. He gave his address as 23 Gramercy Place, New York.

Lang said Hammond admitted stealing "maybe half a dozen sandwiches" and short-changing the blind owner on several occasions.

Hammond told a newsman he had been unable to get a job because he was too short of money to make a good appearance.

The tiny motors that move the control surfaces of modern jet fighter planes produce twice as much horsepower as the entire engine of the original Wright Brothers' plane.

Workers Survey State Hospitals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Social workers begin surveying 11 state hospitals today to screen aged inmates for transfer to nursing homes.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle estimates that the program which he has ordered will shift 3,500 inmates, making beds available for mental patients who require special care.

Aid for the aged fads will pay for the patients' care in the rest homes. Most will be transferred to homes in their home counties.

DiSalle said it would cost about 45 million dollars to provide beds in new state institutions for the aged patients. He added that the transfers will take considerable time but hoped they could be accomplished without undue delay.

Exhaustive Study Asked

Death Penalty Is Morally Wrong, Governor Asserts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"Capital punishment as applied by the state is morally wrong," Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has asserted to a Legislative Study Committee.

Speaking in the role of a private citizen Tuesday, DiSalle said: "Human personality must be considered of value in the sight of God."

"I'm hoping this committee will make an exhaustive study of this punishment. I'm convinced it is wrong. But as long as it is part of the law I will uphold it," he continued.

He added that he hopes for an attempt at proper rehabilitation of murderers instead.

Sen. William Baker (D-Montgomery), chairman of the 11-member committee, asked if the state shouldn't first become geared for rehabilitation.

"I think officials will agree with you," DiSalle answered.

The facts do not bear out claims of some that without capital punishment the murder rate would zoom, he said. "Capital punishment is not a deterrent," he insisted in his 75-minute talk.

DiSalle expanded on many of the arguments he presented to a committee of the last Legislature that rejected his plea to substitute life imprisonment for the death penalty.

The governor observed that many court-appointed attorneys lack experience in criminal cases and asked: "Is this the kind of justice that we feel is the kind we want in the state?" He quoted Ohio Penitentiary warden Beryle Sacks as reporting that of the seven now in death row awaiting execution, five were defended by court-appointed attorneys. Only two could afford to hire their own lawyers.

DiSalle asked why the state should continue a punishment which removes the possibility of correcting a mistaken conviction. He cited a 1922 case in which the convicted slayer of a Wilmington policeman won acquittal at a second trial.

Sen. Baker said the committee would not make any recommendations but hoped to assemble facts that would be helpful to the next Legislature in considering the capital punishment problem. The committee is an arm of the Legislative Service Commission, the Legislature's fact - finding body.

8 Of Free World Rich Nations Eye Rules In Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine of the free world's wealthier nations begin today to draft a set of informal ground rules aimed to step up economic aid to less developed nations.

Led by the United States, Britain and France, the Allies tackle the problem at a special meeting called to devise better ways to offset the Soviet Union's mounting foreign economic offensive.

Others represented are Canada, West Germany, Belgium, Italy, Portugal and Japan.

Western countries attending the meeting funnel about 3¼ billion dollars to direct aid to other areas annually. The biggest chunk of this — about 2¼ billion dollars — comes from the United States.

The four-day conference, bringing together top economic representatives of the nine, is the first concrete step in an allied decision to pour even more money into Asia, the Middle East and Africa in the years ahead.

2 More Serving Life Are Eligible For Parole Now

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two more life term slayers have been made eligible for parole by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. A third was denied clemency. DiSalle said his actions adhered to recommendations of the Pardon and Parole Commission.

The governor Tuesday commuted first-degree murder sentences to second-degree for George Murphy, 40, of Akron, and Floyd (Sailor) Baldwin, 52, of Toledo. He denied this consideration for Jessie Glover, 56, of Cincinnati.

Murphy was 18 when he and three companions held up a pool room in Akron and killed the proprietor, William Pantages. George Wells was executed for the slaying.

Glover killed the manager of a Cincinnati theater during a holdup in 1931.

OUR ANNUAL MARCH SALE

100 REGISTERED CANADIAN HOLSTEINS 100

A FEW OUTSTANDING GRADES

These cattle have been personally selected by me from some of the very best herds of Canada. Many have records up to 21,000 pounds of milk and over 700 pounds of fat. Many animals are classified up to very good.

We have a THREE QUARTER SISTER of PRINCESS BREEZEWOOD RAG APPLE PATSY. Patsy, the new World Champion, (1866 pounds of fat), over all breeds, ages and all milking by the same sire and a sister of the dam.

You cannot afford to miss this sale if you need dairy cows. They are large type and heavy producers. We have some calves from these cows. REMEMBER, every cow and calf is sold as represented with a money back guarantee. Why not buy where you know you will get a square deal. ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR.

Delivery will be made without cost to you. These cattle are young and healthy. They have been T.B., Bangs and Mastitis tested within 30 days of the sale. We invite you to come and look them over and watch them milk before sale time.

The sale will be held in a comfortable building, located 2½ miles south of Medina, Ohio on State Route 162, one mile west of Route 3, or 2 miles east of Lafayette and Route 42 on 162.

Lunch will be served by church ladies.

DAY HOLSTEIN AUCTION

Wednesday
12:00 Noon E. S. T.

OUR ANNUAL MARCH SALE

100 REGISTERED CANADIAN HOLSTEINS 100

A FEW OUTSTANDING GRADES

These cattle have been personally selected by me from some of the very best herds of Canada. Many have records up to 21,000 pounds of milk and over 700 pounds of fat. Many animals are classified up to very good.

We have a THREE QUARTER SISTER of PRINCESS BREEZEWOOD RAG APPLE PATSY. Patsy, the new World Champion, (1886 pounds of fat), over all breeds, ages and all milking by the same sire and a sister of the dam.

You cannot afford to miss this sale if you need dairy cows. They are large type and heavy producers. We have some calves from these cows. REMEMBER, every cow and calf is sold as represented with a money back guarantee. Why not buy where you know you will get a square deal. ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR.

Delivery will be made without cost to you. These cattle are young and healthy. They have been T.B., Bangs and Mastitis tested within 30 days of the sale. We invite you to come and look them over and watch them milk before sale time.

The sale will be held in a comfortable building, located 2½ miles south of Medina, Ohio on State Route 162, one mile west of Route 3, or 2 miles east of Lafayette and Route 42 on 162.

Lunch will be served by church ladies.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents' Insecurity May Affect Child

Where there are several growing children, either in the home or in the classroom, we rightly strive to cultivate among them kindly feelings for, and consideration of, every other child in the group. Yet either group may have a certain child who wears his feelings on his sleeve, who is over sensitive. He may, sometimes, need protection, especially from the kind of child who considers him odd and takes pleasure at making him cry. Any child whose feelings are easily hurt needs gradual toughening. A California mother writes:

By Garry Meyer.

"MY EIGHT-YEAR-OLD boy (3rd grade) is very sensitive. He cries easily, gets upset and is really quite ill at times from innocent child-play-teasing.

"For instance, when his lips when chapping and were red, the boys all said he was wearing lipstick and looked like a girl. He wouldn't go to school the next day and was even afraid to return to school at all.

"Once, back in kindergarten, he had stuffed celery in his lunch. The boys made fun of it, and until this day he won't take it in his lunch. But he likes it and eats it at home."

My reply, in part:

It could be that your child is not well physically. Have him checked by your physician.

CHANCES ARE you show too much concern when he cries about things at home. You, yourself, may suffer too much when you see his feelings hurt; you may encourage him in self-pity.

Most of all, this sensitive child needs to spend more time in rough-and-tumble play with other children of his age.

Some sensitive children grow up with over-sensitive parents who express constant dread that others might look down on them for the kind of home they live in, the kind of car they drive and the quality of clothes they wear.

These parents may often apologize, in the child's presence, for lack of certain material things.

THESE PARENTS may have fears of being "different", in setting higher standards of health, moral and religious practices or standards expected of their children. The child may often see or hear them express hurt feelings over all sorts of matters.

My bulletins, "Self - Reliance" and "Your Child and His Playmates," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Grange At Hookstown Sets Dinner And Dance

Dinner will be served from 5 to 8 with the square dance starting at 8:30. Thomas Dudash's orchestra from Aliquippa will provide the music.

Mrs. Carl Soisson is general chairman.

Seaman Robert W. Stanley is now aboard the destroyer Soley off Norfolk after spending a 15-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stanley.

He has completed a course at the Fleet Sonar School at Key West, Fla. Seaman Stanley enlisted for 4 years in April, 1959.

Judges Will Continue Plans For Youth Camp

LISBON — Judges from the 18th Congressional District will meet this afternoon in Steubenville for another discussion on establishment of a juvenile detention work camp, according to Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

A survey has been made and will be presented to the group, along with an offer of free land in Columbiana County from the Fraternal Order of Police and Associates of East Liverpool.

Judge Tobin said he believes that the free land is an incentive to go ahead with this camp for offenders from the five counties.

When storing woolen garments for the summer, the container with the moth preventives should be placed at the top of the bag or closet so vapors will filter down through garments.
